U. N. RAIDERS LAND BEHIND REDS

29 Killed In British-Egyptian Fighting

Bloody Suez Clash Breaks Uneasy Truce

13 British Troops Slain, Cairo Says

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 3 (AP) — Clashes today between Egyptians and British troops in the Suez Canal zone, the most serious outbreak of fighting that has yet occurred there, brought death to 29 on both sides, an Egyptian communique reported.

A British account of the fighting placed the number of dead at 11, both Egyptian and British.

The Egyptian government announcement said 68 Egyptian police and civilians had been wounded. The British said the number of wounded was only four Egyptians, but that two British servicemen were missing.

The Egyptian report said the fighting ceased in the late afternoon, but the British said the situation still was tense tonight, so tense that movement within the area around the town of Suez was impossible.

British Take Prisoners

For the first time in the series of clashes in the canal zone since the beginning of the British-Egyptian crisis in mid-October, the British reported taking prisoners They said they had captured 25 Egyptians.

The fighting shattered the truce negotiated after a battle at Ismailia on Nov. 18, in which 18 were killed.

The communique of the Egyptian Ministry of the Interior, based on a report from the Egyptian governor of Suez, said a column of 70 British armored cars battled with Egyptian police and auxiliary police for six hours at the town's western entrance.

It said the British used rifles and machine guns and "threatened to use mortars" if the Egyptians did not withdraw.

Firing, it continued, was almost uninterrupted during the whole period of the battle while "ambulances shuttled between the scene of battle and a hospital, carrying British military and Egyptian casualties as well."

British Version Differs

The communique said the battle was touched off when some British soldiers from the camp near Suez opened fire on a group of policemen whose truck had broken down and who were trying to push the vehicle.

A British spokesman said the bodies of three Egyptian policemen and a civilian were picked up after a two-hour battle in which the 25 "prisoners" were taken.

In the second round, he added, "Egyptian terrorists," using rifles and incendiary bombs, ambushed two trucks at a railway crossing just outside Suez. Six Mauritian soldiers in British service were killed. A British major is missing and is presumed dead and another soldier is missing, the spokesman said.

Egyptian Interior Minister Fuad Serag El Din Pasha told the Chamber of Deputies that nine Egyptian civilians were killed and 68 wounded in the clashes.

Polio-Stricken Town Cleans Up

ODESSA, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP)—Citizens armed with rakes and disinfectants waged a grim war against an epidemic of polio in this West Texas oil and ranch center.

The all-out clean-up campaign was the best way health officials knew to fight the invisible enemy which has stricken 62 persons and taken nine lives this year.

"The response has been overwhelming and we are confident of success," said Mickey Lavy, clothing store manager who headed the drive.

Bankers, lawyers, clergymen and doctors were among the thousands who put on work clothes.

Both banks and many business houses closed. Other firms operated with skelton crews of women.

A clothier gave away 840 pairs of work gloves. A grocery donated a barrel of rakes and shovels.

Neighboring towns sent 120 trucks and drivers. A sound truck and crew, experienced in directing clean-up details, came 430 miles from Houston. Oil companies provided mobile units used in cleaning oil wells to spray alleys with live steam.

Egypt Rescinds Order For Ouster Of AP Newsman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Royal Egyptian Embassy announced tonight the Egyptian government has cancelled orders for the expulsion of AP Correspondent Fred Zusy from Egypt.

"This action was taken by the Egyptian government in order to dispel any false impression that might be created concerning the free flow of news from Egypt," the Egyptian ambassador, Kamil Abdul Rahim, said in a statement.

"The initial decision to expel Mr. Zusy, AP correspondent in Cairo, now suspended, had nothing to do with the news and reports he had been sending to his agency," the Egyptian ambassador said in his statement.

"Mr. Zusy was asked to leave Egypt because he violated an Egyptian law of long standing, requiring films to be submitted to the film department of the Ministry of Interior before being sent abroad. Mr. Zusy took certain films and smuggled them out of the Suez through the medium of British families leaving for England."

Caudle Ignored Prosecutor Who Won Tax Case

Interest Termed "Highly Improper"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — A Justice Department prosecutor testified today that he was ostracized by T. Lamar Caudle, then an assistant attorney general, after he won a case against two Mobile, Ala., tax evaders.

John Mitchell told a House Ways and Means subcommittee that both Caudle and Rep. Frank Boykin (D-Ala) took what he considered a "highly improper" interest in his prosecution of the case.

After a federal grand jury returned indictments against the two defendants, Mitchell said, he never saw Caudle again. At that time, about the middle of last year, Caudle was in charge of all tax fraud prosecutions for the Justice Department.

"Just Sat Around"

Caudle refused to see him Mitchell testified, and "I just sat around," with no work to do. Mitchell said he was told later by a division section chief "that if I asked for more work I was to be told there was a memorandum saying that I was to get none, and if I asked why, I was to be told I was working on the Ripps-Mitchell case."

Joseph Mitchell (no relation to the prosecutor) and Samuel Ripps were the two principal figures in the tax case, which involved about $400,000. Joseph Mitchell and Ripps eventually pleaded guilty and were sentenced to jail terms.

Returning to Washington after doing some preliminary work on the case in Mobile, the prosecutor said, he told Caudle that stories were circulating in Mobile that "the defendants had made substantial contributions to the Democratic National Committee on assurances by Boykin that prosecution would never materialize."

McGrath, Clark May Testify

"What did Mr. Caudle say to this?" Adrian Dewind, the subcommittee's counsel, asked.

"Mr. Caudle said 'I advised them not to do it, but Frank went ahead and took the money'."

Rep. King (D-Calif), chairman of the inquiry group, announced today that Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, Caudle's superior, and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark will be invited to testify later this week if they wish.

U.S. Promises Speedy Action To Free Fliers

Hungary, Russia May Get Protests

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—"Immediate action" was pledged today by the State Department to free four American crewmen and an Air Force cargo plane which was forced down in Communist Hungary by Soviet fighter craft.

Just what can be done effectively, however, is an unanswered question.

Protests demanding their release may go to Russia as well as Hungary. Officials forecast they will include a vigorous denial of a Moscow charge that the long-missing plane deliberately violated the Hungarian border and bore equipment for "spies and saboteurs" behind the iron curtain.

Appeal To U. N. Is Possibility

Also expected is a protest over the fact that the Communist authorities kept silent for nearly two weeks while search planes combed Yugoslavia. Officials said an appeal to the United Nations is a possibility, perhaps at a later stage.

Beyond this diplomatic action the United States appears powerless for the moment to bring pressure in the latest instance of straining relations with the Soviet bloc.

The State Department annoucement of plans for immediate action came after the Moscow radio solved the mystery of what happened to the plane when it disappeared on Nov. 19 on a flight from the Munich area to Belgrade.

Plane Reported Off Course

Quoting a Tass agency dispatch, Moscow said that Soviet fighter planes forced the unarmed C-47 transport to land at a Hungarian airfield "several days ago."

Later the U. S. legation at Budapest reported it was informed formally of the incident by the Hungarian government.

En route from Erding Air Force base near Munich with supplies for the American embassy at Belgrade, the plane reported during the flight it was off course. It was last heard from in a garbled message at 4:45 p. m., Greenwich Time, on Nov. 19 when it presumably was over Yugoslav territory.

Insurance Strike Brings Picketing

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Thousands of Prudential Insurance Co. agents laid aside their brief cases today, shouldered picket signs and began marching in front of company offices across the country.

"We sell security, we want security ourselves," one sign read.

The agents—the men who sell and service policies—are on strike for higher base pay.

Their union, the AFL Insurance Agents International, claims to represent 15,500 of Prudential's 18,000 agents.

The strike, which began officially Friday midnight but had little effect over the weekend, brought picketing today at offices in many cities over a 32-state area.

But agents in some cities stayed on the job, either because offices were not unionized or for other reasons.

At its headquarters in Newark, N. J., the company late in the day issued a statement saying the union had "failed completely in its efforts to hamper essential operations."

U.N. War Casualties Total 107,696, Mostly American

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP)—United Nations casualties in the Korean war total 107,606, a survey of U. N. delegations from countries participating in the fighting showed today.

The figure does not include 212,544 South Korean casualties announced in their last report in June. Adding this figure to the U. N. losses would give a total of 320,150 for the Allied side, compared with total North Korean and Communist Chinese casualties, estimated by the Pentagon in Washington through Oct. 13, of 1,402,504.

The total casualties for U. N. forces include 16,805 dead, 75,949 wounded, 14,113 missing, and 609 known British prisoners. Also, Thailand, with a small total of casualties, did not give a breakdown of killed, wounded or missing.

Except for the South Koreans, the United States, with 100,883, led the list of total casualties on the Allied side, when the latest report was released in Washington. These included 15,323 dead, 72,952 wounded, and 12,608 missing.

The survey of other U. N. delegations made here since the General Assembly convened showed:

Britain: 343 dead; 1,024 wounded; 1,097 missing; 609 known prisoners; for a total of 3,073 as announced by the War Office Oct. 31.

France: 152 dead; 172 wounded; 14 missing; total 338.

Canada: 106 dead; 430 wounded; four missing; total 540.

Australia: 140 dead; 451 wounded; 13 pilots missing; total 604.

Bomber Crash In Residential Area Kills 8, Levels Homes

Crashing Bomber Wrecks Homes

Firemen battle a fire set by a B-29 bomber which crashed into a row of Denver homes yesterday, killing eight airmen. Not a civilian was killed and only two were injured.

Civilians Escape Death As Flames Sweep Wreckage

Six Fliers Survive Denver Air Tragedy

DENVER, Dec. 3 (AP)—A B-29 bomber with one engine dead, crashed into a swank residential area today, killing eight airmen.

Six airmen escaped alive but injured.

The crippled craft mowed through five houses and set the debris afire, but as if by a miracle not a civilian was killed and only two were hurt.

The bomber, pancaking slowly in as if in a stall, cut a swath about two houses wide and less than a block long, two miles short of Lowry Air Force Base east-west runway.

Luck With Residents

The fact that most residents were away from home, or were in sections of the homes not hit by the bomber saved them from death in the debris which burst into flames.

"Thank God my wife was safe," exclaimed Sol Gertz, whose home was demolished. He had rushed to the scene and there learned his wife was not home.

"We ware coming in in good shape and I didn't realize we were in any danger and the next thing, we crashed," said Sgt. William A. Zippel, 29, flight engineer, Baudette, Minn.

He was hospitalized with minor injuries.

The plane, at tree-top height, swung eastward over the area, desperately trying to make a west-to-east landing at Lowry base.

Maid, Fireman Injured

The injured civilians were a maid in one of the houses struck, and a fireman who suffered a broken arm during rescue operations.

"The tail ticked one house . . ." said Harry Urling, 31, who was working two blocks away. "Then there was a burst of flame. Then it hit another one, smashing most of it, Then it crashed right on top of a third house.

"There was an explosion . . . sort of a muffled 'boom.'

"Flames shot into the air at least two hundred feet and there was black smoke."

The main section of the plane came to rest on the top of .. $50,000 home.

Fair Employment Committee Is Set Up By President

Order Is Assailed By Sen. Fulbright

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP)—President Truman set up a new federal committee today to help outlaw discrimination against negroes and other minorities in hiring by government contractors.

Mr. Truman described the action as a new step in his civil rights program—a program that has embroiled him in a bitter running fight with many elements in the traditionally Democratic South.

The President announced at his quarters on the naval submarine station here that the new body—less powerful than the Fair Employment Practices Committee (FEPC) of World War Two—will seek ways of strengthening the enforcement of anti-discrimination clauses which are standard in government contracts.

Fulbright Aroused

Reaction to Mr. Truman's action came swiftly.

"What's the President trying to do—divert the public's attention from Caudle?" demanded Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark). He referred to T. Lamar Caudle, the ousted assistant attorney general who is being quizzed in a House investigation of tax collection scandals.

Fulbright told a reporter in Washington he hadn't heard any complaints of non-compliance with the anti-discrimination rules.

Sen. Benton (D-Conn) promptly praised the new order, however, saying discrimination in many states is causing a "staggering and needless loss in defense production."

Order "Weak," NAACP Says

"Today, as in World War Two," Benton said in a statement, "evidence is mounting of failure efficiently to use millions of members of minority groups in the skills for which they have been trained."

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a statement: "We are disappointed because of the weaknesses and lack of enforcement powers in this executive order. However, we must work to make the most of it and at the same time seek ways of strengthening it."

Sub Launched, Another Returned To Active Duty

GROTON, Conn., Dec. 3 (AP)—The Electric Boat Company launched a submarine for the Navy here today, and at the same time the Navy itself took a submarine from the Atlantic reserve fleet and returned her to active duty.

The "Harder," launched from the Electric Boat Company's ways, was the 224th submarine contracted to the company by the Navy.

The submarine returned to active duty was the "Barb," which compiled an outstanding record in World War II.

Navy Plane Crash At Pensacola, Fla. Claims Six Lives

PENSACOLA, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP) — A twin-engine Navy plane crashed and burned near Pensacola tonight, killing its six occupants.

The plane, believed coming from Miami, was approaching Corry Field for a standard instrument landing, apparently in no trouble, a CAA tower operator said.

Navy sources said there were two Marine pilots, two enlisted Navy men, one Air Force officer and one Army enlisted man aboard. Names were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Three bodies were found near the plane and the other three were listed as missing.

Vishinsky Silent On Arms Query

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Western powers attempted vainly today to draw from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky a satisfactory answer whether Russia would accept simultaneous international control and prohibition of atomic weapons.

After two closed-door sesssions, informed sources indicated there was no change in the conflicting East-West positions on disarmament. But there was a long exchange of views in what U. N. Assembly President Luis Padilla Nervo described as a cordial manner.

The four powers are meeting under the chairmanship of Padilla Nervo in an attempt to find out by Dec. 10 whether they can agree on anything about arms limitation. They will meet again tomorrow for another round. The four delegations and Padilla Nervo make up a subcommittee of the U. N. Assembly.

An American spokesman said U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup tried to determine from Vishinsky whether Russia would accept simultaneous prohibition of the atmoic bomb and genuine international control of atomic energy.

Jessup was said to have asked this direct question:

"Would the Soviet Union admit inspectors (to Russian territory) on the very day after the prohibition of the bomb by the General Assembly?"

The spokesman said Jessup got no answer to that question—just another question in return.

Revived Vet Loses Reasoning Powers

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP) —Melvin Eugene Hewitt, 27-year-old El Monte, Calif., Navy veteran who was revived Oct. 4 after his heart had stopped for 15 minutes, has lost his reasoning powers, Veterans' Administration authorities said today.

Dr. E. V. Edwards, manager of the hospital, said Hewitt will be transferred to a mental hospital, since it has been determined he suffered permanent damage to his brain through lack of oxygen while his heart was stopped.

Supreme Court Will Not Review Field Conviction

Jailed For Contempt In Reds Bail-Jumping

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review the cases of three men jailed last summer for contempt in connection with bail-jumping by four top Communists.

The decision went against Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire left-winger, and two fellow trustees of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund, Dashiell Hammett, detective story writer, and Alphaeus W. Hunton.

They were convicted of contempt following their refusal to disclose the names of fund contributors after the Red leaders jumped bail. The Communists became fugitives after the Supreme Court upheld their convictions for conspiring to teach the violent overthrow of the American government.

Bookies Lose Appeal

In another case the high court ruled today that bookmaking paraphernalia seized without a search warrant by Newark and Essex County police may be used as evidence in a New Jersey state court trial of four persons charged with gambling operations.

It was a 7 to 1 decision, with Justice Douglas dissenting.

In the case involving Field, Hammett and Hunton, $80,000 in bail was forfeited. The government then sought information with hopes it would lead to the capture of the fugitive leaders.

Drew Two Sentences

Field drew a 90-day sentence from Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan in New York on July 6 when he refused to supply the fund information. And Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey gave an additional six month sentence to the great-grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt after he refused subsequently to testify before a federal grand jury.

Field's sentence will run until about next March 3. The terms of Hammett and Hunton will expire on Dec. 9.

Strike Hits Ford Plant In Canada

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 3 (AP) — Workers who halted production at the giant Ford of Canada automobile plant here today with a "spontaneous" strike, later forced open gates of the factory's power house and virtually shut it down.

An estimated 50 to 60 persons forced the power house gates by "sheer weight" and marched in urging employes there and construction workmen on an addition to quit, a company spokesman said, adding:

"Some quit and some didn't. The latter worked until the end of their shifts."

After threatening to shut the power house down tight, the invaders agreed to leave a maintenance crew on hand to secure it—shut off water pipes, carrying out necessary maintenance and furnish power to such essential things as foundry furnaces that otherwise might "freeze" with serious damage.

Two company guards were escorted off power house property, but there was no violence outside this and forcing of the gate.

Girl's "Dud" A-Bomb Query Brings Variety Of Answers

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 3 (AP) — A 12-year-old girl wanted to know today what happens if an enemy atom bomb doesn't go off.

Barbara Bair, of nearby Lambertville, asked the question in an essay on civil defense.

Said Charles S. Weiler, assistant to the deputy director of New Jersey's civil defense:

"We'd call Governor's Island in New York Bay and ask them to send us their bomb disposal squad.

Said the Atomic Energy Commission office in New York:

"We feel the question is too much in the realm of public excitement. We'd rather not get into it."

Said a Princeton University scientist:

"An answer might take weeks."

Said another Princeton scientist's secretary:

"Throw it into the Atlantic Ocean and notify the Atomic Energy Commission."

Enemy Supply Lines Blasted; Losses Light

Four MIGs Fly Over Seoul Area

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—U. S. Marines and British Commandos made a surprise landing deep behind Communist lines in Northeast Korea and carried out a series of harassing raids, the Navy said today.

The raiders struck Sunday night 170 miles north of parallel 38.

The Marines and Commandos landed from the U. S. high speed transport Bass on the east coast near Tanchon, about 25 miles south of Songjin.

The Navy announcement did not indicate how many troops took part in the night assaults.

The landing was made under cover of a moonless night and gunfire from the Bass and the U. S. destroyer Tingey.

It put the Allied raiders astride the main east coast road connecting Songjin and the east coast supply funnel on Wonsan.

The raiding parties landed on the well-defended coastline under a heavy naval barrage and swept inland through intense Red machine-gun fire along the beaches.

The Commandos left a wake of Communist dead behind them, the Navy said. They pushed forward and blasted a rail tunnel with bazookas.

Other raiders probed the coast line and destroyed Communist transport and communications facilities.

Similar raids have been made periodically along both Korea coasts to disrupt Red supply and communications lines.

This one, however, apparently was the biggest yet.

Despite the size of the raid, the Navy said casualties were light. The Commandos had only two men wounded. No announcement of U. S. Marine losses was made.

Four Red Jet Planes Fly Over Seoul Area

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Four Russian-type MIG-15 jets flew over the Seoul area Monday in a daring flight which carried them farther south than ever before in the war.

Allied and Red jets tangled over Northwest Korea Monday for the eighth straight day. The far east Air Forces in Tokyo said four Red jets were damaged.

An Allied briefing officer said Tuesday the four jets which flew over the Seoul area were carrying bomb loads but no bombs were dropped.

The North Koreans took the wraps off a Chinese amphibious operation last weekend near the mouth of the Yalu River in extreme Northwest Korea and claimed the recapture of three strategic islands.

All of them were deep behind Communist lines near the border of Red Manchuria.

In Washington, the Navy Department confirmed that Taewha island was lost last Friday. It said that 300 to 400 South Korean guerrillas were evacuated by sea from the one-time Allied raiding base under Red gunfire. Taewha is some 35 miles southeast of the mouth of the Yalu River.

Reds Make Concession But U. N. Wary Of Trap

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Wary of a trap, Allied armistice negotiators today sought extensive clarification of a sudden Communist proposal to permit neutral inspection at some places behind the lines and to "freeze" troops and arms now in Korea.

The negotiating teams met again at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. today (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Previously the Reds had adamantly refused to consider any inspection behind their lines under any circumstances.

The United Nations delegation was not expected to accept the new Red plan as presented, however.

Suspiciously, Vice-Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. negotiator, asked 21 clarifications.

Among the questions was a formal request by the U. N. for a list of the neutral nations the Reds would consider acceptable.

Unofficially and perhaps jokingly, a Red newsman, Wilfred Burchett of Paris Ce Soir, had indicated outside the conference that Russia, Egypt, Transjordan, India and Switzerland would make a "good team."

Joy also proposed that the truce supervision issue be given to a two-man subcommittee for further study.

The Communists refused to turn it over to a subcommittee unless their plan was accepted. The U. N delegation said it could not agree to anything until clarification was made. The Reds promised to make some answers today.

Weather Forecast

U.N. War Casualties Total 107,696, Mostly American

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP)—United Nations casualties in the Korean war total 107,606, a survey of U. N. delegations from countries participating in the fighting showed today.

The figure does not include 212,544 South Korean casualties announced in their last report in June. Adding this figure to the U. N. losses would give a total of 320,150 for the Allied side, compared with total North Korean and Communist Chinese casualties, estimated by the Pentagon in Washington through Oct. 13, of 1,402,504.

The total casualties for U. N. forces include 16,805 dead, 75,949 wounded, 14,113 missing, and 609 known British prisoners. Also, Thailand, with a small total of casualties, did not give a breakdown of killed, wounded or missing.

Except for the South Koreans, the United States, with 100,883, led the list of total casualties on the Allied side, when the latest report was released in Washington. These included 15,323 dead, 72,952 wounded, and 12,608 missing.

The survey of other U. N. delegations made here since the General Assembly convened showed:

Britain: 343 dead; 1,024 wounded; 1,097 missing; 609 known prisoners; for a total of 3,073 as announced by the War Office Oct. 31.

France: 152 dead; 172 wounded; 14 missing; total 338.

Canada: 106 dead; 430 wounded; four missing; total 540.

Australia: 140 dead; 451 wounded; 13 pilots missing; total 604.

Civilians Escape Death As Flames Sweep Wreckage

Six Fliers Survive Denver Air Tragedy

DENVER, Dec. 3 (AP)—A B-29 bomber with one engine dead, crashed into a swank residential area today, killing eight airmen.

Six airmen escaped alive but injured.

The crippled craft mowed through five houses and set the debris afire, but as if by a miracle not a civilian was killed and only two were hurt.

The bomber, pancaking slowly in as if in a stall, cut a swath about two houses wide and less than a block long, two miles short of Lowry Air Force Base east-west runway.

Luck With Residents

The fact that most residents were away from home, or were in sections of the homes not hit by the bomber saved them from death in the debris which burst into flames.

"Thank God my wife was safe," exclaimed Sol Gertz, whose home was demolished. He had rushed to the scene and there learned his wife was not home.

"We ware coming in in good shape and I didn't realize we were in any danger and the next thing, we crashed," said Sgt. William A. Zippel, 29, flight engineer, Baudette, Minn.

He was hospitalized with minor injuries.

The plane, at tree-top height, swung eastward over the area, desperately trying to make a west-to-east landing at Lowry base.

Maid, Fireman Injured

The injured civilians were a maid in one of the houses struck, and a fireman who suffered a broken arm during rescue operations.

"The tail ticked one house . . ." said Harry Urling, 31, who was working two blocks away. "Then there was a burst of flame. Then it hit another one, smashing most of it, Then it crashed right on top of a third house.

"There was an explosion . . . sort of a muffled 'boom.'

"Flames shot into the air at least two hundred feet and there was black smoke."

The main section of the plane came to rest on the top of .. $50,000 home.

Fair Employment Committee Is Set Up By President

Order Is Assailed By Sen. Fulbright

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP)—President Truman set up a new federal committee today to help outlaw discrimination against negroes and other minorities in hiring by government contractors.

Mr. Truman described the action as a new step in his civil rights program—a program that has embroiled him in a bitter running fight with many elements in the traditionally Democratic South.

The President announced at his quarters on the naval submarine station here that the new body—less powerful than the Fair Employment Practices Committee (FEPC) of World War Two—will seek ways of strengthening the enforcement of anti-discrimination clauses which are standard in government contracts.

Fulbright Aroused

Reaction to Mr. Truman's action came swiftly.

"What's the President trying to do—divert the public's attention from Caudle?" demanded Sen. Fulbright (D-Ark). He referred to T. Lamar Caudle, the ousted assistant attorney general who is being quizzed in a House investigation of tax collection scandals.

Fulbright told a reporter in Washington he hadn't heard any complaints of non-compliance with the anti-discrimination rules.

Sen. Benton (D-Conn) promptly praised the new order, however, saying discrimination in many states is causing a "staggering and needless loss in defense production."

Order "Weak," NAACP Says

"Today, as in World War Two," Benton said in a statement, "evidence is mounting of failure efficiently to use millions of members of minority groups in the skills for which they have been trained."

Clarence Mitchell, director of the Washington bureau, National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said in a statement: "We are disappointed because of the weaknesses and lack of enforcement powers in this executive order. However, we must work to make the most of it and at the same time seek ways of strengthening it."

Sub Launched, Another Returned To Active Duty

GROTON, Conn., Dec. 3 (AP)—The Electric Boat Company launched a submarine for the Navy here today, and at the same time the Navy itself took a submarine from the Atlantic reserve fleet and returned her to active duty.

The "Harder," launched from the Electric Boat Company's ways, was the 224th submarine contracted to the company by the Navy.

The submarine returned to active duty was the "Barb," which compiled an outstanding record in World War II.

Navy Plane Crash At Pensacola, Fla. Claims Six Lives

PENSACOLA, Fla., Dec. 3 (AP) — A twin-engine Navy plane crashed and burned near Pensacola tonight, killing its six occupants.

The plane, believed coming from Miami, was approaching Corry Field for a standard instrument landing, apparently in no trouble, a CAA tower operator said.

Navy sources said there were two Marine pilots, two enlisted Navy men, one Air Force officer and one Army enlisted man aboard. Names were withheld pending notification of next of kin.

Three bodies were found near the plane and the other three were listed as missing.

Vishinsky Silent On Arms Query

PARIS, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Western powers attempted vainly today to draw from Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Vishinsky a satisfactory answer whether Russia would accept simultaneous international control and prohibition of atomic weapons.

After two closed-door sesssions, informed sources indicated there was no change in the conflicting East-West positions on disarmament. But there was a long exchange of views in what U. N. Assembly President Luis Padilla Nervo described as a cordial manner.

The four powers are meeting under the chairmanship of Padilla Nervo in an attempt to find out by Dec. 10 whether they can agree on anything about arms limitation. They will meet again tomorrow for another round. The four delegations and Padilla Nervo make up a subcommittee of the U. N. Assembly.

An American spokesman said U. S. Ambassador Philip C. Jessup tried to determine from Vishinsky whether Russia would accept simultaneous prohibition of the atmoic bomb and genuine international control of atomic energy.

Jessup was said to have asked this direct question:

"Would the Soviet Union admit inspectors (to Russian territory) on the very day after the prohibition of the bomb by the General Assembly?"

Revived Vet Loses Reasoning Powers

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP)—Melvin Eugene Hewitt, 27-year-old El Monte, Calif., Navy veteran who was revived Oct. 4 after his heart had stopped for 15 minutes, has lost his reasoning powers, Veterans' Administration authorities said today.

Dr. E. V. Edwards, manager of the hospital, said Hewitt will be transferred to a mental hospital, since it has been determined he suffered permanent damage to his brain through lack of oxygen while his heart was stopped.

Supreme Court Will Not Review Field Conviction

Jailed For Contempt In Reds Bail-Jumping

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review the cases of three men jailed last summer for contempt in connection with bail-jumping by four top Communists.

The decision went against Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire left-winger, and two fellow trustees of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund, Dashiell Hammett, detective story writer, and Alphaeus W. Hunton.

They were convicted of contempt following their refusal to disclose the names of fund contributors after the Red leaders jumped bail. The Communists became fugitives after the Supreme Court upheld their convictions for conspiring to teach the violent overthrow of the American government.

Bookies Lose Appeal

In another case the high court ruled today that bookmaking paraphernalia seized without a search warrant by Newark and Essex County police may be used as evidence in a New Jersey state court trial of four persons charged with gambling operations.

It was a 7 to 1 decision, with Justice Douglas dissenting.

In the case involving Field, Hammett and Hunton, $80,000 in bail was forfeited. The government then sought information with hopes it would lead to the capture of the fugitive leaders.

Drew Two Sentences

Field drew a 90-day sentence from Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan in New York on July 6 when he refused to supply the fund information. And Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey gave an additional six month sentence to the great-grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt after he refused subsequently to testify before a federal grand jury.

Field's sentence will run until about next March 3. The terms of Hammett and Hunton will expire on Dec. 9.

Strike Hits Ford Plant In Canada

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 3 (AP) — Workers who halted production at the giant Ford of Canada automobile plant here today with a "spontaneous" strike, later forced open gates of the factory's power house and virtually shut it down.

An estimated 50 to 60 persons forced the power house gates by "sheer weight" and marched in urging employes there and construction workmen on an addition to quit, a company spokesman said, adding:

"Some quit and some didn't. The latter worked until the end of their shifts."

After threatening to shut the power house down tight, the invaders agreed to leave a maintenance crew on hand to secure it—shut off water pipes, carrying out necessary maintenance and furnish power to such essential things as foundry furnaces that otherwise might "freeze" with serious damage.

Two company guards were escorted off power house property, but there was no violence outside this and forcing of the gate.

Girl's "Dud" A-Bomb Query Brings Variety Of Answers

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 3 (AP) — A 12-year-old girl wanted to know today what happens if an enemy atom bomb doesn't go off.

Barbara Bair, of nearby Lambertville, asked the question in an essay on civil defense.

Said Charles S. Weiler, assistant to the deputy director of New Jersey's civil defense:

"We'd call Governor's Island in New York Bay and ask them to send us their bomb disposal squad.

Said the Atomic Energy Commission office in New York:

"We feel the question is too much in the realm of public excitement. We'd rather not get into it."

Said a Princeton University scientist:

"An answer might take weeks."

Said another Princeton scientist's secretary:

"Throw it into the Atlantic Ocean and notify the Atomic Energy Commission."

Enemy Supply Lines Blasted; Losses Light

Four MIGs Fly Over Seoul Area

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—U. S. Marines and British Commandos made a surprise landing deep behind Communist lines in Northeast Korea and carried out a series of harassing raids, the Navy said today.

The raiders struck Sunday night 170 miles north of parallel 38.

The Marines and Commandos landed from the U. S. high speed transport Bass on the east coast near Tanchon, about 25 miles south of Songjin.

The Navy announcement did not indicate how many troops took part in the night assaults.

The landing was made under cover of a moonless night and gunfire from the Bass and the U. S. destroyer Tingey.

It put the Allied raiders astride the main east coast road connecting Songjin and the east coast supply funnel on Wonsan.

The raiding parties landed on the well-defended coastline under a heavy naval barrage and swept inland through intense Red machine-gun fire along the beaches.

The Commandos left a wake of Communist dead behind them, the Navy said. They pushed forward and blasted a rail tunnel with bazookas.

Other raiders probed the coast line and destroyed Communist transport and communications facilities.

Similar raids have been made periodically along both Korea coasts to disrupt Red supply and communications lines.

This one, however, apparently was the biggest yet.

Despite the size of the raid, the Navy said casualties were light. The Commandos had only two men wounded. No announcement of U. S. Marine losses was made.

Four Red Jet Planes Fly Over Seoul Area

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Four Russian-type MIG-15 jets flew over the Seoul area Monday in a daring flight which carried them farther south than ever before in the war.

Allied and Red jets tangled over Northwest Korea Monday for the eighth straight day. The far east Air Forces in Tokyo said four Red jets were damaged.

An Allied briefing officer said Tuesday the four jets which flew over the Seoul area were carrying bomb loads but no bombs were dropped.

The North Koreans took the wraps off a Chinese amphibious operation last weekend near the mouth of the Yalu River in extreme Northwest Korea and claimed the recapture of three strategic islands.

All of them were deep behind Communist lines near the border of Red Manchuria.

In Washington, the Navy Department confirmed that Taewha island was lost last Friday. It said that 300 to 400 South Korean guerrillas were evacuated by sea from the one-time Allied raiding base under Red gunfire. Taewha is some 35 miles southeast of the mouth of the Yalu River.

Reds Make Concession But U. N. Wary Of Trap

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Wary of a trap, Allied armistice negotiators today sought extensive clarification of a sudden Communist proposal to permit neutral inspection at some places behind the lines and to "freeze" troops and arms now in Korea.

The negotiating teams met again at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. today (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Previously the Reds had adamantly refused to consider any inspection behind their lines under any circumstances.

The United Nations delegation was not expected to accept the new Red plan as presented, however.

Suspiciously, Vice-Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. negotiator, asked 21 clarifications.

Among the questions was a formal request by the U. N. for a list of the neutral nations the Reds would consider acceptable.

Unofficially and perhaps jokingly, a Red newsman, Wilfred Burchett of Paris Ce Soir, had indicated outside the conference that Russia, Egypt, Transjordan, India and Switzerland would make a "good team."

Joy also proposed that the truce supervision issue be given to a two-man subcommittee for further study.

The Communists refused to turn it over to a subcommittee unless their plan was accepted. The U. N delegation said it could not agree to anything until clarification was made. The Reds promised to make some answers today.

Weather Forecast

U. N. RAIDERS LAND BEHIND REDS

29 Killed In British-Egyptian Fighting

Bloody Suez Clash Breaks Uneasy Truce

13 British Troops Slain, Cairo Says

CAIRO, Egypt, Dec. 3 (AP) — Clashes today between Egyptians and British troops in the Suez Canal zone, the most serious outbreak of fighting that has yet occurred there, brought death to 29 on both sides, an Egyptian communique reported.

A British account of the fighting placed the number of dead at 11, both Egyptian and British.

The Egyptian government announcement said 68 Egyptian police and civilians had been wounded. The British said the number of wounded was only four Egyptians, but that two British servicemen were missing.

The Egyptian report said the fighting ceased in the late afternoon, but the British said the situation still was tense tonight, so tense that movement within the area around the town of Suez was impossible.

British Take Prisoners

For the first time in the series of clashes in the canal zone since the beginning of the British-Egyptian crisis in mid-October, the British reported taking prisoners They said they had captured 25 Egyptians.

The fighting shattered the truce negotiated after a battle at Ismailia on Nov. 18, in which 18 were killed.

The communique of the Egyptian Ministry of the Interior, based on a report from the Egyptian governor of Suez, said a column of 70 British armored cars battled with Egyptian police and auxiliary police for six hours at the town's western entrance.

It said the British used rifles and machine guns and "threatened to use mortars" if the Egyptians did not withdraw.

Firing, it continued, was almost uninterrupted during the whole period of the battle while "ambulances shuttled between the scene of battle and a hospital, carrying British military and Egyptian casualties as well."

British Version Differs

The communique said the battle was touched off when some British soldiers from the camp near Suez opened fire on a group of policemen whose truck had broken down and who were trying to push the vehicle.

A British spokesman said the bodies of three Egyptian policemen and a civilian were picked up after a two-hour battle in which the 25 "prisoners" were taken.

In the second round, he added, "Egyptian terrorists," using rifles and incendiary bombs, ambushed two trucks at a railway crossing just outside Suez. Six Mauritian soldiers in British service were killed. A British major is missing and is presumed dead and another soldier is missing, the spokesman said.

Egyptian Interior Minister Fuad Serag El Din Pasha told the Chamber of Deputies that nine Egyptian civilians were killed and 68 wounded in the clashes.

Polio-Stricken Town Cleans Up

ODESSA, Tex., Dec. 3 (AP)—Citizens armed with rakes and disinfectants waged a grim war against an epidemic of polio in this West Texas oil and ranch center.

The all-out clean-up campaign was the best way health officials knew to fight the invisible enemy which has stricken 62 persons and taken nine lives this year.

"The response has been overwhelming and we are confident of success," said Mickey Lavy, clothing store manager who headed the drive.

Bankers, lawyers, clergymen and doctors were among the thousands who put on work clothes.

Both banks and many business houses closed. Other firms operated with skelton crews of women.

A clothier gave away 840 pairs of work gloves. A grocery donated a barrel of rakes and shovels.

Neighboring towns sent 120 trucks and drivers. A sound truck and crew, experienced in directing clean-up details, came 430 miles from Houston. Oil companies provided mobile units used in cleaning oil wells to spray alleys with live steam.

Egypt Rescinds Order For Ouster Of AP Newsman

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Royal Egyptian Embassy announced tonight the Egyptian government has cancelled orders for the expulsion of AP Correspondent Fred Zusy from Egypt.

"This action was taken by the Egyptian government in order to dispel any false impression that might be created concerning the free flow of news from Egypt," the Egyptian ambassador, Kamil Abdul Rahim, said in a statement.

"The initial decision to expel Mr. Zusy, AP correspondent in Cairo, now suspended, had nothing to do with the news and reports he had been sending to his agency," the Egyptian ambassador said in his statement.

"Mr. Zusy was asked to leave Egypt because he violated an Egyptian law of long standing, requiring films to be submitted to the film department of the Ministry of Interior before being sent abroad. Mr. Zusy took certain films and smuggled them out of the Suez through the medium of British families leaving for England."

Caudle Ignored Prosecutor Who Won Tax Case

Interest Termed "Highly Improper"

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP) — A Justice Department prosecutor testified today that he was ostracized by T. Lamar Caudle, then an assistant attorney general, after he won a case against two Mobile, Ala., tax evaders.

John Mitchell told a House Ways and Means subcommittee that both Caudle and Rep. Frank Boykin (D-Ala) took what he considered a "highly improper" interest in his prosecution of the case.

After a federal grand jury returned indictments against the two defendants, Mitchell said, he never saw Caudle again. At that time, about the middle of last year, Caudle was in charge of all tax fraud prosecutions for the Justice Department.

"Just Sat Around"

Caudle refused to see him Mitchell testified, and "I just sat around," with no work to do. Mitchell said he was told later by a division section chief "that if I asked for more work I was to be told there was a memorandum saying that I was to get none, and if I asked why, I was to be told I was working on the Ripps-Mitchell case."

Joseph Mitchell (no relation to the prosecutor) and Samuel Ripps were the two principal figures in the tax case, which involved about $400,000. Joseph Mitchell and Ripps eventlally pleaded guilty and were sentenced to jail terms.

Returning to Washington after doing some preliminary work on the case in Mobile, the prosecutor said, he told Caudle that stories were circulating in Mobile that "the defendants had made substantial contributions to the Democratic National Committee on assurances by Boykin that prosecution would never materialize."

McGrath, Clark May Testify

"What did Mr. Caudle say to this?" Adrian Dewind, the subcommittee's counsel, asked.

"Mr. Caudle said 'I advised them not to do it, but Frank went ahead and took the money'."

Rep. King (D-Calif), chairman of the inquiry group, announced today that Attorney General J. Howard McGrath, Caudle's superior, and Supreme Court Justice Tom Clark will be invited to testify later this week if they wish.

U. S. Promises Speedy Action To Free Fliers

Hungary, Russia May Get Protests

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—"Immediate action" was pledged today by the State Department to free four American crewmen and an Air Force cargo plane which was forced down in Communist Hungary by Soviet fighter craft.

Just what can be done effectively, however, is an unanswered question.

Protests demanding their release may go to Russia as well as Hungary. Officials forecast they will include a vigorous denial of a Moscow charge that the long-missing plane deliberately violated the Hungarian border and bore equipment for "spies and saboteurs" behind the iron curtain.

Appeal To U. N. Is Possibility

Also expected is a protest over the fact that the Communist authorities kept silent for nearly two weeks while search planes combed Yugoslavia. Officials said an appeal to the United Nations is a possibility, perhaps at a later stage.

Beyond this diplomatic action the United States appears powerless for the moment to bring pressure in the latest instance of straining relations with the Soviet bloc.

The State Department annoucement of plans for immediate action came after the Moscow radio solved the mystery of what happened to the plane when it disappeared on Nov. 19 on a flight from the Munich area to Belgrade.

Plane Reported Off Course

Quoting a Tass agency dispatch, Moscow said that Soviet fighter planes forced the unarmed C-47 transport to land at a Hungarian airfield "several days ago."

Later the U. S. legation at Budapest reported it was informed formally of the incident by the Hungarian government.

En route from Erding Air Force base near Munich with supplies for the American embassy at Belgrade, the plane reported during the flight it was off course. It was last heard from in a garbled message at 4:45 p. m., Greenwich Time, on Nov. 19 when it presumably was over Yugoslav territory.

Insurance Strike Brings Picketing

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Thousands of Prudential Insurance Co. agents laid aside their brief cases today, shouldered picket signs and began marching in front of company offices across the country.

"We sell security, we want security ourselves," one sign read.

The agents—the men who sell and service policies—are on strike for higher base pay.

Their union, the AFL Insurance Agents International, claims to represent 15,500 of Prudential's 18,000 agents.

LONG BEACH, Calif., Dec. 3 (AP) —Melvin Eugene Hewitt, 27-year-old El Monte, Calif., Navy veteran who was revived Oct. 4 after his heart had stopped for 15 minutes, has lost his reasoning powers, Veterans' Administration authorities said today.

Dr. E. V. Edwards, manager of the hospital, said Hewitt will be transferred to a mental hospital, since it has been determined he suffered permanent damage to his brain through lack of oxygen while his heart was stopped.

Supreme Court Will Not Review Field Conviction

Jailed For Contempt In Reds Bail-Jumping

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—The Supreme Court today refused to review the cases of three men jailed last summer for contempt in connection with bail-jumping by four top Communists.

The decision went against Frederick Vanderbilt Field, millionaire left-winger, and two fellow trustees of the Civil Rights Congress bail fund, Dashiell Hammett, detective story writer, and Alphaeus W. Hunton.

They were convicted of contempt following their refusal to disclose the names of fund contributors after the Red leaders jumped bail. The Communists became fugitives after the Supreme Court upheld their convictions for conspiring to teach the violent overthrow of the American government.

Bookies Lose Appeal

In another case the high court ruled today that bookmaking paraphernalia seized without a search warrant by Newark and Essex County police may be used as evidence in a New Jersey state court trial of four persons charged with gambling operations.

It was a 7 to 1 decision, with Justice Douglas dissenting.

In the case involving Field, Hammett and Hunton, $80,000 in bail was forfeited. The government then sought information with hopes it would lead to the capture of the fugitive leaders.

Drew Two Sentences

Field drew a 90-day sentence from Federal Judge Sylvester Ryan in New York on July 6 when he refused to supply the fund information. And Federal Judge John F. X. McGohey gave an additional six month sentence to the great-grandson of Commodore Cornelius Vanderbilt after he refused subsequently to testify before a federal grand jury.

Field's sentence will run until about next March 3. The terms of Hammett and Hunton will expire on Dec. 9.

Strike Hits Ford Plant In Canada

WINDSOR, Ont., Dec. 3 (AP) — Workers who halted production at the giant Ford of Canada automobile plant here today with a "spontaneous" strike, later forced open gates of the factory's power house and virtually shut it down.

An estimated 50 to 60 persons forced the power house gates by "sheer weight" and marched in urging employes there and construction workmen on an addition to quit, a company spokesman said, adding:

"Some quit and some didn't. The latter worked until the end of their shifts."

After threatening to shut the power house down tight, the invaders agreed to leave a maintenance crew on hand to secure it—shut off water pipes, carrying out necessary maintenance and furnish power to such essential things as foundry furnaces that otherwise might "freeze" with serious damage.

Two company guards were escorted off power house property, but there was no violence outside this and forcing of the gate.

Girl's "Dud" A-Bomb Query Brings Variety Of Answers

TRENTON, N. J., Dec. 3 (AP) — A 12-year-old girl wanted to know today what happens if an enemy atom bomb doesn't go off.

Barbara Bair, of nearby Lambertville, asked the question in an essay on civil defense.

Said Charles S. Weiler, assistant to the deputy director of New Jersey's civil defense:

"We'd call Governor's Island in New York Bay and ask them to send us their bomb disposal squad.

Said the Atomic Energy Commission office in New York:

"We feel the question is too much in the realm of public excitement. We'd rather not get into it."

Said a Princeton University scientist:

"An answer might take weeks."

Said another Princeton scientist's secretary:

"Throw it into the Atlantic Ocean and notify the Atomic Energy Commission."

Enemy Supply Lines Blasted; Losses Light

Four MIGs Fly Over Seoul Area

TOKYO, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—U. S. Marines and British Commandos made a surprise landing deep behind Communist lines in Northeast Korea and carried out a series of harassing raids, the Navy said today.

The raiders struck Sunday night 170 miles north of parallel 38.

The Marines and Commandos landed from the U. S. high speed transport Bass on the east coast near Tanchon, about 25 miles south of Songjin.

The Navy announcement did not indicate how many troops took part in the night assaults.

The landing was made under cover of a moonless night and gunfire from the Bass and the U. S. destroyer Tingey.

It put the Allied raiders astride the main east coast road connecting Songjin and the east coast supply funnel on Wonsan.

The raiding parties landed on the well-defended coastline under a heavy naval barrage and swept inland through intense Red machine-gun fire along the beaches.

The Commandos left a wake of Communist dead behind them, the Navy said. They pushed forward and blasted a rail tunnel with bazookas.

Other raiders probed the coast line and destroyed Communist transport and communications facilities.

Similar raids have been made periodically along both Korea coasts to disrupt Red supply and communications lines.

This one, however, apparently was the biggest yet.

Despite the size of the raid, the Navy said casualties were light. The Commandos had only two men wounded. No announcement of U. S. Marine losses was made.

Four Red Jet Planes Fly Over Seoul Area

SEOUL, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Four Russian-type MIG-15 jets flew over the Seoul area Monday in a daring flight which carried them farther south than ever before in the war.

Allied and Red jets tangled over Northwest Korea Monday for the eighth straight day. The far east Air Forces in Tokyo said four Red jets were damaged.

An Allied briefing officer said Tuesday the four jets which flew over the Seoul area were carrying bomb loads but no bombs were dropped.

The North Koreans took the wraps off a Chinese amphibious operation last weekend near the mouth of the Yalu River in extreme Northwest Korea and claimed the recapture of three strategic islands.

All of them were deep behind Communist lines near the border of Red Manchuria.

In Washington, the Navy Department confirmed that Taewha island was lost last Friday. It said that 300 to 400 South Korean guerrillas were evacuated by sea from the one-time Allied raiding base under Red gunfire. Taewha is some 35 miles southeast of the mouth of the Yalu River.

Reds Make Concession But U. N. Wary Of Trap

MUNSAN, Korea, Tuesday, Dec. 4 (AP)—Wary of a trap, Allied armistice negotiators today sought extensive clarification of a sudden Communist proposal to permit neutral inspection at some places behind the lines and to "freeze" troops and arms now in Korea.

The negotiating teams met again at Panmunjom at 11 a. m. today (9 p. m. Monday, EST).

Previously the Reds had adamantly refused to consider any inspection behind their lines under any circumstances.

The United Nations delegation was not expected to accept the new Red plan as presented, however.

Suspiciously, Vice-Adm. C. Turner Joy, chief U. N. negotiator, asked 21 clarifications.

Among the questions was a formal request by the U. N. for a list of the neutral nations the Reds would consider acceptable.

Unofficially and perhaps jokingly, a Red newsman, Wilfred Burchett of Paris Ce Soir, had indicated outside the conference that Russia, Egypt, Transjordan, India and Switzerland would make a "good team."

Joy also proposed that the truce supervision issue be given to a two-man subcommittee for further study.

The Communists refused to turn it over to a subcommittee unless their plan was accepted. The U. N delegation said it could not agree to anything until clarification was made. The Reds promised to make some answers today.

Long Invites Tederick To Debate Record

Commissioner of Police and Fire John J. Long yesterday challenged Commissioner George H. Tederick or "anyone else" to a public debate on their records "politically, in office or on our backgrounds."

Tederick had attacked Long's statement in local newspapers regarding the estimates on construction for the filter plant improvements at Lake Gordon.

"It is a reflection to make any statement until the matter is discussed with the council," Tederick said. He said he had tried to get necessary data to the commissioners on the filtration bids, but that apparently Long did not get his.

"Mr. Long doesn't seem to have time to spend sufficient time in office," Tederick said, adding that for a "commissioner to take something to the paper like that puts into the minds of the people" that there is a lack of harmony among members of the council.

Long asked for time to reply to Tederick and said that "No man can sit here and take such a verbal spanking and not make a reply." He added that any one with any red blood in him would do the same.

"I am not perturbed by your statements," Long told Tederick.

Long said there was nothing about the water commissioner in his statement in the newspapers. Long added he had stated he was not going to vote until he had asked the consulting engineer why he missed by such a large percentage on the estimates for the work.

"As to how much time I spend on city work. I have never missed a meeting if asked in time to plan my work. This is not a full time job for me. I entered this job at the urging of friends and because I have felt I owe something to the city of Cumberland x x x.

"It is unfair of you. I have not said anything about you.

"I don't know of anybody who put in more time in the office than I do.

"Anytime you want to compare records, in office, politically or background, I am willing to do it. I am not going to criticize you or anyone.

"If there is any doubt in the mind of any individual, I challenge you or any one else to a public debate," Long said in referring to his record.

Later, Long added for the record that he is a married man with four children, and "I can't afford to stand on the street corner shaking hands." He said he had to work for a living and that the $104 a month received as a commissioner wasn't a living wage.

Long said that any time the council wanted him they could call his home or office. "Or ask the fire chief or police chief. They know where I am most of the time," he added.

Long said that Commissioner William H. Buchholtz had given him information on the filter bids.

Earlier, Ted had said no action was rec terday on the recommendat the consulting engineer, Rob Regester, Baltimore. Regester recommended that the bid of the George F. Hazelwood Company, this city, be accepted. The firm's bid was $237,210, or $83,210 over the estimate placed on the filtration job by Regester. The city wants to increase its water capacity from 12,000,000 gallons to 18,000,000.

Regester, in a letter to the council yesterday, pointed out the increased cost of construction was reflected in the bids and also cited shortages of critical materials because of the defense effort.

Tederick said that Regester will be here today at 1:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post to meet with the council, Hazelwood officials, Acting City Engineer William M. Marean and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson. Regester had originally been scheduled for Thursday, but Tederick said after the meeting that he agreed to today because of the "urgency" of the matter.

Tederick said at the meeting that the amount of the bids was "most shocking." He said he thought the work could have been done for less. But, he added, it is impossible to get any lower bid after considering possible changes in plans.

Koelker To Head Bartender Union

Walter Koelker was elected president of the Bartender Union, AFL, at a meeting of the group Sunday.

James C. Wilt was renamed business agent for a three-year term.

Other officers elected include Hugh Kilroy, vice president; Jack Kilroy, recording secretary, and Ellis Northcraft, chaplain.

"It is a reflection to make any statement until the matter is discussed with the council," Tederick said. He said he had tried to get necessary data to the commissioners on the filtration bids, but that apparently Long did not get his.

"Mr. Long doesn't seem to have time to spend sufficient time in office," Tederick said, adding that for a "commissioner to take something to the paper like that puts into the minds of the people" that there is a lack of harmony among members of the council.

Long asked for time to reply to Tederick and said that "No man can sit here and take such a verbal spanking and not make a reply." He added that any one with any red blood in him would do the same.

"I am not perturbed by your statements," Long told Tederick.

Long said there was nothing about the water commissioner in his statement in the newspapers. Long added he had stated he was not going to vote until he had asked the consulting engineer why he missed by such a large percentage on the estimates for the work.

"As to how much time I spend on city work. I have never missed a meeting if asked in time to plan my work. This is not a full time job for me. I entered this job at the urging of friends and because I have felt I owe something to the city of Cumberland x x x.

"It is unfair of you. I have not said anything about you.

"I don't know of anybody who put in more time in the office than I do.

"Anytime you want to compare records, in office, politically or background, I am willing to do it. I am not going to criticize you or anyone.

"If there is any doubt in the mind of any individual, I challenge you or any one else to a public debate," Long said in referring to his record.

Later, Long added for the record that he is a married man with four children, and "I can't afford to stand on the street corner shaking hands." He said he had to work for a living and that the $104 a month received as a commissioner wasn't a living wage.

Long said that any time the council wanted him they could call his home or office. "Or ask the fire chief or police chief. They know where I am most of the time," he added.

Long said that Commissioner William H. Buchholtz had given him information on the filter bids.

Earlier, Ted had said no action was rec terday on the recommendat he consulting engineer, Rob Regester, Baltimore. Regester recommended that the bid of the George F. Hazelwood Company, this city, be accepted. The firm's bid was $237,210, or $83,210 over the estimate placed on the filtration job by Regester. The city wants to increase its water capacity from 12,000,000 gallons to 18,000,000.

Regester, in a letter to the council yesterday, pointed out the increased cost of construction was reflected in the bids and also cited shortages of critical materials because of the defense effort.

Tederick said that Regester will be here today at 1:30 p. m. in the office of Mayor Thomas S. Post to meet with the council, Hazelwood officials, Acting City Engineer William M. Marean and City Auditor Arthur B. Gibson. Regester had originally been scheduled for Thursday, but Tederick said after the meeting that he agreed to today because of the "urgency" of the matter.

Tederick said at the meeting that the amount of the bids was "most shocking." He said he thought the work could have been done for less. But, he added, it is impossible to get any lower bid after considering possible changes in plans.

Congress Probe Of Willoughby's Charges Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Rep. Yorty (D-Calif) suggested today that the Senate Armed Services Committee investigate charges of biased reporting made by Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby against certain war correspondents in Korea.

In a letter to Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate committee, Yorty said he regards Willoughby's charges "as the rantings of a thin-skinned brass hat, unable to tolerate even speculation about his ability based upon his record as an intelligence officer."

"I cannot believe that Gen. MacArthur was made the victim of a conspiracy on the part of some of our finest writers to deliberately distort the facts concerning our operations in Korea," Yorty said.

"These eminent writers deserve the right to refute the general's charges face to face at an official hearing."

Yorty called attention to a report by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) for an inquiry into confusion over a reported "cease-fire" order in Korea.

Yorty said Knowland's purpose "is not quite clear," but suggested that it might stem from his partiality to Gen. MacArthur or from "some hope of embarrassing the administration."

Managing Editor Of N. Y. Times Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Edwin L. James, 61, managing editor of the New York Times for the past 19 years, died tonight.

He suffered a heart attack last June. In August, a kidney was removed. He had been working since on a part time basis.

At work for several weeks, James suffered an internal hemorrhage yesterday. Seemingly improved, he had a relapse tonight and died within minutes.

A native of Irvington, Va., James began his newspaper career in 1910 as a reporter on the Baltimore Sun.

He later worked on the Pittsburgh Dispatch and the Albany, N. Y., Knickerbocker Press.

Deer Hunters Find Suicide's Body In Car

ELKTON, Md., Dec. 3 (AP)—Deer hunters today found the body of Hugh Francis Purcell, 31, Wilmington, Del., in his auto and medical examiner returned a verdict of suicide.

Lester Woodley, Baltimore and other hunters chanced upon the body in a desolate woods near Elk Neck, six miles south of Elkton.

Dr. R. C. Dodson, Cecil County Medical examiner, said Purcell committed suicide by attaching a vacuum cleaner hose to the exhaust of his running car and inhaling the carbon monoxide.

Four Seek Sasscer's Seat In Congress

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 3 (AP)—Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer's decision to run for the Senate touched off today a wide open scramble for his Fifth District seat in Congress.

Phillip H. Dorsey, Jr., former people's counsel to the Public Service Commission and long prominent in Southern Maryland political affairs, filed for the Democratic nomination.

He officially got into the race after two veteran Anne Arundel County campaigners announced they would be candidates. They are Wilbur R. Dulin, former member of the State Racing Commission who also has served in the General Assembly, and Z. Garner Jones, one-time county police commissioner and a party leader.

At the same time B.C.F. (Joe) Mulieri, who previously had announced his intentions, paid his $100 filing fee to become a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Police To Get IRB Gambling Data

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau decided today to spill the beans on about 2,500 registered gamblers to local police officers throughout the nation.

And it tightened the squeeze by preparing a crackdown of its own on a conservatively estimated 15,000 suspected gamblers who haven't bothered to register with the government.

The bureau has now received detailed information from about 2,575 bookies and punchboard and numbers operators who applied for the new federal gambling tax stamp by the Dec. 1 deadline. Their operations are illegal under most state laws.

The tax agency is required to keep a public roster of gamblers who get stamps. But officials decided today to go further in cooperation with local police—they will turn over complete copies of all applications.

This data is supposed to include the names of all officers and partners in the gambling business, all agents and runners, all places of business from a street corner to a casino, and other information.

Hungary Might Swap U. S. Fliers For Crown

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP)—American officials here wondered tonight whether Communist Hungary might demand the ancient crown of St. Stephen as a ransom for the four crewmen and their C-47 U. S. Air Force transport forced to land in Hungary.

These officials pointed out that the return of this 10th century national treasure to Hungary was demanded less than a week after the plane was forced down by Soviet fighters. In a formal note handed to the U. S. legation in Budapest Nov. 24, the Hungarian government charged that the United States is withholding the crown for "political purposes." At the time the note was delivered the fate of the missing C-47 was unknown in the West.

"Ike" Is "Flattered" But Silent On Plans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has said he is "flattered" to know that some members of Congress consider him presidential timber — but he still hasn't indicated whether he will be a candidate.

In a letter to Rep. Cole (R-NY), the commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces said:

"I would be less than human if I did not feel flattered to know that certain of your colleagues in the House feel that I have the necessary qualifications to fill the highest post in our country.

"I am also appreciative of your warm endorsement of the work we are engaged in here (at the NATO headquarters near Paris), as well as your sympathetic understanding of my present position."

Pilot Dies In Crash

Buildings, Traffic Impress Man After 27 Years In Prison

DETROIT, Dec. 3 (AP)—Vance Hardy, 56, walked out of a court building today feeling "like a native out of the jungle."

The big new buildings and the speeding traffic impressed him.

"It's wonderful to be free," Hardy said.

After 27 years in prison on a murder conviction, Hardy was freed on a directed verdict of innocent at his retrial.

In 1924 Hardy was convicted of the murder of a bootlegger. Four men were allegedly involved. But only Hardy went to prison.

Police To Get IRB Gambling Data

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3. (AP)—The Internal Revenue Bureau decided today to spill the beans on about 2,500 registered gamblers to local police officers throughout the nation.

And it tightened the squeeze by preparing a crackdown of its own on a conservatively estimated 15,000 suspected gamblers who haven't bothered to register with the government.

The bureau has now received detailed information from about 2,575 bookies and punchboard and numbers operators who applied for the new federal gambling tax stamp by the Dec. 1 deadline. Their operations are illegal under most state laws.

The tax agency is required to keep a public roster of gamblers who get stamps. But officials decided today to go further in cooperation with local police—they will turn over complete copies of all applications.

This data is supposed to include the names of all officers and partners in the gambling business, all agents and runners, all places of business from a street corner to a casino, and other information.

Hungary Might Swap U. S. Fliers For Crown

FRANKFURT, Germany, Dec. 3 (AP)—American officials here wondered tonight whether Communist Hungary might demand the ancient crown of St. Stephen as a ransom for the four crewmen and their C-47 U. S. Air Force transport forced to land in Hungary.

These officials pointed out that the return of this 10th century national treasure to Hungary was demanded less than a week after the plane was forced down by Soviet fighters. In a formal note handed to the U. S. legation in Budapest Nov. 24, the Hungarian government charged that the United States is withholding the crown for "political purposes." At the time the note was delivered the fate of the missing C-47 was unknown in the West.

"Ike" Is "Flattered" But Silent On Plans

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Gen. Dwight D. Eisenhower has said he is "flattered" to know that some members of Congress consider him presidential timber — but he still hasn't indicated whether he will be a candidate.

In a letter to Rep. Cole (R-NY), the commander of the North Atlantic Treaty forces said:

"I would be less than human if I did not feel flattered to know that certain of your colleagues in the House feel that I have the necessary qualifications to fill the highest post in our country.

"I am also appreciative of your warm endorsement of the work we are engaged in here (at the NATO headquarters near Paris), as well as your sympathetic understanding of my present position."

Buildings, Traffic Impress Man After 27 Years In Prison

DETROIT, Dec. 3 (AP)—Vance Hardy, 56, walked out of a court building today feeling "like a native out of the jungle."

The big new buildings and the speeding traffic impressed him.

"It's wonderful to be free," Hardy said.

After 27 years in prison on a murder conviction, Hardy was freed on a directed verdict of innocent at his retrial.

In 1924 Hardy was convicted of the murder of a bootlegger. Four men were allegedly involved. But only Hardy went to prison.

Congress Probe Of Willoughby's Charges Urged

WASHINGTON, Dec. 3 (AP)—Rep. Yorty (D-Calif) suggested today that the Senate Armed Services Committee investigate charges of biased reporting made by Maj. Gen. Charles A. Willoughby against certain war correspondents in Korea.

In a letter to Chairman Russell (D-Ga) of the Senate committee, Yorty said he regards Willoughby's charges "as the rantings of a thin-skinned brass hat, unable to tolerate even speculation about his ability based upon his record as an intelligence officer."

"I cannot believe that Gen. MacArthur was made the victim of a conspiracy on the part of some of our finest writers to deliberately distort the facts concerning our operations in Korea," Yorty said.

"These eminent writers deserve the right to refute the general's charges face to face at an official hearing."

Yorty called attention to a report by Sen. Knowland (R-Calif) for an inquiry into confusion over a reported "cease-fire" order in Korea.

Yorty said Knowland's purpose "is not quite clear," but suggested that it might stem from his partiality to Gen. MacArthur or from "some hope of embarrassing the administration."

Managing Editor Of N. Y. Times Dies

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Edwin L. James, 61, managing editor of the New York Times for the past 19 years, died tonight.

He suffered a heart attack last June. In August, a kidney was removed. He had been working since on a part time basis.

At work for several weeks, James suffered an internal hemorrhage yesterday. Seemingly improved, he had a relapse tonight and died within minutes.

A native of Irvington, Va., James began his newspaper career in 1910 as a reporter on the Baltimore Sun.

He later worked on the Pittsburgh Dispatch and the Albany, N. Y., Knickerbocker Press.

Deer Hunters Find Suicide's Body In Car

ELKTON, Md., Dec. 3 (AP)—Deer hunters today found the body of Hugh Francis Purcell, 31, Wilmington, Del., in his auto and medical examiner returned a verdict of suicide.

Lester Woodley, Baltimore and other hunters chanced upon the body in a desolate woods near Elk Neck, six miles south of Elkton.

Dr. R. C. Dodson, Cecil County Medical examiner, said Purcell committed suicide by attaching a vacuum cleaner hose to the exhaust of his running car and inhaling the carbon monoxide.

Four Seek Sasscer's Seat In Congress

ANNAPOLIS, Md., Dec. 3 (AP)—Rep. Lansdale G. Sasscer's decision to run for the Senate touched off today a wide open scramble for his Fifth District seat in Congress.

Phillip H. Dorsey, Jr., former people's counsel to the Public Service Commission and long prominent in Southern Maryland political affairs, filed for the Democratic nomination.

He officially got into the race after two veteran Anne Arundel County campaigners announced they would be candidates. They are Wilbur R. Dulin, former member of the State Racing Commission who also has served in the General Assembly, and Z. Garner Jones, one-time county police commissioner and a party leader.

At the same time B.C.F. (Joe) Mulieri, who previously had announced his intentions, paid his $100 filing fee to become a candidate for the Republican nomination.

Square Key Anniversary

Phi Beta Kappa, oldest of U. S. Greek Letter organizations—and only several months younger than the Declaration of Independence—was founded by five students of William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va., on December 5, 1776, and its 175th anniversary will be observed Wednesday. The scene of the founding, the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern, has been restored and is a sort of national shrine for the society.

With 141 active chapters and a membership of about 155,000, Phi Beta Kappa no longer is a fraternity in the strict or secret sense of the word, but is rather a national honor society for liberal arts and science universities and colleges. Its three Greek letters stand for a motto generally translated as "Love of Wisdom (or Philosophy), the helmsman of life." Irreverent souls are apt to say that its motto should be, "I Was Smart."

Phi Beta Kappa's square key is patterned after a type once used to wind watches. The Latin motto on the seal of the Society is: Per aspera ad astra: literally, "To the stars by hard ways."

Phi Beta Kappa originally had the familiar trappings of a social fraternity, including secret ritual, a badge, a seal, a code of laws, initiation ceremonies, a grip. The founders appear to have been keenly interested in literary composition and debate. They discoursed on such matters as, "The Cause and Origin of Society," and "Whether Theatrical Exhibitions are advantageous to States or ye Contrary." Members were fined 10 shillings for attending meetings while drunk.

Phi Beta Kappa was not the first secret society on the William and Mary campus. A predecessor was the Flat Hat Society, but Thomas Jefferson, a member, wrote of that organization that it served "no useful object."

The advent at Williamsburg of the British army of Cornwallis caused the disbanding of the William and Mary chapter of the fraternity. In its first four years of existence it had held 67 meetings and initiated 50 members. It had also granted charters for new "branches" at Harvard and Yale. Some chapters still use the "pink and sky blue" colors of ribbons found on old documents of the Harvard chapter.

Agitation at Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale in the 1820's over the anti-Masonic movement led the Harvard chapter to abandon secrecy in 1831. For many years other chapters formally maintained the secret trappings.

Women were first taken into the society by the Vermont chapter in 1875. When the society was reorganized in its first National Council of United Chapters in 1883, it had grown to 25 chapters and 14,000 members.

Phi Beta Kappa was restored at William and Mary in 1851, but died out as a result of the Civil War. A second restoration took place in 1893.

Host campus for the 175th anniversary ceremonies, William and Mary this year has also been the scene of a major athletic scandal. The president of the college and the head football coach resigned, and college authorities admitted that grades of athletes had been falsified. When the trustees named a new president, Rear Admiral Alvin Duke Chandler, without consulting the faculty, the dean resigned in protest. The situation was hardly one testifying to "Love of Wisdom."

Billions Of Stars

How many stars are there in the night sky. A thousand? A million? A billion? A billion billion?

Since the beginning of his sojourn on earth, man has marveled at the sky on clear nights and wondered just how many stars there might be in the heavens.

One of the interesting products of the National Geographic Society-Palomar Observatory Sky Survey now under way in Southern California will be a closer approximation of the number of shining heavenly bodies which populate the visible universe.

The survey, through the magic of the 48-inch "Big Schmidt" telescope, will number the stars and systems of stars out to a distance of 350,000,000 light years. Glimpses of even more distant stellar systems can be seen beyond the limits of the 48-inch Schmidt through the 200-inch Hale telescope also on Palomar Mountain.

Although the survey will not be finished until 1953 or 1954, Dr. Albert G. Wilson, who is in charge of the observational program, already has intimations of the size of the universe as it can be photographed through the Big Schmidt. Our own Milky Way galaxy, of which the earth is a tiny part and no star at all, is composed of between 200 billion and 300 billion stars. The sun is one of those stars, medium size.

"It's easy to remember how many stars are in the Milky Way," Wilson says with a broad smile. "There are just about as many as there are dollars in the national debt."

Out beyond the Milky Way are many millions of star systems called extra-galactic nebulae. They move through the heavens to the observational limits of the greatest telescopes. Beyond that limit they could go on forever, astronomers say.

There may be well over a billion such systems, some of them as big or bigger than the Milky Way system with its many billions of suns. The final figure on how many, if it could be computed, would be so large as to be meaningless.

One way to visualize the number, however, is to think of every grain of sand on every beach in the world. All the grains together will not equal the number of suns in the heavens!

Most of these stars and star systems, providing they were shining and within range as recently as 350,000,000 years ago, will be captured as points of light or nebulosities on the 2,000 photographic plates of the Sky Survey. Astronomers will be kept busy deciphering the plates for a hundred years.

Vital Facilities

Any emergency in the Lincoln or Holland tunnels of more than a few minutes' duration brings near-paralysis to much of the motor traffic in the metropolitan area of New York City.

A truck fire blocked the New York-bound south tube of the Holland Tunnel for three hours the other day. Even though the north tube was switched to two-way traffic and many vehicles were diverted to the Lincoln Tunnel, cars and trucks were backed up bumper to bumper to New Jersey for many miles.

It was a terrifying spectacle, for it demonstrated how easily a few atomic bombs dropped in the right places could tie up the most strategic part of the United States. It demonstrated, too, why civilian defense authorities have abandoned plans for wholesale evacuation of civilian populations in the event of enemy attack.

How To Keep Well

Ulcer In Children

Children can develop peptic ulcer and gall bladder trouble. This information is not new but who would ever think of X-raying an infant's intestinal tract? However, since physicians began to take more X-rays they have discovered that these conditions are not as rare as we thought.

Peptic ulcer in childhood is not as prevalent as in adulthood. The manifestations also differ and the same can be said of the cause. Approximately 40 per cent of childhood cases have been observed in tots under 1 year of age and we hardy can blame the stress and strain of modern living, overwork, dietary indiscretions, tobacco, or alcohol. Apparently these little ones come into the world with a weakness along this line. Toxins play a role because peptic ulcer has been known to follow extensive third degree skin burns in children.

One of the cases reported by Doctors James B. Gillespie and Helen E. Bliss in the Archives of Pediatrics is typical of what these youngsters go thru. A 4 year old girl began to under 1 year of age and we hardly infancy, consisting chiefly of periodic attacks of vomiting with fever but no apparent pain. At 19 months she suffered a siege of severe vomiting and diarrhea which lasted approximately a month. As time went by these episodes recurred periodically, lasted several days, and then disappeared. Ultimately she developed abdominal distress and on many occasions awakened at night with pain. Now and then she complained of tummyache before meals. Baking soda gave relief but milk or other foods were not effective as with adults. Meat, crackers, and other rough or dry nutrients were not tolerated.

Finally it became obvious that the child was losing ground. When seen by the physicians she was pale, malnourished, and weighed only 27½ pounds. Ulcer was discovered after X-raying the stomach. The Sippy diet was prescribed and within a short time there were signs of improvement; she seemed to thrive on milk and cream along with bland food. According to her parents, this was the first time in their recollection that she did not complain of abdominal discomfort.

The experience of this youngster probably has been duplicated many times over. Ulcer is overlooked because X-rays are not being done. Should the condition occur in infancy there may be no signs or symptoms until the ulcer ruptures and peritonitis sets in. In others, bleeding from the stomach is the first clew; when hemorrhage is concealed the child may collapse before it is discovered. Still others, like little Mary, have vague symptoms of dyspepsia and vomiting, loose stools, and indefinite abdominal discomfort. Pylorospasm, colic, and many other disorders are blamed and because X-rays are not taken the true cause escapes detection.

The antacids and diet are the most important considerations. Blood transfusions may be necessary when hemorrhage is severe. Should the lesion rupture or obstruction occur the physician has no alternative but to recommend immediate operation to save the life of the little tike.

TOMORROW: Bleeding from polyps and other rectal lesions.

PAGET'S DISEASE

M. T. writes: What is the name of the disease where the man has to keep on buying larger and larger hats?

REPLY

You probably refer to Paget's disease of the bone, or oseitis deformans. In this disorder, enlargement of the skull and bowing of the leg bones are the chief manifestations. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on Paget's disease.

ALBUMINURA

V. G. writes: Does albumin in the urine call for a diet?

REPLY

This depends upon the cause. Diet is indicated when albumin is caused by nephrosis of the kidneys but when it stems from changes occurring as a result of posture the condition would not be affected by what is eaten. So the cause must be found before treatment can be discussed.

DIABETES INSIPIDUS

L. R. writes: Does diabetes insipidus come and go? Something must have happened in my case because, after 49 years, I don't have to drink as much water as formerly. However, I still urinate every two hours.

REPLY

To my knowledge, spontaneous improvement does not occur but there are exceptions to all the rules of medicine.

ENLARGED LIVER

M. L. writes: Are medicines of any kind prescribed for enlargement of the liver?

REPLY

Yes, depending upon the cause of the enlargement. When cirrhosis is responsible, vitamin B, choline, and inositol are of value. If the organ is dropsical on account of heart disease, digitalis may be effective along with one of the mercury drugs that encourages the elimination of fluid.

U. S. Production Faces Serious Crisis; Many Factories Must Go On War Basis Or Shut Down; Portland Papers Criticize Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON—Behind Defense Mobilizer Wilson's sudden trip to Key West was not only lagging production but the possibility that most major civilian manufacturing, such as automobiles, may have to close down in 1952.

For the inside fact is that the government might have to go on an all-out war footing, with the manufacture of autos, refrigerators, TV set, etc., banned entirely.

The choice of planes vs. autos was laid down by Manly Fleischmann, the nation's forthright production chief, at a recent secret meeting of defense agency heads.

"If the production of consumer durable goods is reduced more than an additional 10 per cent, it will be necessary to convert entirely to defense," he warned bluntly. This would mean "abandonment of the basic concept of maintaining a substantial level of production of consumer durables while at the same time meeting the needs of the defense mobilization program," Fleischmann added.

The production crisis has been caused by shortages and strikes at home, plus stepped up military shipments to Europe. The unfortunate fact is that military production is lagging dangerously behind procurement schedules. For example, the manufacture of jet planes is nine months behind schedule. Yet the Air Force right now has had to revise its earlier schedule drastically upward because of losses over Korea and improvements in Russian planes.

Fleischmann argued that the manufacturers of automobiles, refrigerators, television sets and other consumer durables, "on the average, have already reduced to 60 per cent of their 1950 rates of production."

"Consumer durables cannot be reduced more than an additional 10 per cent and still produce at a profit," he warned mobilization officials at the closed-door meeting.

10 Per Cent No Solution

Fleischmann hinted, however, that a 10 per cent cut would not solve the problem of material shortages.

"Further cuts in the production of consumer durables," he shrugged, "will not release substantial quantities of controlled materials, such as structural steel and brass mill products."

Fleischmann's problem is allocating scarce materials such as copper and aluminum, to meet both civilian and military needs. He made no bones about this being a tough assignment for the first quarter of 1952.

"The growing demands of the defense production program will probably result in allocations satisfactory to no one," he predicted gloomily.

Arthur Smithies, economist for Mobilizer Charlie Wilson, asked whether manufacturers were hoarding scarce materials. Fleischmann explained that his controls program "works on a production and not a plant basis," which makes it difficult to check.

Looking at the immediate future, Fleischmann admitted that prospects for an "increase in the supply of controlled materials are not bright. Shortage of electrical power in the Northwest has curtailed the production of aluminum. The problem of financing additional aluminum capacity has not yet been solved. There appears to be no new solution of the copper shortage."

These are the reasons, complicated by strikes in defense industries, why military production is lagging. It means President Truman must choose bteween guns and egg beaters—on the eve of a Presidential election.

NOTE—Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson's plan has been to keep the nation's factories producing civilian goods, and increase defense production by expanding and building new plants. The only trouble has been that this has been too slow to keep up with the Defense Department's needs.

E. C., Washington, D. C.—My brief reference to Gen. MacArthur's failure to speak to hospitalized veterans at Portland, Ore., was mild compared to the comments of Portland newspapers and the Portland chairman of the MacArthur welcoming committee, a Republican. The Oregonian, a GOP newspaper, commented: "The one speech Gen. MacArthur was expected to make in Portland . . . left some 500 patients of the veterans hospital bewildered and disappointed. Ambulatory patients awaited the event from the doors of the big hospital. Other patients crowded hospital windows expecting to hear a speech from the hospital's public address system. The hundreds of patients who could not see the dramatic arrival waited patiently with bedside earphones.

"The caravan arrived. MacArthur alighted, saw the cheering patients, some in wheel chairs, with nurse attendants. He shook hands. Flash bulbs lighted the scene . . . Photographers arranged the general, Mrs. MacArthur, Governor Douglas McKay, Mayor Dorothy McCullough Lee and dozens of others into pictorial poses . . . Two generals and two colonels who became Japanese prisoners on Bataan held brief reunion with their old commander as shutters snapped."

Then the MacArthur party retired. "The big hospital buildings," concluded the Oregonian, "where the patients watched behind closed windows and the bedridden neither saw nor heard the 'old soldier' or his voice, were silent."

Later the Portland Journal, an anti-Truman Democratic paper, quoted E. C. Sammons, GOP chairman of the MacArthur welcoming committee as having telephoned Gen. Courtney Whitney, to deny Whitney's assertion that Mac Arthur did not know he was supposed to address the hospitalized veterans over the loudspeaker.

"On at least three occasions at the hospital the general had been advised he was expected to speak over the loudspeaker and into the radio microphones which had been set up," the Journal quoted Sammons as saying.

"The original idea of the general to speak at the hospital developed in a telephone conversation between Sammons and Whitney," the Journal stated. "MacArthur had specifically asked that the parade go 'past a veterans hospital if you have one.'

"Sammons (talking to Gen. Whitney over the phone) said: 'There was not a single reason why MacArthur should not have spoken. As one old soldier to another, he could have told the boys of his thanks for what they had done.'"

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—There are plenty of Communist partisans or sympathizers inside the federal government and also inside state, county and municipal governments—and they keep on drawing government pay out of tax money.

This startling fact emerges from a reading of the report issued as a government document by Senator Humphrey, Democrat, of Minnesota. While the senator, who is chairman of a subcommittee on labor, intends to conduct a further investigation of Communist-controlled labor unions, he gives the document containing the CIO's own report his approval, pointing out that it spells out "how Communist unionism functions as a system of power."

The report itself represents the result of a comprehensive inquiry made by the CIO's executive board members into the operations of eight large labor unions of their group now found to be Communist dominated and recommended for expulsion from the CIO.

The material in the report, though made by a non-governmental body, becomes privileged under the rules of Congress which reprints it. This is an example of how valuable congressional immunity is in dealing with individuals who do not hesitate to resort to libel suits and litigation when challenging charges made outside the halls of Congress.

Not On Subversive List

The puzzling thing about the facts recited in the report is that with such Communist activity going on in so many big unions, especially the United Public Workers which includes many government employes, all these organizations have never been put on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

The report states flatly, for instance, that the "policies and activities of the United Public Workers have been in the past and are today directed toward the achievement of the program and the purposes of the Communist party rather than the objectives set forth in the constitution of the CIO."

In the face of this explicit finding, another statement in the report also becomes pertinent. For, in the officers' report to the 1948 convention of the United Public Workers, the distribution of members of civil service status is given. The CIO executive committee, which conducted the inquiry, sums up the data as follows:

"This distribution shows that 11 per cent of the total union membership had federal civil service status, 64 per cent of the membership had state, county, municipal civil service status, and the remaining 25 per cent of the membership, comprising members working for private employers, according to the report, had no civil service status."

It is stated by the CIO that the federal section of the membership has been dropping and "may now well be below 11 per cent" and that probably many individual members "are fooled" and are innocent of the purposes of the union. But one wonders how any such federal employes can continue to get their pay at all in view of provisions in the appropriation laws which forbid payments to any government employe who is a member of a subversive organization.

It will be noted that Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin had nothing to do with all this and that the report is sponsored in Congress by Senator Humphrey. The only propinquity involved seems to be that Minnesota is geographically close to Wisconsin but there is a strange coincidence of objective—to get rid of Communists as a system of power in America.

Expulsion Recommended

The CIO executive committee members who conducted the inquiry took testimony and offered opportunities for the accused to make statements of their own. The names of the eight unions found to be Communist controlled and now recommended for expulsion from the CIO by its own board are:

1. United Office and Professional Workers of America.
2. United Public Workers of America.
3. Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers of America.
4. American Communications Association.
5. International Fur and Leather Workers' Union.
6. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.
7. International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.
8. National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards.

It will be noted how wide and varied are the Communist conspiracies inside trade unions.

Change And Decay

—BAGDAD

Here, where civilization was born, it is quite easy to see how civilization may die. For here it is possible to watch painlessly, as through dark glasses, all the forces at work which are causing the Middle East to go the way of China.

First, of course, there is the progressive decay of the British technique of exercising power. In essence, this technique has been to create a small ruling class of rich, venal, or ambitious men, dependent on British support, and then to exercise power through these men. Iraq is interesting, as some well preserved fossil might be interesting, because this tried but no longer true technique continues rather shakily to function. But no one really believes that this system, which has collapsed already in Iran and Egypt, will work for very much longer.

The erosion of British power is accompanied by a universal and totally irrational hatred of the British. This reporter was conducted by one of the most intelligent Arabs he has met, through the stinking slums of Bagdad, where people live in mud huts, in company with their livestock and an occasional poisonous reptile, in the shadow of the palace grounds. This man was wholly convinced that the surrounding degradation (which has existed from time immemorial) was exclusively the fault of the British.

Learned Belated Lesson

In this atmosphere of unreason, Iraq, like Iran, is quite likely to cut off its own nose — its oil revenues — to spite the British face. The same men who somewhat unbrilliantly managed the fortunes of Iran's Anglo-Iranian Oil Company have been managing the almost equally vital Iraq Petroleum Company. They long ago adopted the policy of keeping the Iraq oil fields a largely untapped reserve, which not unnaturally enraged the Iraqueans, whose oil revenues have been a mere trickle.

Having learned a belated lesson in Iran, the British oil managers have now offered a reasonably generous contract to Iraq. Iraq Premier Nuri Said, an aging monument to the British technique of power, has accepted the new agreement. It is expected to pass through Parliament, to the accompaniment of Communist-organized street riots. But sooner or later, in the universal opinion here, some ambitious politician will seize the torch from Mossadegh's trembling hands, and the days of the Iraq Petroleum Company will be numbered.

As the Iranian oil crisis has its pale counterpart here, so does the Egyptian crisis. The British have, by treaty, the right to station certain troops in Iraq. Actually, they have only a corporal's guard, mostly Royal Air Force men. Although less vital than the Suez base, the British installation in Iraq would be an important forward defense and staging area in case of war. Without them there could be no defense of Iraq. But the anti-British regime which will sooner or later be installed here will undoubtedly follow Egypt's lead and abrogate the treaty with Britain.

U. S. Policy Paralyzed

Here, as everywhere in the Middle East, there is mass misery. And here there is also the fear and hatred of Israel found in every Arab state. Partly because the United States is credited with responsibility for creating Israel, partly because to seem to challenge our British ally would be disastrous, and partly through sheer inertia, American policy in Iraq, as elsewhere in the Middle East, is paralyzed. Even the ablest Americans in this area tend to become resigned to disaster. They ask, reasonably enough, "But what can you do?" Only the engineers, pouring over their maps, their eyes gleaming as they point to the natural waterbasins and watersheds which surround this parched land, retain something of their native optimism. And this is the last twist of the knife. For so much could be done, so easily, and even so cheaply.

Here, at least, the desert could indeed be made to bloom like the rose. Here all the Arab refugees from Palestine could be absorbed. Here the standard of living could be made to rise miraculously. With expert help, this could almost all be done with the $150,000,000 which will soon be Iraq's annual share of its oil revenue.

Here, indeed, the need to promote and control change, in such areas as these where change is inevitable, could, theoretically, be triumphantly met. And yet, with a corrupt and irresponsible ruling class, the established power system in decay, a violent xenophobia, an obsession about Israel, and the odd sort of death which seems to exist everywhere in the Arab states, "What can you do?"

The question is not easily answerable. As a practical matter, it seems a reasonable guess that Iran will go first, then the rest of the Middle East, and then the rest of us, including the unfortunate Russians. But at least it is past time for the British and Americans to consider a really serious attempt to avert this fatal succession of events. For if the Middle East goes the way of China, this will surely mean a third world war, which will destroy civilization as we have known it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

How To Choose A President

Whether the framers of the Constitution were sound in providing for a presidential election every four years is a quarrelsome question. Perhaps the British parliamentary system is superior, but we have ours and we are used to our own. In these days, at any rate, our troubles start at three-year intervals, which seems to be too close. Then we are plagued by the strivings of citizens to put themselves into position for nomination and by an administration which assumes an awkward shyness on important public issues. This relates not only to those in Washington today, but it seems as though it was ever thus.

It is sometimes difficult to select a candidate, for those who are presented are so often equally suitable or equally objectionable. When we speak of the people choosing those who are to govern them, we really mean that their choice is limited to those presented by the political parties. We have to take what we get.

Aristotle, whose "Politics," though written more than 2,000 year ago, still dominates our thinking, gave us a guide to the subject:

"There are three qualifications required in those who have to fill the highest offices—(1) first of all, loyalty to the established constitution; (2) the greatest administrative capacity; (3) virtue and justice of the kind proper to each form of government; for, if what is just is not the same in all governments, the quality of justice must also differ . . ."

Naturally, these qualities, loyalty, administrative capacity, virtue and justice do not always exist in one individual. Aristotle asks this question about that:

". . . Suppose, for example, a good general is a bad man and not a friend to the constitution, and another man is loyal and just, which should we choose? . . ."

When the people choose badly, they get a bad government. We, in America often forget that Hitler was elected by the German people, and he certainly, at no time, upheld the German constitution. He made his own laws and governed by his will and even whim. Although it has become customary to regard Hitler as very wicked, he was not the only wicked man of his era chosen by the people of a country. He did not throw the world into war alone. Even when he went into Poland in 1939, he had Stalin as a partner. The people have often chosen unwisely, sometimes because a man was a great orator, which represents a talent but not a virtue; sometimes for physical beauty or because of some sudden and ephemeral popularity. None of these qualities or conditions have anything to do with Aristotle's yardsticks.

Aristotle makes this point:

". . . Thus in the choice of a general, we should regard his skill rather than his virtue; for few have military skill, but many have virtue. In any office or trust or stewardship, on the other hand, the opposite rule should be observed; for more virture than ordinary is required in the holder of such an office, but the necessary knowledge is of a sort which all men possess."

The Greeks must have been more knowing than we are, for we are not too rich in men who possess the "necessary knowledge," as we have been experiencing lo! these many years. However, when men lack both virtue and the necessary knowledge, a nation is indeed in difficulties. That we know today beyond doubt.

This ancient must have been an exceedingly practical and hard-headed philosopher and how wonderful it would be for us if we had him to advise us today. He sums up this discussion in this paragraph:

"It may, however, be asked what a man wants with virtue if he have political ability and is loyal, since these two qualities alone will make him do what is for the public interest. But may not men have both of them and yet be deficient in self-control? If, knowing and loving their own interests, they do not always attend to them, may they not be equally negligent of the interests of the public?"

Need more be said on this subject? If we applied Aristotle's yardsticks to public service and added the factor of "self-control," we should be able to get a president suitable for these troubled times.

It is not a question altogether or partisanship. From this standpoint, if the Democrats nominated, for instance, a man like Senator Paul Douglas and the Republicans, Senator Robert A. Taft, the Aristotelian yardsticks would fit the candidates and the people could choose without a sense of futility.

Square Key Anniversary

Phi Beta Kappa, oldest of U. S. Greek Letter organizations—and only several months younger than the Declaration of Independence—was founded by five students of William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va., on December 5, 1776, and its 175th anniversary will be observed Wednesday. The scene of the founding, the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern, has been restored and is a sort of national shrine for the society.

With 141 active chapters and a membership of about 155,000, Phi Beta Kappa no longer is a fraternity in the strict or secret sense of the word, but is rather a national honor society for liberal arts and science universities and colleges. Its three Greek letters stand for a motto generally translated as "Love of Wisdom (or Philosophy), the helmsman of life." Irreverent souls are apt to say that its motto should be, "I Was Smart."

Phi Beta Kappa's square key is patterned after a type once used to wind watches. The Latin motto on the seal of the Society is: Per aspera ad astra: literally, "To the stars by hard ways."

Phi Beta Kappa originally had the familiar trappings of a social fraternity, including secret ritual, a badge, a seal, a code of laws, initiation ceremonies, a grip. The founders appear to have been keenly interested in literary composition and debate. They discoursed on such matters as, "The Cause and Origin of Society," and "Whether Theatrical Exhibitions are advantageous to States or ye Contrary." Members were fined 10 shillings for attending meetings while drunk.

Phi Beta Kappa was not the first secret society on the William and Mary campus. A predecessor was the Flat Hat Society, but Thomas Jefferson, a member, wrote of that organization that it served "no useful object."

The advent at Williamsburg of the British army of Cornwallis caused the disbanding of the William and Mary chapter of the fraternity. In its first four years of existence it had held 67 meetings and initiated 50 members. It had also granted charters for new "branches" at Harvard and Yale. Some chapters still use the "pink and sky blue" colors of ribbons found on old documents of the Harvard chapter.

Agitation at Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale in the 1820's over the anti-Masonic movement led the Harvard chapter to abandon secrecy in 1831. For many years other chapters formally maintained the secret trappings.

Women were first taken into the society by the Vermont chapter in 1875. When the society was reorganized in its first National Council of United Chapters in 1883, it had grown to 25 chapters and 14,000 members.

Phi Beta Kappa was restored at William and Mary in 1851, but died out as a result of the Civil War. A second restoration took place in 1893.

Host campus for the 175th anniversary ceremonies, William and Mary this year has also been the scene of a major athletic scandal. The president of the college and the head football coach resigned, and college authorities admitted that grades of athletes had been falsified. When the trustees named a new president, Rear Admiral Alvin Duke Chandler, without consulting the faculty, the dean resigned in protest. The situation was hardly one testifying to "Love of Wisdom."

Billions Of Stars

How many stars are there in the night sky. A thousand? A million? A billion? A billion billion?

Since the beginning of his sojourn on earth, man has marveled at the sky on clear nights and wondered just how many stars there might be in the heavens.

One of the interesting products of the National Geographic Society-Palomar Observatory Sky Survey now under way in Southern California will be a closer approximation of the number of shining heavenly bodies which populate the visible universe.

The survey, through the magic of the 48-inch "Big Schmidt" telescope, will number the stars and systems of stars out to a distance of 350,000,000 light years. Glimpses of even more distant stellar systems can be seen beyond the limits of the 48-inch Schmidt through the 200-inch Hale telescope also on Palomar Mountain.

Although the survey will not be finished until 1953 or 1954, Dr. Albert G. Wilson, who is in charge of the observational program, already has intimations of the size of the universe as it can be photographed through the Big Schmidt. Our own Milky Way galaxy, of which the earth is a tiny part and no star at all, is composed of between 200 billion and 300 billion stars. The sun is one of those stars, medium size.

"It's easy to remember how many stars are in the Milky Way," Wilson says with a broad smile. "There are just about as many as there are dollars in the national debt."

Out beyond the Milky Way are many millions of star systems called extra-galactic nebulae. They move through the heavens to the observational limits of the greatest telescopes. Beyond that limit they could go on forever, astronomers say.

There may be well over a billion such systems, some of them as big or bigger than the Milky Way system with its many billions of suns. The final figure on how many, if it could be computed, would be so large as to be meaningless.

One way to visualize the number, however, is to think of every grain of sand on every beach in the world. All the grains together will not equal the number of suns in the heavens!

Most of these stars and star systems, providing they were shining and within range as recently as 350,000,000 years ago, will be captured as points of light or nebulosities on the 2,000 photographic plates of the Sky Survey. Astronomers will be kept busy deciphering the plates for a hundred years.

Vital Facilities

Any emergency in the Lincoln or Holland tunnels of more than a few minutes' duration brings near-paralysis to much of the motor traffic in the metropolitan area of New York City.

A truck fire blocked the New York-bound south tube of the Holland Tunnel for three hours the other day. Even though the north tube was switched to two-way traffic and many vehicles were diverted to the Lincoln Tunnel, cars and trucks were backed up bumper to bumper to New Jersey for many miles.

It was a terrifying spectacle, for it demonstrated how easily a few atomic bombs dropped in the right places could tie up the most strategic part of the United States. It demonstrated, too, why civilian defense authorities have abandoned plans for wholesale evacuation of civilian populations in the event of enemy attack.

Ulcer In Children

Children can develop peptic ulcer and gall bladder trouble. This information is not new but who would ever think of X-raying an infant's intestinal tract? However, since physicians began to take more X-rays they have discovered that these conditions are not as rare as we thought.

Peptic ulcer in childhood is not as prevalent as in adulthood. The manifestations also differ and the same can be said of the cause. Approximately 40 per cent of childhood cases have been observed in tots under 1 year of age and we hardy can blame the stress and strain of modern living, overwork, dietary indiscretions, tobacco, or alcohol. Apparently these little ones come into the world with a weakness along this line. Toxins play a role because peptic ulcer has been known to follow extensive third degree skin burns in children.

One of the cases reported by Doctors James B. Gillespie and Helen E. Bliss in the Archives of Pediatrics is typical of what these youngsters go thru. A 4 year old girl began to under 1 year of age and we hardly infancy, consisting chiefly of periodic attacks of vomiting with fever but no apparent pain. At 19 months she suffered a siege of severe vomiting and diarrhea which lasted approximately a month. As time went by these episodes recurred periodically, lasted several days, and then disappeared. Ultimately she developed abdominal distress and on many occasions awakened at night with pain. Now and then she complained of tummyache before meals. Baking soda gave relief but milk or other foods were not effective as with adults. Meat, crackers, and other rough or dry nutrients were not tolerated.

Finally it became obvious that the child was losing ground. When seen by the physicians she was pale, malnourished, and weighed only 27½ pounds. Ulcer was discovered after X-raying the stomach. The Sippy diet was prescribed and within a short time there were signs of improvement; she seemed to thrive on milk and cream along with bland food. According to her parents, this was the first time in their recollection that she did not complain of abdominal discomfort.

The experience of this youngster probably has been duplicated many times over. Ulcer is overlooked because X-rays are not being done. Should the condition occur in infancy there may be no signs or symptoms until the ulcer ruptures and peritonitis sets in. In others, bleeding from the stomach is the first clew; when hemorrhage is concealed the child may collapse before it is discovered. Still others, like little Mary, have vague symptoms of dyspepsia and vomiting, loose stools, and indefinite abdominal discomfort. Pylorospasm, colic, and many other disorders are blamed and because X-rays are not taken the true cause escapes detection.

The antacids and diet are the most important considerations. Blood transfusions may be necessary when hemorrhage is severe. Should the lesion rupture or obstruction occur the physician has no alternative but to recommend immediate operation to save the life of the little tike.

TOMORROW: Bleeding from polyps and other rectal lesions.

U. S. Production Faces Serious Crisis; Many Factories Must Go On War Basis Or Shut Down; Portland Papers Criticize Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON—Behind Defense Mobilizer Wilson's sudden trip to Key West was not only lagging production but the possibility that most major civilian manufacturing, such as automobiles, may have to close down in 1952.

For the inside fact is that the government might have to go on an all-out war footing, with the manufacture of autos, refrigerators, TV set, etc., banned entirely.

The choice of planes vs. autos was laid down by Manly Fleischmann, the nation's forthright production chief, at a recent secret meeting of defense agency heads.

"If the production of consumer durable goods is reduced more than an additional 10 per cent, it will be necessary to convert entirely to defense," he warned bluntly. This would mean "abandonment of the basic concept of maintaining a substantial level of production of consumer durables while at the same time meeting the needs of the defense mobilization program," Fleischmann added.

The production crisis has been caused by shortages and strikes at home, plus stepped up military shipments to Europe. The unfortunate fact is that military production is lagging dangerously behind procurement schedules. For example, the manufacture of jet planes is nine months behind schedule. Yet the Air Force right now has had to revise its earlier schedule drastically upward because of losses over Korea and improvements in Russian planes.

Fleischmann argued that the manufacturers of automobiles, refrigerators, television sets and other consumer durables, "on the average, have already reduced to 60 per cent of their 1950 rates of production."

"Consumer durables cannot be reduced more than an additional 10 per cent and still produce at a profit," he warned mobilization officials at the closed-door meeting.

10 Per Cent No Solution

Fleischmann hinted, however, that a 10 per cent cut would not solve the problem of material shortages.

"Further cuts in the production of consumer durables," he shrugged, "will not release substantial quantities of controlled materials, such as structural steel and brass mill products."

Fleischmann's problem is allocating scarce materials such as copper and aluminum, to meet both civilian and military needs. He made no bones about this being a tough assignment for the first quarter of 1952.

"The growing demands of the defense production program will probably result in allocations satisfactory to no one," he predicted gloomily.

Arthur Smithies, economist for Mobilizer Charlie Wilson, asked whether manufacturers were hoarding scarce materials. Fleischmann explained that his controls program "works on a production and not a plant basis," which makes it difficult to check.

Looking at the immediate future, Fleischmann admitted that prospects for an "increase in the supply of controlled materials are not bright. Shortage of electrical power in the Northwest has curtailed the production of aluminum. The problem of financing additional aluminum capacity has not yet been solved. There appears to be no new solution of the copper shortage."

These are the reasons, complicated by strikes in defense industries, why military production is lagging. It means President Truman must choose bteween guns and egg beaters—on the eve of a Presidential election.

NOTE—Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson's plan has been to keep the nation's factories producing civilian goods, and increase defense production by expanding and building new plants. The only trouble has been that this has been too slow to keep up with the Defense Department's needs.

E. C., Washington, D. C.—My brief reference to Gen. MacArthur's failure to speak to hospitalized veterans at Portland, Ore., was mild compared to the comments of Portland newspapers and the Portland chairman of the MacArthur welcoming committee, a Republican. The Oregonian, a GOP newspaper, commented: "The one speech Gen. MacArthur was expected to make in Portland . . . left some 500 patients of the veterans hospital bewildered and disappointed. Ambulatory patients awaited the event from the doors of the big hospital. Other patients crowded hospital windows expecting to hear a speech from the hospital's public address system. The hundreds of patients who could not see the dramatic arrival waited patiently with bedside earphones.

"The caravan arrived. MacArthur alighted, saw the cheering patients, some in wheel chairs, with nurse attendants. He shook hands. Flash bulbs lighted the scene . . . Photographers arranged the general, Mrs. MacArthur, Governor Douglas McKay, Mayor Dorothy McCullough Lee and dozens of others into pictorial poses . . . Two generals and two colonels who became Japanese prisoners on Bataan held brief reunion with their old commander as shutters snapped."

Then the MacArthur party retired. "The big hospital buildings," concluded the Oregonian, "where the patients watched behind closed windows and the bedridden neither saw nor heard the 'old soldier' or his voice, were silent."

Later the Portland Journal, an anti-Truman Democratic paper, quoted E. C. Sammons, GOP chairman of the MacArthur welcoming committee as having telephoned Gen. Courtney Whitney, to deny Whitney's assertion that Mac Arthur did not know he was supposed to address the hospitalized veterans over the loudspeaker.

"On at least three occasions at the hospital the general had been advised he was expected to speak over the loudspeaker and into the radio microphones which had been set up," the Journal quoted Sammons as saying.

"The original idea of the general to speak at the hospital developed in a telephone conversation between Sammons and Whitney," the Journal stated. "MacArthur had specifically asked that the parade go 'past a veterans hospital if you have one.'

"Sammons (talking to Gen. Whitney over the phone) said: 'There was not a single reason why MacArthur should not have spoken. As one old soldier to another, he could have told the boys of his thanks for what they had done.'"

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—There are plenty of Communist partisans or sympathizers inside the federal government and also inside state, county and municipal governments—and they keep on drawing government pay out of tax money.

This startling fact emerges from a reading of the report issued as a government document by Senator Humphrey, Democrat, of Minnesota. While the senator, who is chairman of a subcommittee on labor, intends to conduct a further investigation of Communist-controlled labor unions, he gives the document containing the CIO's own report his approval, pointing out that it spells out "how Communist unionism functions as a system of power."

The report itself represents the result of a comprehensive inquiry made by the CIO's executive board members into the operations of eight large labor unions of their group now found to be Communist dominated and recommended for expulsion from the CIO.

The material in the report, though made by a non-governmental body, becomes privileged under the rules of Congress which reprints it. This is an example of how valuable congressional immunity is in dealing with individuals who do not hesitate to resort to libel suits and litigation when challenging charges made outside the halls of Congress.

Not On Subversive List

The puzzling thing about the facts recited in the report is that with such Communist activity going on in so many big unions, especially the United Public Workers which includes many government employes, all these organizations have never been put on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

The report states flatly, for instance, that the "policies and activities of the United Public Workers have been in the past and are today directed toward the achievement of the program and the purposes of the Communist party rather than the objectives set forth in the constitution of the CIO."

In the face of this explicit finding, another statement in the report also becomes pertinent. For, in the officers' report to the 1948 convention of the United Public Workers, the distribution of members of civil service status is given. The CIO executive committee, which conducted the inquiry, sums up the data as follows:

"This distribution shows that 11 per cent of the total union membership had federal civil service status, 64 per cent of the membership had state, county, municipal civil service status, and the remaining 25 per cent of the membership, comprising members working for private employers, according to the report, had no civil service status."

It is stated by the CIO that the federal section of the membership has been dropping and "may now well be below 11 per cent" and that probably many individual members "are fooled" and are innocent of the purposes of the union. But one wonders how any such federal employes can continue to get their pay at all in view of provisions in the appropriation laws which forbid payments to any government employe who is a member of a subversive organization.

It will be noted that Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin had nothing to do with all this and that the report is sponsored in Congress by Senator Humphrey. The only propinquity involved seems to be that Minnesota is geographically close to Wisconsin but there is a strange coincidence of objective—to get rid of Communists as a system of power in America.

Expulsion Recommended

The CIO executive committee members who conducted the inquiry took testimony and offered opportunities for the accused to make statements of their own. The names of the eight unions found to be Communist controlled and now recommended for expulsion from the CIO by its own board are:

1. United Office and Professional Workers of America.
2. United Public Workers of America.
3. Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers of America.
4. American Communications Association.
5. International Fur and Leather Workers' Union.
6. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.
7. International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.
8. National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards.

It will be noted how wide and varied are the Communist conspiracies inside trade unions.

Change And Decay

—BAGDAD

Here, where civilization was born, it is quite easy to see how civilization may die. For here it is possible to watch painlessly, as through dark glasses, all the forces at work which are causing the Middle East to go the way of China.

First, of course, there is the progressive decay of the British technique of exercising power. In essence, this technique has been to create a small ruling class of rich, venal, or ambitious men, dependent on British support, and then to exercise power through these men. Iraq is interesting, as some well preserved fossil might be interesting, because this tried but no longer true technique continues rather shakily to function. But no one really believes that this system, which has collapsed already in Iran and Egypt, will work for very much longer.

The erosion of British power is accompanied by a universal and totally irrational hatred of the British. This reporter was conducted by one of the most intelligent Arabs he has met, through the stinking slums of Bagdad, where people live in mud huts, in company with their livestock and an occasional poisonous reptile, in the shadow of the palace grounds. This man was wholly convinced that the surrounding degradation (which has existed from time immemorial) was exclusively the fault of the British.

Learned Belated Lesson

In this atmosphere of unreason, Iraq, like Iran, is quite likely to cut off its own nose — its oil revenues — to spite the British face. The same men who somewhat unbrilliantly managed the fortunes of Iran's Anglo-Iranian Oil Company have been managing the almost equally vital Iraq Petroleum Company. They long ago adopted the policy of keeping the Iraq oil fields a largely untapped reserve, which not unnaturally enraged the Iraqueans, whose oil revenues have been a mere trickle.

Having learned a belated lesson in Iran, the British oil managers have now offered a reasonably generous contract to Iraq. Iraq Premier Nuri Said, an aging monument to the British technique of power, has accepted the new agreement. It is expected to pass through Parliament, to the accompaniment of Communist-organized street riots. But sooner or later, in the universal opinion here, some ambitious politician will seize the torch from Mossadegh's trembling hands, and the days of the Iraq Petroleum Company will be numbered.

As the Iranian oil crisis has its pale counterpart here, so does the Egyptian crisis. The British have, by treaty, the right to station certain troops in Iraq. Actually, they have only a corporal's guard, mostly Royal Air Force men. Although less vital than the Suez base, the British installation in Iraq would be an important forward defense and staging area in case of war. Without them there could be no defense of Iraq. But the anti-British regime which will sooner or later be installed here will undoubtedly follow Egypt's lead and abrogate the treaty with Britain.

U. S. Policy Paralyzed

Here, as everywhere in the Middle East, there is mass misery. And here there is also the fear and hatred of Israel found in every Arab state. Partly because the United States is credited with responsibility for creating Israel, partly because to seem to challenge our British ally would be disastrous, and partly through sheer inertia, American policy in Iraq, as elsewhere in the Middle East, is paralyzed. Even the ablest Americans in this area tend to become resigned to disaster. They ask, reasonably enough, "But what can you do?" Only the engineers, pouring over their maps, their eyes gleaming as they point to the natural waterbasins and watersheds which surround this parched land, retain something of their native optimism. And this is the last twist of the knife. For so much could be done, so easily, and even so cheaply.

Here, at least, the desert could indeed be made to bloom like the rose. Here all the Arab refugees from Palestine could be absorbed. Here the standard of living could be made to rise miraculously. With expert help, this could almost all be done with the $150,000,000 which will soon be Iraq's annual share of its oil revenue.

Here, indeed, the need to promote and control change, in such areas as these where change is inevitable, could, theoretically, be triumphantly met. And yet, with a corrupt and irresponsible ruling class, the established power system in decay, a violent xenophobia, an obsession about Israel, and the odd sort of death which seems to exist everywhere in the Arab states, "What can you do?"

The question is not easily answerable. As a practical matter, it seems a reasonable guess that Iran will go first, then the rest of the Middle East, and then the rest of us, including the unfortunate Russians. But at least it is past time for the British and Americans to consider a really serious attempt to avert this fatal succession of events. For if the Middle East goes the way of China, this will surely mean a third world war, which will destroy civilization as we have known it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

How To Choose A President

Whether the framers of the Constitution were sound in providing for a presidential election every four years is a quarrelsome question. Perhaps the British parliamentary system is superior, but we have ours and we are used to our own. In these days, at any rate, our troubles start at three-year intervals, which seems to be too close. Then we are plagued by the strivings of citizens to put themselves into position for nomination and by an administration which assumes an awkward shyness on important public issues. This relates not only to those in Washington today, but it seems as though it was ever thus.

It is sometimes difficult to select a candidate, for those who are presented are so often equally suitable or equally objectionable. When we speak of the people choosing those who are to govern them, we really mean that their choice is limited to those presented by the political parties. We have to take what we get.

Aristotle, whose "Politics," though written more than 2,000 year ago, still dominates our thinking, gave us a guide to the subject:

"There are three qualifications required in those who have to fill the highest offices—(1) first of all, loyalty to the established constitution; (2) the greatest administrative capacity; (3) virtue and justice of the kind proper to each form of government; for, if what is just is not the same in all governments, the quality of justice must also differ . . . "

Naturally, these qualities, loyalty, administrative capacity, virtue and justice do not always exist in one individual. Aristotle asks this question about that:

". . . Suppose, for example, a good general is a bad man and not a friend to the constitution, and another man is loyal and just, which should we choose? . . ."

When the people choose badly, they get a bad government. We, in America often forget that Hitler was elected by the German people, and he certainly, at no time, upheld the German constitution. He made his own laws and governed by his will and even whim. Although it has become customary to regard Hitler as very wicked, he was not the only wicked man of his era chosen by the people of a country. He did not throw the world into war alone. Even when he went into Poland in 1939, he had Stalin as a partner. The people have often chosen unwisely, sometimes because a man was a great orator, which represents a talent but not a virtue; sometimes for physical beauty or because of some sudden and ephemeral popularity. None of these qualities or conditions have anything to do with Aristotle's yardsticks.

Aristotle makes this point:

". . . Thus in the choice of a general, we should regard his skill rather than his virtue; for few have military skill, but many have virtue. In any office or trust or stewardship, on the other hand, the opposite rule should be observed; for more virture than ordinary is required in the holder of such an office, but the necessary knowledge is of a sort which all men possess."

The Greeks must have been more knowing than we are, for we are not too rich in men who possess the "necessary knowledge," as we have been experiencing lo! these many years. However, when men lack both virtue and the necessary knowledge, a nation is indeed in difficulties. That we know today beyond doubt.

This ancient must have been an exceedingly practical and hard-headed philosopher and how wonderful it would be for us if we had him to advise us today. He sums up this discussion in this paragraph:

"It may, however, be asked what a man wants with virtue if he have political ability and is loyal, since these two qualities alone will make him do what is for the public interest. But may not men have both of them and yet be deficient in self-control? If, knowing and loving their own interests, they do not always attend to them, may they not be equally negligent of the interests of the public?"

Need more be said on this subject? If we applied Aristotle's yardsticks to public service and added the factor of "self-control," we should be able to get a president suitable for these troubled times.

It is not a question altogether or partisanship. From this standpoint, if the Democrats nominated, for instance, a man like Senator Paul Douglas and the Republicans, Senator Robert A. Taft, the Aristotelian yardsticks would fit the candidates and the people could choose without a sense of futility.

Square Key Anniversary

Phi Beta Kappa, oldest of U. S. Greek Letter organizations—and only several months younger than the Declaration of Independence—was founded by five students of William and Mary College in Williamsburg, Va., on December 5, 1776, and its 175th anniversary will be observed Wednesday. The scene of the founding, the Apollo Room of the Raleigh Tavern, has been restored and is a sort of national shrine for the society.

With 141 active chapters and a membership of about 155,000, Phi Beta Kappa no longer is a fraternity in the strict or secret sense of the word, but is rather a national honor society for liberal arts and science universities and colleges. Its three Greek letters stand for a motto generally translated as "Love of Wisdom (or Philosophy), the helmsman of life." Irreverent souls are apt to say that its motto should be, "I Was Smart."

Phi Beta Kappa's square key is patterned after a type once used to wind watches. The Latin motto on the seal of the Society is: Per aspera ad astra: literally, "To the stars by hard ways."

Phi Beta Kappa originally had the familiar trappings of a social fraternity, including secret ritual, a badge, a seal, a code of laws, initiation ceremonies, a grip. The founders appear to have been keenly interested in literary composition and debate. They discoursed on such matters as, "The Cause and Origin of Society," and "Whether Theatrical Exhibitions are advantageous to States or ye Contrary." Members were fined 10 shillings for attending meetings while drunk.

Phi Beta Kappa was not the first secret society on the William and Mary campus. A predecessor was the Flat Hat Society, but Thomas Jefferson, a member, wrote of that organization that it served "no useful object."

The advent at Williamsburg of the British army of Cornwallis caused the disbanding of the William and Mary chapter of the fraternity. In its first four years of existence it had held 67 meetings and initiated 50 members. It had also granted charters for new "branches" at Harvard and Yale. Some chapters still use the "pink and sky blue" colors of ribbons found on old documents of the Harvard chapter.

Agitation at Dartmouth, Harvard, and Yale in the 1820's over the anti-Masonic movement led the Harvard chapter to abandon secrecy in 1831. For many years other chapters formally maintained the secret trappings.

Women were first taken into the society by the Vermont chapter in 1875. When the society was reorganized in its first National Council of United Chapters in 1883, it had grown to 25 chapters and 14,000 members.

Phi Beta Kappa was restored at William and Mary in 1851, but died out as a result of the Civil War. A second restoration took place in 1893.

Host campus for the 175th anniversary ceremonies, William and Mary this year has also been the scene of a major athletic scandal. The president of the college and the head football coach resigned, and college authorities admitted that grades of athletes had been falsified. When the trustees named a new president, Rear Admiral Alvin Duke Chandler, without consulting the faculty, the dean resigned in protest. The situation was hardly one testifying to "Love of Wisdom."

Billions Of Stars

How many stars are there in the night sky. A thousand? A million? A billion? A billion billion?

Since the beginning of his sojourn on earth, man has marveled at the sky on clear nights and wondered just how many stars there might be in the heavens.

One of the interesting products of the National Geographic Society-Palomar Observatory Sky Survey now under way in Southern California will be a closer approximation of the number of shining heavenly bodies which populate the visible universe.

The survey, through the magic of the 48-inch "Big Schmidt" telescope, will number the stars and systems of stars out to a distance of 350,000,000 light years. Glimpses of even more distant stellar systems can be seen beyond the limits of the 48-inch Schmidt through the 200-inch Hale telescope also on Palomar Mountain.

Although the survey will not be finished until 1953 or 1954, Dr. Albert G. Wilson, who is in charge of the observational program, already has intimations of the size of the universe as it can be photographed through the Big Schmidt. Our own Milky Way galaxy, of which the earth is a tiny part and no star at all, is composed of between 200 billion and 300 billion stars. The sun is one of those stars, medium size.

"It's easy to remember how many stars are in the Milky Way," Wilson says with a broad smile. "There are just about as many as there are dollars in the national debt."

Out beyond the Milky Way are many millions of star systems called extra-galactic nebulae. They move through the heavens to the observational limits of the greatest telescopes. Beyond that limit they could go on forever, astronomers say.

There may be well over a billion such systems, some of them as big or bigger than the Milky Way system with its many billions of suns. The final figure on how many, if it could be computed, would be so large as to be meaningless.

One way to visualize the number, however, is to think of every grain of sand on every beach in the world. All the grains together will not equal the number of suns in the heavens!

Most of these stars and star systems, providing they were shining and within range as recently as 350,000,000 years ago, will be captured as points of light or nebulosities on the 2,000 photographic plates of the Sky Survey. Astronomers will be kept busy deciphering the plates for a hundred years.

Vital Facilities

Any emergency in the Lincoln or Holland tunnels of more than a few minutes' duration brings near-paralysis to much of the motor traffic in the metropolitan area of New York City.

A truck fire blocked the New York-bound south tube of the Holland Tunnel for three hours the other day. Even though the north tube was switched to two-way traffic and many vehicles were diverted to the Lincoln Tunnel, cars and trucks were backed up bumper to bumper to New Jersey for many miles.

It was a terrifying spectacle, for it demonstrated how easily a few atomic bombs dropped in the right places could tie up the most strategic part of the United States. It demonstrated, too, why civilian defense authorities have abandoned plans for wholesale evacuation of civilian populations in the event of enemy attack.

Ulcer In Children

Children can develop peptic ulcer and gall bladder trouble. This information is not new but who would ever think of X-raying an infant's intestinal tract? However, since physicians began to take more X-rays they have discovered that these conditions are not as rare as we thought.

Peptic ulcer in childhood is not as prevalent as in adulthood. The manifestations also differ and the same can be said of the cause. Approximately 40 per cent of childhood cases have been observed in tots under 1 year of age and we hardy can blame the stress and strain of modern living, overwork, dietary indiscretions, tobacco, or alcohol. Apparently these little ones come into the world with a weakness along this line. Toxins play a role because peptic ulcer has been known to follow extensive third degree skin burns in children.

One of the cases reported by Doctors James B. Gillespie and Helen E. Bliss in the Archives of Pediatrics is typical of what these youngsters go thru. A 4 year old girl began to under 1 year of age and we hardly infancy, consisting chiefly of periodic attacks of vomiting with fever but no apparent pain. At 19 months she suffered a siege of severe vomiting and diarrhea which lasted approximately a month. As time went by these episodes recurred periodically, lasted several days, and then disappeared. Ultimately she developed abdominal distress and on many occasions awakened at night with pain. Now and then she complained of tummyache before meals. Baking soda gave relief but milk or other foods were not effective as with adults. Meat, crackers, and other rough or dry nutrients were not tolerated.

Finally it became obvious that the child was losing ground. When seen by the physicians she was pale, malnourished, and weighed only 27½ pounds. Ulcer was discovered after X-raying the stomach. The Sippy diet was prescribed and within a short time there were signs of improvement; she seemed to thrive on milk and cream along with bland food. According to her parents, this was the first time in their recollection that she did not complain of abdominal discomfort.

The experience of this youngster probably has been duplicated many times over. Ulcer is overlooked because X-rays are not being done. Should the condition occur in infancy there may be no signs or symptoms until the ulcer ruptures and peritonitis sets in. In others, bleeding from the stomach is the first clew; when hemorrhage is concealed the child may collapse before it is discovered. Still others, like little Mary, have vague symptoms of dyspepsia and vomiting, loose stools, and indefinite abdominal discomfort. Pylorospasm, colic, and many other disorders are blamed and because X-rays are not taken the true cause escapes detection.

The antacids and diet are the most important considerations. Blood transfusions may be necessary when hemorrhage is severe. Should the lesion rupture or obstruction occur the physician has no alternative but to recommend immediate operation to save the life of the little tike.

TOMORROW: Bleeding from polyps and other rectal lesions.

PAGET'S DISEASE

M. T. writes: What is the name of the disease where the man has to keep on buying larger and larger hats?

REPLY

You probably refer to Paget's disease of the bone, or oseitis deformans. In this disorder, enlargement of the skull and bowing of the leg bones are the chief manifestations. Send a stamped, self-addressed envelope for leaflet on Paget's disease.

ALBUMINURA

V. G. writes: Does albumin in the urine call for a diet?

REPLY

This depends upon the cause. Diet is indicated when albumin is caused by nephrosis of the kidneys but when it stems from changes occurring as a result of posture the condition would not be affected by what is eaten. So the cause must be found before treatment can be discussed.

DIABETES INSIPIDUS

L. R. writes: Does diabetes insipidus come and go? Something must have happened in my case because, after 49 years, I don't have to drink as much water as formerly. However, I still urinate every two hours.

REPLY

To my knowledge, spontaneous improvement does not occur but there are exceptions to all the rules of medicine.

ENLARGED LIVER

M. L. writes: Are medicines of any kind prescribed for enlargement of the liver?

REPLY

Yes, depending upon the cause of the enlargement. When cirrhosis is responsible, vitamin B, choline, and inositol are of value. If the organ is dropsical on account of heart disease, digitalis may be effective along with one of the mercury drugs that encourages the elimination of fluid.

The Tide Starts Coming In

DREW PEARSON on

The Washington Merry-Go-Round

U. S. Production Faces Serious Crisis; Many Factories Must Go On War Basis Or Shut Down; Portland Papers Criticize Gen. MacArthur

WASHINGTON—Behind Defense Mobilizer Wilson's sudden trip to Key West was not only lagging production but the possibility that most major civilian manufacturing, such as automobiles, may have to close down in 1952.

For the inside fact is that the government might have to go on an all-out war footing, with the manufacture of autos, refrigerators, TV set, etc., banned entirely.

The choice of planes vs. autos was laid down by Manly Fleischmann, the nation's forthright production chief, at a recent secret meeting of defense agency heads.

"If the production of consumer durable goods is reduced more than an additional 10 per cent, it will be necessary to convert entirely to defense," he warned bluntly. This would mean "abandonment of the basic concept of maintaining a substantial level of production of consumer durables while at the same time meeting the needs of the defense mobilization program," Fleischmann added.

The production crisis has been caused by shortages and strikes at home, plus stepped up military shipments to Europe. The unfortunate fact is that military production is lagging dangerously behind procurement schedules. For example, the manufacture of jet planes is nine months behind schedule. Yet the Air Force right now has had to revise its earlier schedule drastically upward because of losses over Korea and improvements in Russian planes.

Fleischmann argued that the manufacturers of automobiles, refrigerators, television sets and other consumer durables, "on the average, have already reduced to 60 per cent of their 1950 rates of production."

"Consumer durables cannot be reduced more than an additional 10 per cent and still produce at a profit," he warned mobilization officials at the closed-door meeting.

10 Per Cent No Solution

Fleischmann hinted, however, that a 10 per cent cut would not solve the problem of material shortages.

"Further cuts in the production of consumer durables," he shrugged, "will not release substantial quantities of controlled materials, such as structural steel and brass mill products."

Fleischmann's problem is allocating scarce materials such as copper and aluminum, to meet both civilian and military needs. He made no bones about this being a tough assignment for the first quarter of 1952.

"The growing demands of the defense production program will probably result in allocations satisfactory to no one," he predicted gloomily.

Arthur Smithies, economist for Mobilizer Charlie Wilson, asked whether manufacturers were hoarding scarce materials. Fleischmann explained that his controls program "works on a production and not a plant basis," which makes it difficult to check.

Looking at the immediate future, Fleischmann admitted that prospects for an "increase in the supply of controlled materials are not bright. Shortage of electrical power in the Northwest has curtailed the production of aluminum. The problem of financing additional aluminum capacity has not yet been solved. There appears to be no new solution of the copper shortage."

These are the reasons, complicated by strikes in defense industries, why military production is lagging. It means President Truman must choose bteween guns and egg beaters—on the eve of a Presidential election.

NOTE—Mobilization Boss Charlie Wilson's plan has been to keep the nation's factories producing civilian goods, and increase defense production by expanding and building new plants. The only trouble has been that this has been too slow to keep up with the Defense Department's needs.

Today In Washington

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON—There are plenty of Communist partisans or sympathizers inside the federal government and also inside state, county and municipal governments—and they keep on drawing government pay out of tax money.

This startling fact emerges from a reading of the report issued as a government document by Senator Humphrey, Democrat, of Minnesota. While the senator, who is chairman of a subcommittee on labor, intends to conduct a further investigation of Communist-controlled labor unions, he gives the document containing the CIO's own report his approval, pointing out that it spells out "how Communist unionism functions as a system of power."

The report itself represents the result of a comprehensive inquiry made by the CIO's executive board members into the operations of eight large labor unions of their group now found to be Communist dominated and recommended for expulsion from the CIO.

The material in the report, though made by a non-governmental body, becomes privileged under the rules of Congress which reprints it. This is an example of how valuable congressional immunity is in dealing with individuals who do not hesitate to resort to libel suits and litigation when challenging charges made outside the halls of Congress.

Not On Subversive List

The puzzling thing about the facts recited in the report is that with such Communist activity going on in so many big unions, especially the United Public Workers which includes many government employes, all these organizations have never been put on the attorney general's list of subversive organizations.

The report states flatly, for instance, that the "policies and activities of the United Public Workers have been in the past and are today directed toward the achievement of the program and the purposes of the Communist party rather than the objectives set forth in the constitution of the CIO."

In the face of this explicit finding, another statement in the report also becomes pertinent. For, in the officers' report to the 1948 convention of the United Public Workers, the distribution of members of civil service status is given. The CIO executive committee, which conducted the inquiry, sums up the data as follows:

"This distribution shows that 11 per cent of the total union membership had federal civil service status, 64 per cent of the membership had state, county, municipal civil service status, and the remaining 25 per cent of the membership, comprising members working for private employers, according to the report, had no civil service status."

It is stated by the CIO that the federal section of the membership has been dropping and "may now well be below 11 per cent" and that probably many individual members "are fooled" and are innocent of the purposes of the union. But one wonders how any such federal employes can continue to get their pay at all in view of provisions in the appropriation laws which forbid payments to any government employe who is a member of a subversive organization.

It will be noted that Senator McCarthy of Wisconsin had nothing to do with all this and that the report is sponsored in Congress by Senator Humphrey. The only propinquity involved seems to be that Minnesota is geographically close to Wisconsin but there is a strange coincidence of objective—to get rid of Communists as a system of power in America.

Expulsion Recommended

The CIO executive committee members who conducted the inquiry took testimony and offered opportunities for the accused to make statements of their own. The names of the eight unions found to be Communist controlled and now recommended for expulsion from the CIO by its own board are:

1. United Office and Professional Workers of America.
2. United Public Workers of America.
3. Food, Tobacco, Agricultural and Allied Workers of America.
4. American Communications Association.
5. International Fur and Leather Workers' Union.
6. International Longshoremen's and Warehousemen's Union.
7. International Union of Mine, Mill and Smelter Workers.
8. National Union of Marine Cooks and Stewards.

It will be noted how wide and varied are the Communist conspiracies inside trade unions.

Change And Decay

—BAGDAD

Here, where civilization was born, it is quite easy to see how civilization may die. For here it is possible to watch painlessly, as through dark glasses, all the forces at work which are causing the Middle East to go the way of China.

First, of course, there is the progressive decay of the British technique of exercising power. In essence, this technique has been to create a small ruling class of rich, venal, or ambitious men, dependent on British support, and then to exercise power through these men. Iraq is interesting, as some well preserved fossil might be interesting, because this tried but no longer true technique continues rather shakily to function. But no one really believes that this system, which has collapsed already in Iran and Egypt, will work for very much longer.

The erosion of British power is accompanied by a universal and totally irrational hatred of the British. This reporter was conducted by one of the most intelligent Arabs he has met, through the stinking slums of Bagdad, where people live in mud huts, in company with their livestock and an occasional poisonous reptile, in the shadow of the palace grounds. This man was wholly convinced that the surrounding degradation (which has existed from time immemorial) was exclusively the fault of the British.

Learned Belated Lesson

In this atmosphere of unreason, Iraq, like Iran, is quite likely to cut off its own nose — its oil revenues — to spite the British face. The same men who somewhat unbrilliantly managed the fortunes of Iran's Anglo-Iranian Oil Company have been managing the almost equally vital Iraq Petroleum Company. They long ago adopted the policy of keeping the Iraq oil fields a largely untapped reserve, which not unnaturally enraged the Iraqueans, whose oil revenues have been a mere trickle.

Having learned a belated lesson in Iran, the British oil managers have now offered a reasonably generous contract to Iraq. Iraq Premier Nuri Said, an aging monument to the British technique of power, has accepted the new agreement. It is expected to pass through Parliament, to the accompaniment of Communist-organized street riots. But sooner or later, in the universal opinion here, some ambitious politician will seize the torch from Mossadegh's trembling hands, and the days of the Iraq Petroleum Company will be numbered.

As the Iranian oil crisis has its pale counterpart here, so does the Egyptian crisis. The British have, by treaty, the right to station certain troops in Iraq. Actually, they have only a corporal's guard, mostly Royal Air Force men. Although less vital than the Suez base, the British installation in Iraq would be an important forward defense and staging area in case of war. Without them there could be no defense of Iraq. But the anti-British regime which will sooner or later be installed here will undoubtedly follow Egypt's lead and abrogate the treaty with Britain.

U. S. Policy Paralyzed

Here, as everywhere in the Middle East, there is mass misery. And here there is also the fear and hatred of Israel found in every Arab state. Partly because the United States is credited with responsibility for creating Israel, partly because to seem to challenge our British ally would be disastrous, and partly through sheer inertia, American policy in Iraq, as elsewhere in the Middle East, is paralyzed. Even the ablest Americans in this area tend to become resigned to disaster. They ask, reasonably enough, "But what can you do?" Only the engineers, pouring over their maps, their eyes gleaming as they point to the natural waterbasins and watersheds which surround this parched land, retain something of their native optimism. And this is the last twist of the knife. For so much could be done, so easily, and even so cheaply.

Here, at least, the desert could indeed be made to bloom like the rose. Here all the Arab refugees from Palestine could be absorbed. Here the standard of living could be made to rise miraculously. With expert help, this could almost all be done with the $150,000,000 which will soon be Iraq's annual share of its oil revenue.

Here, indeed, the need to promote and control change, in such areas as these where change is inevitable, could, theoretically, be triumphantly met. And yet, with a corrupt and irresponsible ruling class, the established power system in decay, a violent xenophobia, an obsession about Israel, and the odd sort of death which seems to exist everywhere in the Arab states, "What can you do?"

The question is not easily answerable. As a practical matter, it seems a reasonable guess that Iran will go first, then the rest of the Middle East, and then the rest of us, including the unfortunate Russians. But at least it is past time for the British and Americans to consider a really serious attempt to avert this fatal succession of events. For if the Middle East goes the way of China, this will surely mean a third world war, which will destroy civilization as we have known it.

These Days

By GEORGE E. SOKOLSKY

How To Choose A President

Whether the framers of the Constitution were sound in providing for a presidential election every four years is a quarrelsome question. Perhaps the British parliamentary system is superior, but we have ours and we are used to our own. In these days, at any rate, our troubles start at three-year intervals, which seems to be too close. Then we are plagued by the strivings of citizens to put themselves into position for nomination and by an administration which assumes an awkward shyness on important public issues. This relates not only to those in Washington today, but it seems as though it was ever thus.

It is sometimes difficult to select a candidate, for those who are presented are so often equally suitable or equally objectionable. When we speak of the people choosing those who are to govern them, we really mean that their choice is limited to those presented by the political parties. We have to take what we get.

Aristotle, whose "Politics," though written more than 2,000 year ago, still dominates our thinking, gave us a guide to the subject:

"There are three qualifications required in those who have to fill the highest offices—(1) first of all, loyalty to the established constitution; (2) the greatest administrative capacity; (3) virtue and justice of the kind proper to each form of government; for, if what is just is not the same in all governments, the quality of justice must also differ . . ."

Naturally, these qualities, loyalty, administrative capacity, virtue and justice do not always exist in one individual. Aristotle asks this question about that:

". . . Suppose, for example, a good general is a bad man and not a friend to the constitution, and another man is loyal and just, which should we choose? . . ."

When the people choose badly, they get a bad government. We, in America often forget that Hitler was elected by the German people, and he certainly, at no time, upheld the German constitution. He made his own laws and governed by his will and even whim. Although it has become customary to regard Hitler as very wicked, he was not the only wicked man of his era chosen by the people of a country. He did not throw the world into war alone. Even when he went into Poland in 1939, he had Stalin as a partner. The people have often chosen unwisely, sometimes because a man was a great orator, which represents a talent but not a virtue; sometimes for physical beauty or because of some sudden and ephemeral popularity. None of these qualities or conditions have anything to do with Aristotle's yardsticks.

Aristotle makes this point:

". . . Thus in the choice of a general, we should regard his skill rather than his virtue; for few have military skill, but many have virtue. In any office or trust or stewardship, on the other hand, the opposite rule should be observed; for more virtue than ordinary is required in the holder of such an office, but the necessary knowledge is of a sort which all men possess."

The Greeks must have been more knowing than we are, for we are not too rich in men who possess the "necessary knowledge," as we have been experiencing lo! these many years. However, when men lack both virtue and the necessary knowledge, a nation is indeed in difficulties. That we know today beyond doubt.

This ancient must have been an exceedingly practical and hard-headed philosopher and how wonderful it would be for us if we had him to advise us today. He sums up this discussion in this paragraph:

"It may, however, be asked what a man wants with virtue if he have political ability and is loyal, since these two qualities alone will make him do what is for the public interest. But may not men have both of them and yet be deficient in self-control? If, knowing and loving their own interests, they do not always attend to them, may they not be equally negligent of the interests of the public?"

Need more be said on this subject? If we applied Aristotle's yardsticks to public service and added the factor of "self-control," we should be able to get a president suitable for these troubled times.

It is not a question altogether or partisanship. From this standpoint, if the Democrats nominated, for instance, a man like Senator Paul Douglas and the Republicans, Senator Robert A. Taft, the Aristotelian yardsticks would fit the candidates and the people could choose without a sense of futility.

Aza C. Stanton Dies Following Heart Attack

Oakland Man Former Grantsville Mayor

OAKLAND—Aza Claude Stanton, Sr., 61, International Harvester truck dealer here, died suddenly about 5 a. m. yesterday at his home north of here following a heart attack.

Formerly of Grantsville where he was engaged in business until 1940, he moved to Oakland and went into partnership with Maurice Brookhart to form the Garrett Truck and Impliment Company.

Former Mayor

A native of Grantsville, he was born January 15, 1890, a son of the late William T. and Annie Durst Stanton. Mr. Stanton served four consecutive terms as mayor of Grantsville and was a former member of the Board of School Trustees there for six years. He also was cashier of the former Grantsville First National Bank from 1921 to 1933. During 1933 to 1939 he was a member of the Resettlement Administration in the Grantsville area.

Baptized at the Grantsville Reformed Church, he was graduated from the University of Maryland in 1912 with a B. S. degree and received his master's degree at the University of Missouri in 1914. After teaching at Missouri for one year, he went to College Park to teach one year of dairy husbandry.

Army Veteran

Mr. Stanton volunteered for the armed forces November 21, 1917 and was promoted to sergeant April 10, 1918. He attended officer's training school at Camp George G. Meade, near Baltimore, and Camp Gordon, Ga. He was appointed a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry August, 1918.

Later he attended school at Camp Perry, Ohio, after which he was stationed with a recruiting depot at Camp Shelby, Miss. October 10, 1918. He was discharged from the Army December 2, 1918. He served with Company 1, 313th Army Infantry shortly after enlisting.

Mr. Stanton was a member of the Grantsville Lodge, Woodmen of the World, and after moving to Oakland, he served as post commander of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion. He was a former member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, and was active in civic affairs both in Oakland and Grantsville.

Services Tomorrow

Besides his wife, Mrs. Vadne Parmer Stanton, he is survived by one son, Aza C. Stanton, Jr., Oakland; four brothers, Dr. T. Ray Stanton, Hyattsville; and C. Earl, Hubert D. and Guy S. Stanton, all of Grantsville; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Smouse, Cumberland; and Mrs. Ethel S. Miller, Grantsville. Another brother, William Clay Stanton, was killed in the Meuse-Argonne drive in France during Warld War I.

A brief service will be held at the Bolden Funeral Home here tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The body will then be taken to the Grantsville Reformed Church for services at 3 p. m. Rev. Denver C. Pickens, pastor of the Oakland St. Paul's Methodist Church, will officiate, and interment will be in Grantsville Cemetery.

CHARLES NORRIS

Charles Norris, 72, of Barrelsville, died Sunday at Allegany Hospital where he had been a patient 20 days. The body is at the Kight Funeral Home.

A native of Sandy Hook, he was a son of the late Daniel and Bessie Easton Norris. He was a stone mason by trade.

Surviving are one daughter, Mrs. Mary Norris, Hagerstown; six sons, Alfred Norris, Somerset, Pa.; Elwood Norris, Cresaptown; Marshal and Donald Norris, Barrelsville; Jesse Norris, Pittsburgh; and Mitchell Norris, McAllister, Okla.; four sisters, Mrs. Daisy Hook, Mrs. Mary Diehl and Mrs. Emma Knieriem, all of Barrelsville; and Mrs. Jennie Smith, Mt. Savage; one brother Edward Norris, Barrelsville; and four grandchildren.

A funeral service will be held at the funeral home tomorrow at 2 p. m. with The Elder Charles Roby of The Church of Jesus Christ of Latter-Day Saints, Burial will be in Mt. Savage Methodist Cemetery.

CECIL C. TWIGG

Cecil Charles Twigg, 81, Valley Road, former tannery worker, died in Allegany Hospital yesterday morning.

A member of the Methodist Church, he is survived by three sons, George and John Twigg, both of this city; and Charles Twigg, Baltimore; two daughters, Mrs. Howard Hillegass and Mrs. Manuel Bobo, both of this city; 14 grandchildren and three great grandchildren.

Also surviving are two brothers, John and Gilbert Twigg, both of Hyndman, Pa.

The body will remain at the Hafer Funeral Home where services will be held Thursday at 2 p. m. with Rev. M. A. Keesecker, pastor of Kingsley Methodist Church, officiating. Interment will be in Zion Memorial Park.

GEORGE RITES

A requiem high mass for J. Theodore George, assistant superintendent of the City Water Department, who died Thursday at Allegany Hospital, was celebrated yesterday at SS. Peter and Paul Catholic Church with Rev. Father Agatha, O.F.M. Cap., as celebrant. Interment was in the church cemetery.

school superintendent, said the board had furnished 64 state-adopted spellers and 23 readers to St. Thomas School (enrollment: 70).

But, said Wolford, many more copies of the textbooks are lying around his office and therefore obviously are not needed in the public schools.

Catholic Pupils Ride Bus

Board members also pointed out that a school bus—used to transport one student from Davis to the colored school at Coketon, beyond Thomas—has been picking up several Catholic school students in Davis and taking them to Thomas.

They said the parochial students disembark at the Thomas City Building, a block from St. Thomas School. The board also said the bus had to stop in Thomas for gas anyway.

After the meeting, a spokesman for the Presbyterian Men's Brotherhood said:

"The question, like a football, has been kicked around in this county for many years. The sole purpose of the (petitions) was to have the question settled to the satisfaction of the residents of this county.

"The petitions were not given for any personal reasons."

Petitioners Listed

Petitioners appearing before the board were:

Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Parsons.

Rev. Paul Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Parsons.

Rev. W. A. O'Dell, pastor of First Methodist Church, Parsons.

Other petitioners were:

Rev. Robert L. Greynolds, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church.

Rev. Gordon Nestor, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Rev. Carl Nance, pastor of the Church of God.

Men's Brotherhood members attending were Robert O. Shrout, Robert Minear, Cecil M. Stalnaker, Hugh Shiflet and Ellis J. VonHaven.

Also present were Rev. Francis A. Spillar, pastor of St. Thomas Catholic Church, which operates the parochial school; A Smith Hockman, Thomas, former board member, and W. Del Roy Harner, Parsons attorney.

6500 Marylanders In CD Operation

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—More than 6,500 Marylanders were among the 100,000 Civilian Defense volunteers who took part Saturday in an aircraft spotting and reporting mission.

There were 165 observation posts manned in Maryland. The training operation covered the 13-state area of the Eastern Air Defense Force. Observers scanned the skies for hundreds of air force and civil air patrol craft.

Two Properties Sold

Two properties have been sold, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court. Carl D. Ziler and Bernice O. Ziler have sold property at 805 Mann's Terrace to Stanley Zorick and Alice F. Zorick for about $6,500. Wilbert P. Boone and Vera V. Boone sold property on the east side of Princeton Street to Julia P. Morgan for about $5,000.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Mary B. Wilson vs. Alfred W. Wilson.

Street Crews Work On Delayed Projects

The Street Department is trying to get a lot of odd jobs done before snow and ice arrive.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said crews have been engaged in cleaning up smaller jobs which had to be deferred while major projects were underway.

Completed last week was patching up Valley Road, filling of holes in a number of local streets and alleys, routine leaf collections and the cleaning of catch basins on Maryland and Virginia Avenues.

AWOL Marine Arrested

Richard E. Smith, an 18-year-old Marine living on Williams Road, was arrested yesterday by Sheriff Edward R. Muir on a charge of being absent without leave for 42 days. Military police are expected to come for Simth today.

Aza C. Stanton Dies Following Heart Attack

Oakland Man Former Grantsville Mayor

OAKLAND—Aza Claude Stanton, Sr., 61, International Harvester truck dealer here, died suddenly about 5 a. m. yesterday at his home north of here following a heart attack.

Formerly of Grantsville where he was engaged in business until 1940, he moved to Oakland and went into partnership with Maurice Brookhart to form the Garrett Truck and Impliment Company.

Former Mayor

A native of Grantsville, he was born January 15, 1890, a son of the late William T. and Annie Durst Stanton. Mr. Stanton served four consecutive terms as mayor of Grantsville and was a former member of the Board of School Trustees there for six years. He also was cashier of the former Grantsville First National Bank from 1921 to 1933. During 1933 to 1939 he was a member of the Resettlement Administration in the Grantsville area.

Baptized at the Grantsville Reformed Church, he was graduated from the University of Maryland in 1912 with a B. S. degree and received his master's degree at the University of Missouri in 1914. After teaching at Missouri for one year, he went to College Park to teach one year of dairy husbandry.

Army Veteran

Mr. Stanton volunteered for the armed forces November 21, 1917 and was promoted to sergeant April 10, 1918. He attended officer's training school at Camp George G. Meade, near Baltimore, and Camp Gordon, Ga. He was appointed a Second Lieutenant in the Infantry August, 1918.

Later he attended school at Camp Perry, Ohio, after which he was stationed with a recruiting depot at Camp Shelby, Miss. October 10, 1918. He was discharged from the Army December 2, 1918. He served with Company 1, 313th Army Infantry shortly after enlisting.

Mr. Stanton was a member of the Grantsville Lodge, Woodmen of the World, and after moving to Oakland, he served as post commander of Proctor Kildow Post No. 71, American Legion. He was a former member of the Oakland-Mt. Lake Park Lions Club, and was active in civic affairs both in Oakland and Grantsville.

Services Tomorrow

Besides his wife, Mrs. Vadne Parmer Stanton, he is survived by one son, Aza C. Stanton, Jr., Oakland; four brothers, Dr. T. Ray Stanton, Hyattsville; and C. Earl, Hubert D. and Guy S. Stanton, all of Grantsville; two sisters, Mrs. Ruth Smouse, Cumberland; and Mrs. Ethel S. Miller, Grantsville. Another brother, William Clay Stanton, was killed in the Meuse-Argonne drive in France during Warld War I.

A brief service will be held at the Bolden Funeral Home here tomorrow at 1:30 p. m. The body will then be taken to the Grantsville Reformed Church for services at 3 p. m. Rev. Denver C. Pickens, pastor of the Oakland St. Paul's Methodist Church, will officiate, and interment will be in Grantsville Cemetery.

Rehabilitation Office Moved Yesterday

The branch office of vocational rehabilitation for Allegany and Garrett Counties will be located in Room 7-A of the County Union Street Building, effective today.

Located on the third floor of the Board of Education building the past five years, the office has been moved to make room for an office for Theodore Foote, art supervisor in the county schools.

J. Leo Delaney, rehabilitation counselor for the two counties, operates from the office.

school superintendent, said the board had furnished 64 state-adopted spellers and 23 readers to St. Thomas School (enrollment: 70).

But, said Wolford, many more copies of the textbooks are lying around his office and therefore obviously are not needed in the public schools.

Catholic Pupils Ride Bus

Board members also pointed out that a school bus—used to transport one student from Davis to the colored school at Coketon, beyond Thomas—has been picking up several Catholic school students in Davis and taking them to Thomas.

They said the parochial students disembark at the Thomas City Building, a block from St. Thomas School. The board also said the bus had to stop in Thomas for gas anyway.

After the meeting, a spokesman for the Presbyterian Men's Brotherhood said:

"The question, like a football, has been kicked around in this county for many years. The sole purpose of the (petitions) was to have the question settled to the satisfaction of the residents of this county.

"The petitions were not given for any personal reasons."

Petitioners Listed

Petitioners appearing before the board were:

Rev. Harold D. Shiflet, pastor of First Presbyterian Church, Parsons.

Rev. Paul Bell, pastor of First Baptist Church, Parsons.

Rev. W. A. O'Dell, pastor of First Methodist Church, Parsons.

Other petitioners were:

Rev. Robert L. Greynolds, pastor of St. John's Methodist Church.

Rev. Gordon Nestor, pastor of the Evangelical United Brethren Church.

Rev. Carl Nance, pastor of the Church of God.

Men's Brotherhood members attending were Robert O. Shrout, Robert Minear, Cecil M. Stalnaker, Hugh Shiflet and Ellis J. VonHaven.

Also present were Rev. Francis A. Spillar, pastor of St. Thomas Catholic Church, which operates the parochial school; A Smith Hockman, Thomas, former board member, and W. Del Roy Harner, Parsons attorney.

6500 Marylanders In CD Operation

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—More than 6,500 Marylanders were among the 100,000 Civilian Defense volunteers who took part Saturday in an aircraft spotting and reporting mission.

There were 165 observation posts manned in Maryland. The training operation covered the 13-state area of the Eastern Air Defense Force. Observers scanned the skies for hundreds of air force and civil air patrol craft.

Two Properties Sold

Two properties have been sold, according to deeds filed in the office of the clerk of Circuit Court. Carl D. Ziler and Bernice O. Ziler have sold property at 805 Mann's Terrace to Stanley Zorick and Alice F. Zorick for about $6,500. Wilbert P. Boone and Vera V. Boone sold property on the east side of Princeton Street to Julia P. Morgan for about $5,000.

Equity Suit Filed

An equity suit has been filed in Allegany County Circuit Court. The bill of complaint was titled Mary B. Wilson vs. Alfred W. Wilson.

Street Crews Work On Delayed Projects

The Street Department is trying to get a lot of odd jobs done before snow and ice arrive.

Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, said crews have been engaged in cleaning up smaller jobs which had to be deferred while major projects were underway.

Completed last week was patching up Valley Road, filling of holes in a number of local streets and alleys, routine leaf collections and the cleaning of catch basins on Maryland and Virginia Avenues.

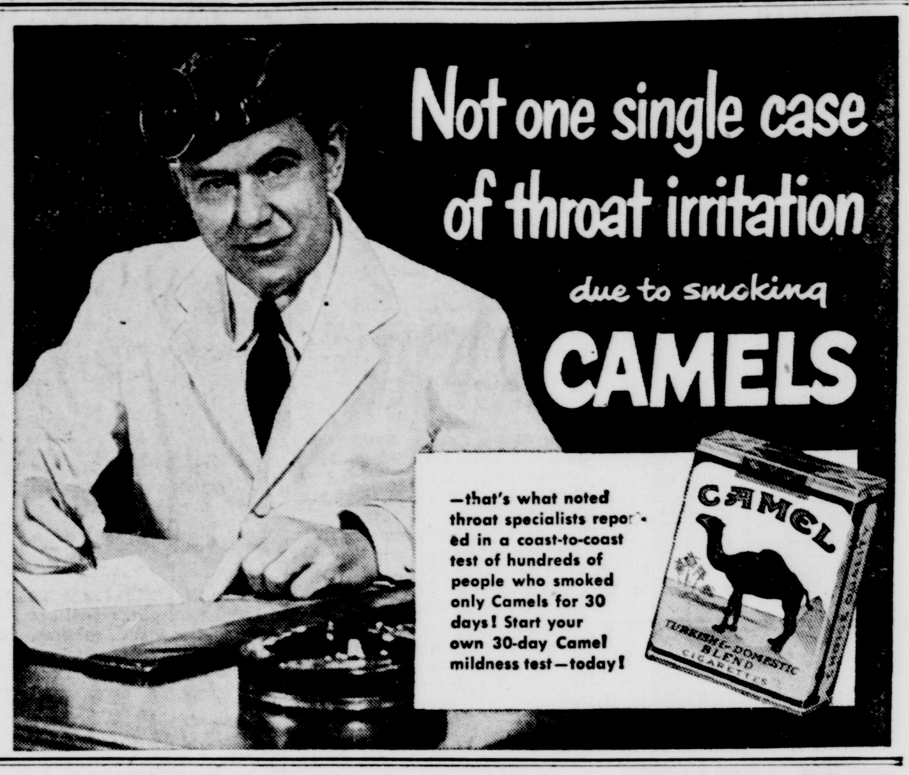

AWOL Marine Arrested

Richard E. Smith, an 18-year-old Marine living on Williams Road, was arrested yesterday by Sheriff Edward R. Muir on a charge of being absent without leave for 42 days. Military police are expected to come for Simth today.

Seventy Deer Slain On Opening Day In Allegany County

Death Toll Is Ten Less Than All-Time Mark

Rawlings Man Bags 180-Pounder; Two Boys, Woman Score

Seventy bucks were reported slain yesterday in Allegany county as Maryland's six-day deer hunting season got under way.

The initial day's kill was 10 less than the record 80 reported in 1949 and exceeded last year's mark of 46 by 24. Forty-six were bagged on the opening day in 1947 while the total was 60 in 1948.

Allegany county's six day record of 201 was established in 1948.

Reports were received from all four checking stations in Allegany county. Graydon Dunlap reported 23 animals were checked at Shipway's Inn, Lewis Brothers Grocery at Oldtown reported 20, the State Police at LaVale 18 and the Westernport Police Station 6.

The Hancock checking station in Washington county checked 32 deer, three of which were reported brought down in Allegany county.

James M. Armstrong, Rawlings, bagged the largest buck, a 180-pounder, at Black Oak Bottom. Two boys, Robert C. Bohrer, 13, and John Scally, 15, killed deer on Dan's Mountain while the lucky woman was Margaret Kasecamp of Frostburg.

The Associated Press reported approximately 250 kills early last evening but that total included only 11 from Garrett county, the state's No. 1 deer county, where the all-time record is 517 for six days.

Frederick reported 46 and Washington 41.

Last year a total of 886 deer were slain in the state during the six-day season.

Cage Season Opens Tonight

Six High School Games Are On Tap

Four new high school basketball coaches will face the firing line for the first time tonight as the 1951-52 cage season opens with a light six-game agenda.

Two of the newcomers will battle each other when Coach Ed Strauss' Capon Bridge tossers travel to Romney to meet the Pioneers under the tutelege of Allan Swick. Last season Capon Bridge copped only four of 23 games while Romney had an 8-16 record.

The other two freshmen head coaches also battle each other as John W. Kerens' Paw Paw High cagers meet Fort Ashby on the latter's court. Fort Ashby will have Earl Hess at the helm this year. Last year Paw Paw wound up the season with a .500 mark at 10-10 while the Eagles captured 10 wins in 23 games.

Barton is defending champion of the state Class C title and finished second in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League race when it dropped a playoff thriller to Fort Hill. The Braves won 21 games while losing only three in 1950-51. Piedmont had one of its most dismal seasons last year with a 12-13 mark.

At Everett, Pa., Coach Jack James's Hyndman High courtmen will tackle varsity competition for the first time since the sport was renewed at Hyndman last year when it meets Everett High's cagers.

Other tilts tonight include Grantsville at Beall High in Frostburg and Elk Garden at Oakland. Beall, under Coach Eddie Finzel finished with a 9-11 record in 1950-51 while the Oakland Highlanders compiled a creditable 15-5 mark.

Cumberland schools won't open until Friday when LaSalle battles Romney at SS. Peter and Paul court. Both Fort Hill and Allegany start next week.

Legion, Phonemen Win YMCA Tilts

The Cumberland Legion defeated the B.P.O. Elks, 45-38, and the C. & P. Telephone Company topped the Ridgeley Legions, 46-38, in the opening games of the YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League last night.

In Wednesday night games C. & P. Telephone plays the Elks at 8 o'clock and Ridgeley Legion opposes the Forty and Eight at 9 o'clock. Lineups:

Mountaineers Win

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 3 (AP)—West Virginia University won its first southern conference basketball victory here tonight by defeating Virginia Tech 78-53.

Center Mark Workman also broke the all-time West Virginia scoring record of 1,009 points set during the 1947-49 career of Fred Schaus. Workman made his 1010th point during the third quarter of the game. The 6-9 center scored 15 tallies in all.

Nine Minor Leagues Draft 66 Players For $224,000

Transactions Show Decline From 1950

By JACK HAND

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—Baragin-hunting minor leaguers drafted 66 players for $224,000 today, a decline from 1950, as their golden jubilee convention opened.

The same nine leagues—three triple A, two double A and four Class A—picked 77 men for $278,000 a year ago. This cutback was in line with recent moves to reduce player and salary limtis.

Instead of rushing blindly to market with checkbook open and pen poised, the baseball clubowners thought of last summer's dreary attendance—and held back.

The talent pool held a few exciting names because most of the big league farmers harvested their hot shot prospects long ago.

Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn vice-president in charge of farms, explained the draft like this:

"Our farm club rosters weren't crowded, like they usually are, because of the manpower situation. All the clubs were able to bring up the best and left only the players they didn't mind losing."

Dodgers Lose Four

Brooklyn lost four men in the triple A draft of 17 men for $87,000. Thompson didn't consider any of them top level prospects.

The St. Louis Cardinals, however, were clipped for a couple of real losses. Toledo of the American Association snatched first baseman Harry Zernia from Omaha of the Western League.

Although Zernia had a poor .264 year in the Western League, Card owner Fred Saigh regarded him highly. Outfielder Roy Broome, a .295 hitter at Columbus of the American Association, was taken off the Houston Roster by the New York Giants' Minneapolis farm.

One of Brooklyn's four losses was player-manager Larry Shepard who had a 24-11 pitching record at Billings, Mont. in the Pioneer League. Actually he was drafted off the Great Falls, Mont. roster, for the Brooks just shifted working agreements from Billings to Great Falls. As a player-manager, Shepard does not have to report to Pittsburgh's Hollywood farm, which drafted him, unless he wants.

The No. 1 pick in the minor league draft was Frank Biscan, former St. Louis Browns' pitcher, who was selected by San Francisco from Memphis, where he had a 16-9 record.

Blues Get Twirler

Ruben Gomez, a Pureto Rican pitcher with a 12-6 record and 153 strikeouts at St. Jean, Que. in the Provincial League, went to the New York Yankees' Kansas City Farm.

Cardinal farms grabbed two—Columbus taking pitcher Bill Allen from the Dodgers' Fort Worth farm and Rochester drafting outfielder Jack Byers from Charlotte of the Tri-State after he hit .370 at Erie, Pa.

The Chicago Cubs, in the midst of a rebuilding spree, got four for their minor league clubs—two for Los Angeles and two for Springfield.

Ralph (Country) Brown, an outfielder who led two or three leagues in hitting was taken from Atlanta by Montreal.

There were a couple of familiar names in the double A draft of 18 men for $65,500. Pitcher Charley Haag, once a Yankee, was drafted from Albany, N. Y. of the eastern by Shreveport of the Texas League after a 15-11 year. And Eddie Sanicki, once touted as the Phillies' regular center fielder, was selected by Cincinnati's Tulsa farm from Schenectady, N. Y. of the Eastern, where he hit only .249.

The draft continues tomorrow with the Class B and C leagues going into action. The final total is almost certain to fall below the 154 picked and $347,600 spent last year.

Racing Revenue Of $5,825,534 Is Tops In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP) — The state revenue from horse racing reached a new high in Maryland this year.

The state tax on betting, license fees and breakage amounts to $5,825,534.15, the highest ever. The previous tops was $5,086,151.02 in 1947.

This year's revenue will be added to slightly with license fees for owners, trainers and jockeys.

The 1951 state income from racing is 31 per cent higher than last year.

The upswing in racing was evident at every Maryland track, three mile and five half-milers on the flat and four harness. All 12 handled more bets than last year, the first time it happened since 1947.

Marylanders bet more than ever during the 230 days and nights, a grand total of $115,029,779.

Fan Gives Eye Tooth For Rose Bowl Ticket

CHAMPAIGN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Ticket Manager George Legg of the University of Illinois today received a letter which began: "I'd give an eye-tooth for a ticket to the Rose Bowl game."

Carefully taped to the letter was an eye-tooth.

Commented Legg: "I turned it over to the team dentist and told him 'fill that order.'"

Princeton Lands Five Players On All-East Eleven

Kazmaier Unanimous Choice For Backfield

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Undefeated Princeton dominated the 1951 All-East football team by placing dazzling Dick Kazmaier and four of his teammates on the two-platoon squad picked for the Associated Press today by Eastern coaches.

Kazmaier, whose running and passing exploits won him the national individual offense title, was a unanimous choice for a backfield spot on the attacking unit.

No other team in the east received more than two positions, and five got that many. They were Holy Cross, Cornell, Navy, Bucknell and Pennsylvania.

Remaining honors went singly to Yale, Colgate, Columbia, Brown, Dartmouth, Boston University and Villanova.

The four other Princetonians were placed on the defensive teams. They were Frank McPhee, brilliant six-foot-three end who starred on both offense and defense; guard Victor Bihl, center David Hickok and halfback Richard Pivirotto, who mixed safety man duties with regular ball-carrying assignments.

The offensive backfield is a versatile, hard-hitting unit which includes, in addition to Kazmaier, Boston University's passing ace, Harry Agganis; Holy Cross' Chuck Maloy, slick ball handler and T-quarterback; and Burt Talmage, a driving halfback who averaged about six yards a try for unbeaten Bucknell.

Karl Kluckhohn, Colgate end, teamed on the offensive eleven with Tom McCann, another fine pass receiver from Holy Cross. Tackle posts went to Paul Tetreault of Navy and Charles Metzler of Cornell while the center of the offensive line was manned by Guards Gerald Audette of Columbia and John Pietro of Brown and Center William Vesprini of Dartmouth.

OFFENSIVE PLATOON

ENDS—Karl Kluckhohn, Colgate, and Tom McCann, Holy Cross. TACKLES—Paul Tetreault, Navy, and Charles Metzler, Cornell. GUARD—Gerald Audette, Columbia, and John Pietro, Brown. CENTER—William mVesprini, Dartmouth. BACKS—Richard Kazmaier, Princeton, Harry Agganis, Boston University, Burt Talmage, Bucknell, and Charles Malloy, Holy Cross.

DEFENSIVE PLATOON

ENDS—Frank McPhee, Princeton, and Edward Bell, Pennsylvania. TACKLES—George Young, Bucknell, and Gerald McGinley, Pennsylvania. GUARDS—Nick Liotta, Villanova, and Victor Bihl, Princeton. CENTER—David Hickok, Princeton. BACKS—Robert Spears, Yale, William Whelan, Cornell, Richard Pivirotto, Princeton, and Frank Hauff, Navy.

Feathers Fired As Head Coach At N. C. State

May Be Offered Job As Assistant

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 3 (AP)—North Carolina State College, a football mat most of the 1951 football season, released its head coach, Beattie Feathers, today.

He will be replaced as soon as a three-member committee an hire a new coach. Committeemen said about three weeks would be required to screen prospects.

Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman, said the athletic council voted 13 to 1 last Saturday to remove Feathers, who has wound up nine seasons here. Fisher said he did not vote on the 15-member council. Fisher added the decision of the council was withheld so that notification could be given first to Feathers, who then was attending an all-star high school game at Charlotte. Fisher asserted that later efforts to contact Feathers had been unsuccessful, and that the announcement was made today because it could no longer be postponed.

Fisher said Feathers would be offered a position, probably in teaching physical education or as an assistant coach, in order to complete a three-year contract which became operative at the outset of the 1951 season. That contract was agreed upon after Feathers' Wolfpack team stunned Maryland with a 16-13 upset in 1950. Feathers' salary reportedly is about $8,000 a year.

The 1951 Wolfpack won only three of ten games. In his nine years here, State won 36 games and lost 41.

Feathers was not available for comment.

Seixas, Savitt Lose In Doubles

Aussie Team Wins 7-5, 8-6 And 6-2

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 3 (AP)—America's Davis Cuppers discovered to their surprise today that they have only one doubles team after all and that it is composed of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert.

Vic Seixas and Dick Savitt, who might have entertained some aspirations in tandem play, took a royal beating from veteran Adrian Quist and Geoff Brown of Australia, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2, in the quarterfinals of the Victorian tennis championships.

From here on both may devote themselves to singles in preparation for the approaching cup matches. Schroeder and Trabert, on the other hand, continued to look like a sparkling combination as they hammered Australia's two brilliant juniors, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Schroeder, of La Crescenta, Calif., is hot as a firecracker and his terrific all around play appears to be lending inspiration to his youthful partner from Cincinnati.

On the strength of their form today, they will be favored to eliminate Australia's Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose in their semifinal Wednesday. McGregor and Rose, one of Australia's two makeshift teams in the tournament, ousted Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidson, Sweden's puzzling Davis Cup pair 10-8, 6-4, 10-8, but they were not too impressive in the process.

Sedgman and his temporary sparmate, Don Candy, had little difficulty in knocking out Frank Shields, non-playing captain of the U. S. team, and young Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. They'll meet Quist and Brown in the upper bracket semifinal and it's far from certain they will win.

Accused Jockey Pleads Innocent

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 3 (AP)—Richard Williams of Baltimore, Md., one of three jockeys indicted with three race track figures in a race fixing investigation, pleaded innocent today to three charges and was released in $6,000 bail in superior court.

Williams is charged with attempting to corrupt Patrick Moore, another jockey, by offering him money to run a race improperly at Narraganset Park, with actually corrupting him and with conspiring to corrupt him.

Williams voluntarily returned here from Maryland, where he was arrested.

Kazmaier And Hickok Receive Poe Awards

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 3 (INS)—All-America tailback Dick Kazmaier and Capt. Dave Hickok, defensive linebacker, were jointly awarded the John P. Poe Memorial Cup tonight, Princeton's highest gridiron prize.

The two stars of the unbeaten Tigers eleven received the award at the annual football dinner.

Earlier, All-America end Frank McPhee was elected to succeed Hickok as captain of Princeton's 1952 team.

Pond Resigns Coaching Job

Quits Bates College, Hatch Is Successor

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 3—(AP)—Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond, head coach of football at Bates since 1941, resigned today and was succeeded by one of his assistants, Robert W. Hatch.

Pond gave no reason for leaving Bates and said he has no immediate plans.

His 1951 eleven lost seven games and tied one.

In his eight seasons at the Lewiston College—he served in the Navy's physical fitness program in 1942 and 1943—Pond coached teams won 24, lost 34 and tied one.

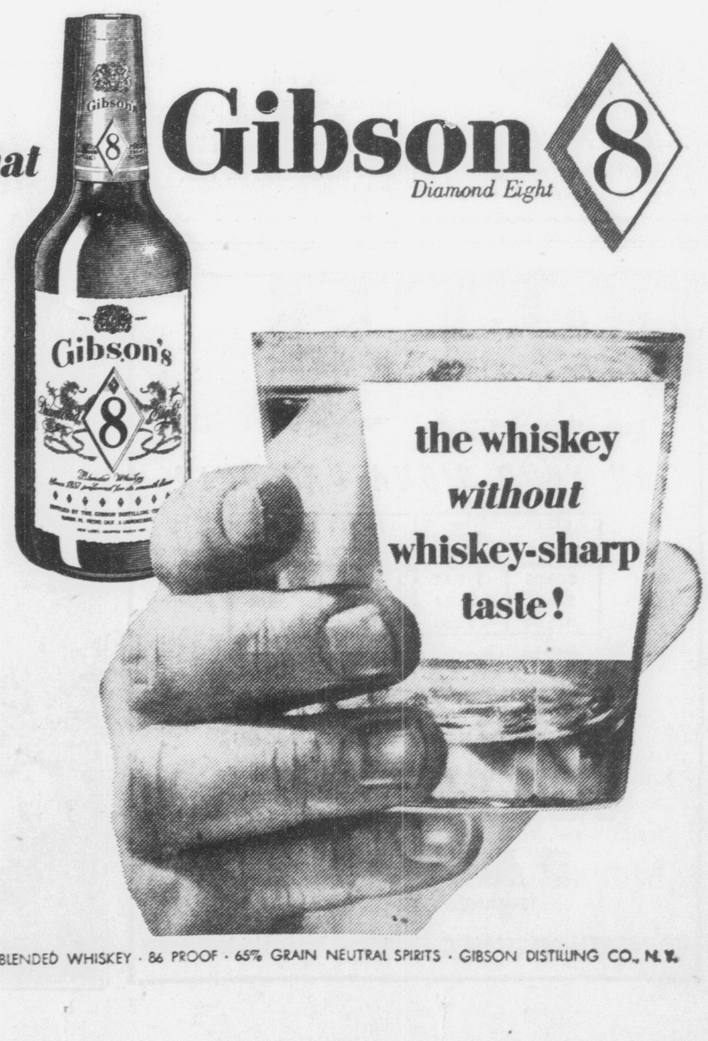

A brilliant back, Pond played on Yale's undefeated, untied 1923 team and captained the 1925 squad in his senior year.

After an assistant coaching job at Hotchkiss he returned to New Haven as Jayvee coach and was promoted to head coach of the Elis in 1934. He developed such famous Yale players as Clint Frank and Larry Kelley but left after a disastrous 1940 season.

Kurowski Reappointed

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—George (Whitey) Kurowski, former third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, today was reappointed manager of the Allentown (Pa.) Cardinals of the Class B Interstate League.

Kurowski managed Lynchburg in the Piedmont League in 1950 and last year led Allentown to second place in the Interstate loop.

Seventy Deer Slain On Opening Day In Allegany County

Death Toll Is Ten Less Than All-Time Mark

Rawlings Man Bags 180-Pounder; Two Boys, Woman Score

Seventy bucks were reported slain yesterday in Allegany county as Maryland's six-day deer hunting season got under way.

The initial day's kill was 10 less than the record 80 reported in 1949 and exceeded last year's mark of 46 by 24. Forty-six were bagged on the opening day in 1947 while the total was 60 in 1948.

Allegany county's six day record of 201 was established in 1948.

Reports were received from all four checking stations in Allegany county. Graydon Dunlap reported 23 animals were checked at Shipway's Inn, Lewis Brothers Grocery at Oldtown reported 20, the State Police at LaVale 18 and the Westernport Police Station 6.

The Hancock checking station in Washington county checked 32 deer, three of which were reported brought down in Allegany county.

James M. Armstrong, Rawlings, bagged the largest buck, a 180-pounder, at Black Oak Bottom. Two boys, Robert C. Bohrer, 13, and John Scally, 15, killed deer on Dan's Mountain while the lucky woman was Margaret Kasecamp of Frostburg.

The Associated Press reported approximately 250 kills early last evening but that total included only 11 from Garrett county, the state's No. 1 deer county, where the all-time record is 517 for six days.

Frederick reported 46 and Washington 41.

Last year a total of 886 deer were slain in the state during the six-day season.

Cage Season Opens Tonight

Six High School Games Are On Tap

Four new high school basketball coaches will face the firing line for the first time tonight as the 1951-52 cage season opens with a light six-game agenda.

Two of the newcomers will battle each other when Coach Ed Strauss' Capon Bridge tossers travel to Romney to meet the Pioneers under the tutelege of Allan Swick. Last season Capon Bridge copped only four of 23 games while Romney had an 8-16 record.

The other two freshmen head coaches also battle each other as John W. Kerens' Paw Paw High cagers meet Fort Ashby on the latter's court. Fort Ashby will have Earl Hess at the helm this year. Last year Paw Paw wound up the season with a .500 mark at 10-10 while the Eagles captured 10 wins in 23 games.

Probably the top contest for opening day pits Coach Huck Miers' Piedmont Lions against Johnny Thomas' Barton Braves at Barton.

Barton is defending champion of the state Class C title and finished second in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League race when it dropped a playoff thriller to Fort Hill. The Braves won 21 games while losing only three in 1950-51. Piedmont had one of its most dismal seasons last year with a 12-13 mark.

At Everett, Pa., Coach Jack James's Hyndman High courtmen will tackle varsity competition for the first time since the sport was renewed at Hyndman last year when it meets Everett High's cagers.

Other tilts tonight include Grantsville at Beall High in Frostburg and Elk Garden at Oakland. Beall, under Coach Eddie Finzel finished with a 9-11 record in 1950-51 while the Oakland Highlanders compiled a creditable 15-5 mark.

Cumberland schools won't open until Friday when LaSalle battles Romney at SS. Peter and Paul court. Both Fort Hill and Allegany start next week.

Legion, Phonemen Win YMCA Tilts

The Cumberland Legion defeated the B.P.O. Elks, 45-38, and the C. & P. Telephone Company topped the Ridgeley Legions, 46-38, in the opening games of the YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League last night.

In Wednesday night games C. & P. Telephone plays the Elks at 8 o'clock and Ridgeley Legion opposes the Forty and Eight at 9 o'clock. Lineups:

Mountaineers Win

MORGANTOWN, W. Va., Dec. 3 (AP)—West Virginia University won its first southern conference basketball victory here tonight by defeating Virginia Tech 78-53.

Center Mark Workman also broke the all-time West Virginia scoring record of 1,009 points set during the 1947-49 career of Fred Schaus. Workman made his 1010th point during the third quarter of the game. The 6-9 center scored 15 tallies in all.

Nine Minor Leagues Draft 66 Players For $224,000

Transactions Show Decline From 1950

By JACK HAND

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—Bargain-hunting minor leaguers drafted 66 players for $224,000 today, a decline from 1950, as their golden jubilee convention opened.

The same nine leagues—three triple A, two double A and four Class A—picked 77 men for $278,000 a year ago. This cutback was in line with recent moves to reduce player and salary limtis.

Instead of rushing blindly to market with checkbook open and pen poised, the baseball clubowners thought of last summer's dreary attendance—and held back.

The talent pool held a few exciting names because most of the big league farmers harvested their hot shot prospects long ago.

Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn vice-president in charge of farms, explained the draft like this:

"Our farm club rosters weren't crowded, like they usually are, because of the manpower situation. All the clubs were able to bring up the best and left only the players they didn't mind losing."

Dodgers Lose Four

Brooklyn lost four men in the triple A draft of 17 men for $87,000. Thompson didn't consider any of them top level prospects.

The St. Louis Cardinals, however, were clipped for a couple of real losses. Toledo of the American Association snatched first baseman Harry Zernia from Omaha of the Western League.

Although Zernia had a poor .264 year in the Western League, Card owner Fred Saigh regarded him highly. Outfielder Roy Broome, a .295 hitter at Columbus of the American Association, was taken off the Houston Roster by the New York Giants' Minneapolis farm.

One of Brooklyn's four losses was player-manager Larry Shepard who had a 24-11 pitching record at Billings, Mont. in the Pioneer League. Actually he was drafted off the Great Falls, Mont. roster, for the Brooks just shifted working agreements from Billings to Great Falls. As a player-manager, Shepard does not have to report to Pittsburgh's Hollywood farm, which drafted him, unless he wants.

The No. 1 pick in the minor league draft was Frank Biscan, former St. Louis Browns' pitcher, who was selected by San Francisco from Memphis, where he had a 16-9 record.

Blues Get Twirler

Ruben Gomez, a Pureto Rican pitcher with a 12-6 record and 153 strikeouts at St. Jean, Que. in the Provincial League, went to the New York Yankees' Kansas City Farm.

Cardinal farms grabbed two—Columbus taking pitcher Bill Allen from the Dodgers' Fort Worth farm and Rochester drafting outfielder Jack Byers from Charlotte of the Tri-State after he hit .370 at Erie, Pa.

The Chicago Cubs, in the midst of a rebuilding spree, got four for their minor league clubs—two for Los Angeles and two for Springfield.

Ralph (Country) Brown, an outfielder who led two or three leagues in hitting was taken from Atlanta by Montreal.

There were a couple of familiar names in the double A draft of 18 men for $65,500. Pitcher Charley Haag, once a Yankee, was drafted from Albany, N. Y. of the eastern by Shreveport of the Texas League after a 15-11 year. And Eddie Sanicki, once touted as the Phillies' regular center fielder, was selected by Cincinnati's Tulsa farm from Schenectady, N. Y. of the Eastern, where he hit only .249.

The draft continues tomorrow with the Class B and C leagues going into action. The final total is almost certain to fall below the 154 picked and $347,600 spent last year.

Racing Revenue Of $5,825,534 Is Tops In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP) — The state revenue from horse racing reached a new high in Maryland this year.

The state tax on betting, license fees and breakage amounts to $5,825,534.15, the highest ever. The previous tops was $5,086,151.02 in 1947.

This year's revenue will be added to slightly with license fees for owners, trainers and jockeys.

The 1951 state income from racing is 31 per cent higher than last year.

The upswing in racing was evident at every Maryland track, three mile and five half-milers on the flat and four harness. All 12 handled more bets than last year, the first time it happened since 1947.

Marylanders bet more than ever during the 230 days and nights, a grand total of $115,029,779.

Fan Gives Eye Tooth For Rose Bowl Ticket

CHAMPAIGN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Ticket Manager George Legg of the University of Illinois today received a letter which began: "I'd give an eye-tooth for a ticket to the Rose Bowl game."

Carefully taped to the letter was an eye-tooth.

Commented Legg: "I turned it over to the team dentist and told him 'fill that order.'"

Injured Grid Star Taken To New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Johnny Yuha, 17, Pennsylvania schoolboy football start who reputedly had scholarship offers from 37 colleges, was brought here today with serious injuries suffered in a game Nov. 3.

His name was placed on the critical list at New York University-Belevue Medical Center and he was denied visitors.

Yuha, a halfback on the Elders Ridge High School team, who lives with his widowed mother at Coal River, Pa., suffered a broken neck and two fractured vertebrae in a game with Bell Township High School.

Princeton Lands Five Players On All-East Eleven

Kazmaier Unanimous Choice For Backfield

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Undefeated Princeton dominated the 1951 All-East football team by placing dazzling Dick Kazmaier and four of his teammates on the two-platoon squad picked for the Associated Press today by Eastern coaches.

Kazmaier, whose running and passing exploits won him the national individual offense title, was a unanimous choice for a backfield spot on the attacking unit.

No other team in the east received more than two positions, and five got that many. They were Holy Cross, Cornell, Navy, Bucknell and Pennsylvania.

Remaining honors went singly to Yale, Colgate, Columbia, Brown, Dartmouth, Boston University and Villanova.

The four other Princetonians were placed on the defensive teams. They were Frank McPhee, brilliant six-foot-three end who starred on both offense and defense; guard Victor Bihl, center David Hickok and halfback Richard Pivirotto, who mixed safety man duties with regular ball-carrying assignments.

The offensive backfield is a versatile, hard-hitting unit which includes, in addition to Kazmaier, Boston University's passing ace, Harry Agganis; Holy Cross' Chuck Maloy, slick ball handler and T-quarterback; and Burt Talmage, a driving halfback who averaged about six yards a try for unbeaten Bucknell.

Karl Kluckhohn, Colgate end, teamed on the offensive eleven with Tom McCann, another fine pass receiver from Holy Cross. Tackle posts went to Paul Tetreault of Navy and Charles Metzler of Cornell while the center of the offensive line was manned by Guards Gerald Audette of Columbia and John Pietro of Brown and Center William Vesprini of Dartmouth.

OFFENSIVE PLATOON

ENDS—Karl Kluckhohn, Colgate, and Tom McCann, Holy Cross. TACKLES—Paul Tetreault, Navy, and Charles Metzler, Cornell. GUARD—Gerald Audette, Columbia, and John Pietro, Brown. CENTER—Willia mVesprini, Dartmouth. BACKS—Richard Kazmaier, Princeton, Harry Agganis, Boston University, Burt Talmage, Bucknell, and Charles Malloy, Holy Cross.

DEFENSIVE PLATOON

ENDS—Frank McPhee, Princeton, and Edward Bell, Pennsylvania. TACKLES—George Young, Bucknell, and Gerald McGinley, Pennsylvania. GUARDS—Nick Liotta, Villanova, and Victor Bihl, Princeton. CENTER—David Hickok, Princeton. BACKS—Robert Spears, Yale, William Whelan, Cornell, Richard Pivirotto, Princeton, and Frank Hauff, Navy.

Feathers Fired As Head Coach At N. C. State

May Be Offered Job As Assistant

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 3 (AP)—North Carolina State College, a football mat most of the 1951 football season, released its head coach, Beattie Feathers, today.

He will be replaced as soon as a three-member committee an hire a new coach. Committeemen said about three weeks would be required to screen prospects.

Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman, said the athletic council voted 13 to 1 last Saturday to remove Feathers, who has wound up nine seasons here. Fisher said he did not vote on the 15-member council. Fisher added the decision of the council was withheld so that notification could be given first to Feathers, who then was attending an all-star high school game at Charlotte. Fisher asserted that later efforts to contact Feathers had been unsuccessful, and that the announcement was made today because it could no longer be postponed.

Fisher said Feathers would be offered a position, probably in teaching physical education or as an assistant coach, in order to complete a three-year contract which became operative at the outset of the 1951 season. That contract was agreed upon after Feathers' Wolfpack team stunned Maryland with a 16-13 upset in 1950. Feathers' salary reportedly is about $8,000 a year.

The 1951 Wolfpack won only three of ten games. In his nine years here, State won 36 games and lost 41.

Feathers was not available for comment.

Seixas, Savitt Lose In Doubles

Aussie Team Wins 7-5, 8-6 And 6-2

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 3 (AP)—America's Davis Cuppers discovered to their surprise today that they have only one doubles team after all and that it is composed of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert.

Vic Seixas and Dick Savitt, who might have entertained some aspirations in tandem play, took a royal beating from veteran Adrian Quist and Geoff Brown of Australia, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2, in the quarterfinals of the Victorian tennis championships.

From here on both may devote themselves to singles in preparation for the approaching cup matches. Schroeder and Trabert, on the other hand, continued to look like a sparkling combination as they hammered Australia's two brilliant juniors, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Schroeder, of La Crescenta, Calif., is hot as a firecracker and his terrific all around play appears to be lending inspiration to his youthful partner from Cincinnati.

On the strength of their form today, they will be favored to eliminate Australia's Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose in their semifinal Wednesday. McGregor and Rose, one of Australia's two makeshift teams in the tournament, ousted Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidson, Sweden's puzzling Davis Cup pair 10-8, 6-4, 10-8, but they were not too impressive in the process.

Sedgman and his temporary sparmate, Don Candy, had little difficulty in knocking out Frank Shields, non-playing captain of the U. S. team, and young Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. They'll meet Quist and Brown in the upper bracket semifinal and it's far from certain they will win.

Accused Jockey Pleads Innocent

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 3 (AP)—Richard Williams of Baltimore, Md., one of three jockeys indicted with three race track figures in a race fixing investigation, pleaded innocent today to three charges and was released in $6,000 bail in superior court.

Williams is charged with attempting to corrupt Patrick Moore, another jockey, by offering him money to run a race improperly at Narraganset Park, with actually corrupting him and with conspiring to corrupt him.

Williams voluntarily returned here from Maryland, where he was arrested.

Kazmaier And Hickok Receive Poe Awards

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 3 (INS)—All-America tailback Dick Kazmaier and Capt. Dave Hickok, defensive linebacker, were jointly awarded the John P. Poe Memorial Cup tonight, Princeton's highest gridiron prize.

The two stars of the unbeaten Tigers eleven received the award at the annual football dinner.

Earlier, All-America end Frank McPhee was elected to succeed Hickok as captain of Princeton's 1952 team.

Pond Resigns Coaching Job

Quits Bates College, Hatch Is Successor

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 3—(AP)—Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond, head coach of football at Bates since 1941, resigned today and was succeeded by one of his assistants, Robert W. Hatch.

Pond gave no reason for leaving Bates and said he has no immediate plans.

His 1951 eleven lost seven games and tied one.

In his eight seasons at the Lewiston College—he served in the Navy's physical fitness program in 1942 and 1943—Pond coached teams won 24, lost 34 and tied one.

A brilliant back, Pond played on Yale's undefeated, untied 1923 team and captained the 1925 squad in his senior year.

After an assistant coaching job at Hotchkiss he returned to New Haven as Jayvee coach and was promoted to head coach of the Elis in 1934. He developed such famous Yale players as Clint Frank and Larry Kelley but left after a disastrous 1940 season.

Kurowski Reappointed

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—George (Whitey) Kurowski, former third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, today was reappointed manager of the Allentown (Pa.) Cardinals of the Class B Interstate League.

Kurowski managed Lynchburg in the Piedmont League in 1950 and last year led Allentown to second place in the Interstate loop.

Seventy Deer Slain On Opening Day In Allegany County

Death Toll Is Ten Less Than All-Time Mark

Rawlings Man Bags 180-Pounder; Two Boys, Woman Score

Seventy bucks were reported slain yesterday in Allegany county as Maryland's six-day deer hunting season got under way.

The initial day's kill was 10 less than the record 80 reported in 1949 and exceeded last year's mark of 46 by 24. Forty-six were bagged on the opening day in 1947 while the total was 60 in 1948.

Allegany county's six day record of 201 was established in 1948.

Reports were received from all four checking stations in Allegany county. Graydon Dunlap reported 23 animals were checked at Shipway's Inn, Lewis Brothers Grocery at Oldtown reported 20, the State Police at LaVale 18 and the Westernport Police Station 6.

The Hancock checking station in Washington county checked 32 deer, three of which were reported brought down in Allegany county.

James M. Armstrong, Rawlings, bagged the largest buck, a 180-pounder, at Black Oak Bottom. Two boys, Robert C. Bohrer, 13, and John Scally, 15, killed deer on Dan's Mountain while the lucky woman was Margaret Kasecamp of Frostburg.

The Associated Press reported approximately 250 kills early last evening but that total included only 11 from Garrett county, the state's No. 1 deer county, where the all-time record is 517 for six days.

Frederick reported 46 and Washington 41.

Last year a total of 886 deer were slain in the state during the six-day season.

Cage Season Opens Tonight

Six High School Games Are On Tap

Four new high school basketball coaches will face the firing line for the first time tonight as the 1951-52 cage season opens with a light six-game agenda.

Two of the newcomers will battle each other when Coach Ed Strauss' Capon Bridge tossers travel to Romney to meet the Pioneers under the tutelege of Allan Swick. Last season Capon Bridge copped only four of 23 games while Romney had an 8-16 record.

The other two freshmen head coaches also battle each other as John W. Kerens' Paw Paw High cagers meet Fort Ashby on the latter's court. Fort Ashby will have Earl Hess at the helm this year. Last year Paw Paw wound up the season with a .500 mark at 10-10 while the Eagles captured 10 wins in 23 games.

Probably the top contest for opening day pits Coach Huck Miers' Piedmont Lions against Johnny Thomas' Barton Braves at Barton.

Barton is defending champion of the state Class C title and finished second in the Western Maryland Interscholastic League race when it dropped a playoff thriller to Fort Hill. The Braves won 21 games while losing only three in 1950-51. Piedmont had one of its most dismal seasons last year with a 12-13 mark.

At Everett, Pa., Coach Jack James's Hyndman High courtmen will tackle varsity competition for the first time since the sport was renewed at Hyndman last year when it meets Everett High's cagers.

Other tilts tonight include Grantsville at Beall High in Frostburg and Elk Garden at Oakland. Beall, under Coach Eddie Finzel finished with a 9-11 record in 1950-51 while the Oakland Highlanders compiled a creditable 15-5 mark.

Cumberland schools won't open until Friday when LaSalle battles Romney at SS. Peter and Paul court. Both Fort Hill and Allegany start next week.

Legion, Phonemen Win YMCA Tilts

The Cumberland Legion defeated the B.P.O. Elks, 45-38, and the C. & P. Telephone Company topped the Ridgeley Legions, 46-38, in the opening games of the YMCA Senior Men's Basketball League last night.

In Wednesday night games C. & P. Telephone plays the Elks at 8 o'clock and Ridgeley Legion opposes the Forty and Eight at 9 o'clock. Lineups:

Nine Minor Leagues Draft 66 Players For $224,000

Transactions Show Decline From 1950

By JACK HAND

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—Bargain-hunting minor leaguers drafted 66 players for $224,000 today, a decline from 1950, as their golden jubilee convention opened.

The same nine leagues—three triple A, two double A and four Class A—picked 77 men for $278,000 a year ago. This cutback was in line with recent moves to reduce player and salary limtis.

Instead of rushing blindly to market with checkbook open and pen poised, the baseball clubowners thought of last summer's dreary attendance—and held back.

The talent pool held a few exciting names because most of the big league farmers harvested their hot shot prospects long ago.

Fresco Thompson, Brooklyn vice-president in charge of farms, explained the draft like this:

"Our farm club rosters weren't crowded, like they usually are, because of the manpower situation. All the clubs were able to bring up the best and left only the players they didn't mind losing."

Dodgers Lose Four

Brooklyn lost four men in the triple A draft of 17 men for $87,000. Thompson didn't consider any of them top level prospects.

The St. Louis Cardinals, however, were clipped for a couple of real losses. Toledo of the American Association snatched first baseman Harry Zernia from Omaha of the Western League.

Although Zernia had a poor .264 year in the Western League, Card owner Fred Saigh regarded him highly. Outfielder Roy Broome, a .295 hitter at Columbus of the American Association, was taken off the Houston Roster by the New York Giants' Minneapolis farm.

One of Brooklyn's four losses was player-manager Larry Shepard who had a 24-11 pitching record at Billings, Mont. in the Pioneer League. Actually he was drafted off the Great Falls, Mont. roster, for the Brooks just shifted working agreements from Billings to Great Falls. As a player-manager, Shepard does not have to report to Pittsburgh's Hollywood farm, which drafted him, unless he wants.

The No. 1 pick in the minor league draft was Frank Biscan, former St. Louis Browns' pitcher, who was selected by San Francisco from Memphis, where he had a 16-9 record.

Blues Get Twirler

Ruben Gomez, a Pureto Rican pitcher with a 12-6 record and 153 strikeouts at St. Jean, Que. in the Provincial League, went to the New York Yankees' Kansas City Farm.

Cardinal farms grabbed two—Columbus taking pitcher Bill Allen from the Dodgers' Fort Worth farm and Rochester drafting outfielder Jack Byers from Charlotte of the Tri-State after he hit .370 at Erie, Pa.

The Chicago Cubs, in the midst of a rebuilding spree, got four for their minor league clubs—two for Los Angeles and two for Springfield.

Ralph (Country) Brown, an outfielder who led two or three leagues in hitting was taken from Atlanta by Montreal.

There were a couple of familiar names in the double A draft of 18 men for $65,500. Pitcher Charley Haag, once a Yankee, was drafted from Albany, N. Y. of the eastern by Shreveport of the Texas League after a 15-11 year. And Eddie Sanicki, once touted as the Phillies' regular center fielder, was selected by Cincinnati's Tulsa farm from Schenectady, N. Y. of the Eastern, where he hit only .249.

The draft continues tomorrow with the Class B and C leagues going into action. The final total is almost certain to fall below the 154 picked and $347,600 spent last year.

Players Drafted At Minor League Session In Ohio

American Association

Columbus — William Allen, left-handed pitcher who won eight and lost seven for Elmira.

Toledo—Harvey Zernia, first base man who batted .264 in 105 games for Omaha.

Minneapolis — Roy Broome, outfielder who batted .295 in 102 games for Columbus and .275 in 40 games for Houston, drafted from Houston.

Kansas City—Reuben Gomez, 24-year-old right-handed pitcher who won 12 and lost six, struck out 135 and 153 innings for St. John of the Provincial League.

St. Paul—Frank Baldwin, 23-year-old, 200-pound catcher who batted .261 for Oklahoma City.

Milwaukee—John Parks, catcher who batted .292 in 74 games for Montgomery.

Indianapolis and Louisville made no selections.

International League

Springfield — Harold Meek, 21-year-old catcher who batted .244 in 82 games for Wichita and Christ Kitsos, a 22-year-old shortstop who batted .334 in 134 games for Asheville, drafted from Mobile.

Toronto—Leon Foulk, pitcher who won 15 and lost 11 for DesMoines.

Rochester—Jack Byers, 23-year-old outfielder who batted .375 in 120 games for Erie, drafted from Charlotte.

Montreal—Ralph Brown, 26-year-old outfielder who batted .294 for Atlanta.

Southern Association

Chattanooga—catcher Henry DiJohnson, who batted .346 and drove in 115 runs in 116 games with Niagara Falls and Richard Sinovic, 26-year-old outfielder who batted .342 and drove in 115 runs in 144 games for Vancouver.

New Orleans—pitcher Clarence Richardson who won seven and lost nine with a 3.53 earned run average with Newport News, drafted from Elmira and Bob Hyatt who batted .308 with 92 runs batted in and 20 home runs in 143 games with Texarkana, drafted from Charlotte.

Nashville—Pete Mazer, who won seven and lost 12 with Columbus, O., drafted from Winston-Salem.

Racing Revenue Of $5,825,534 Is Tops In Maryland

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP) — The state revenue from horse racing reached a new high in Maryland this year.

The state tax on betting, license fees and breakage amounts to $5,825,534.15, the highest ever. The previous tops was $5,086,151.02 in 1947.

This year's revenue will be added to slightly with license fees for owners, trainers and jockeys.

The 1951 state income from racing is 31 per cent higher than last year.

The upswing in racing was evident at every Maryland track, three mile and five half-milers on the flat and four harness. All 12 handled more bets than last year, the first time it happened since 1947.

Marylanders bet more than ever during the 230 days and nights, a grand total of $115,029,779.

Fan Gives Eye Tooth For Rose Bowl Ticket

CHAMPAIGN, Dec. 3 (AP)—Ticket Manager George Legg of the University of Illinois today received a letter which began: "I'd give an eye-tooth for a ticket to the Rose Bowl game."

Carefully taped to the letter was an eye-tooth.

Commented Legg: "I turned it over to the team dentist and told him 'fill that order.'"

Injured Grid Star Taken To New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Johnny Yuha, 17, Pennsylvania schoolboy football start who reputedly had scholarship offers from 37 colleges, was brought here today with serious injuries suffered in a game Nov. 3.

His name was placed on the critical list at New York University-Belevue Medical Center and he was denied visitors.

Yuha, a halfback on the Elders Ridge High School team, who lives with his widowed mother at Coal River, Pa., suffered a broken neck and two fractured vertebrae in a game with Bell Township High School.

Princeton Lands Five Players On All-East Eleven

Kazmaier Unanimous Choice For Backfield

By WILL GRIMSLEY

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—Undefeated Princeton dominated the 1951 All-East football team by placing dazzling Dick Kazmaier and four of his teammates on the two-platoon squad picked for the Associated Press today by Eastern coaches.

Kazmaier, whose running and passing exploits won him the national individual offense title, was a unanimous choice for a backfield spot on the attacking unit.

No other team in the east received more than two positions, and five got that many. They were Holy Cross, Cornell, Navy, Bucknell and Pennsylvania.

Remaining honors went singly to Yale, Colgate, Columbia, Brown, Dartmouth, Boston University and Villanova.

The four other Princetonians were placed on the defensive teams. They were Frank McPhee, brilliant six-foot-three end who starred on both offense and defense; guard Victor Bihl, center David Hickok and halfback Richard Pivirotto, who mixed safety man duties with regular ball-carrying assignments.

The offensive backfield is a versatile, hard-hitting unit which includes, in addition to Kazmaier, Boston University's passing ace, Harry Agganis; Holy Cross' Chuck Maloy, slick ball handler and T-quarterback; and Burt Talmage, a driving halfback who averaged about six yards a try for unbeaten Bucknell.

Karl Kluckhohn, Colgate end, teamed on the offensive eleven with Tom McCann, another fine pass receiver from Holy Cross. Tackle posts went to Paul Tetreault of Navy and Charles Metzler of Cornell while the center of the offensive line was manned by Guards Gerald Audette of Columbia and John Pietro of Brown and Center William Vesprini of Dartmouth.

OFFENSIVE PLATOON

ENDS—Karl Kluckhohn, Colgate, and Tom McCann, Holy Cross. TACKLES—Paul Tetreault, Navy, and Charles Metzler, Cornell. GUARD—Gerald Audette, Columbia, and John Pietro, Brown. CENTER—Willia mVesprini, Dartmouth. BACKS—Richard Kazmaier, Princeton, Harry Agganis, Boston University, Burt Talmage, Bucknell, and Charles Malloy, Holy Cross.

DEFENSIVE PLATOON

ENDS—Frank McPhee, Princeton, and Edward Bell, Pennsylvania. TACKLES—George Young, Bucknell, and Gerald McGinley, Pennsylvania. GUARDS—Nick Liotta, Villanova, and Victor Bihl, Princeton. CENTER—David Hickok, Princeton. BACKS—Robert Spears, Yale, William Whelan, Cornell, Richard Pivirotto, Princeton, and Frank Hauff, Navy.

Feathers Fired As Head Coach At N. C. State

May Be Offered Job As Assistant

RALEIGH, N. C., Dec. 3 (AP)—North Carolina State College, a football power most of the 1951 football season, released its head coach, Beattie Feathers, today.

He will be replaced as soon as a three-member committee can hire a new coach. Committeemen said about three weeks would be required to screen prospects.

Dr. H. A. Fisher, chairman, said the athletic council voted 13 to 1 last Saturday to remove Feathers, who has wound up nine seasons here. Fisher said he did not vote on the 15-member council. Fisher added the decision of the council was withheld so that notification could be given first to Feathers, who then was attending an all-star high school game at Charlotte. Fisher asserted that later efforts to contact Feathers had been unsuccessful, and that the announcement was made today because it could no longer be postponed.

Fisher said Feathers would be offered a position, probably in teaching physical education or as an assistant coach, in order to complete a three-year contract which became operative at the outset of the 1951 season. That contract was agreed upon after Feathers' Wolfpack team stunned Maryland with a 16-13 upset in 1950. Feathers' salary reportedly is about $8,000 a year.

The 1951 Wolfpack won only three of ten games. In his nine years here, State won 36 games and lost 41.

Feathers was not available for comment.

Seixas, Savitt Lose In Doubles

Aussie Team Wins 7-5, 8-6 And 6-2

MELBOURNE, Australia, Dec. 3 (AP)—America's Davis Cuppers discovered to their surprise today that they have only one doubles team after all and that it is composed of Ted Schroeder and Tony Trabert.

Vic Seixas and Dick Savitt, who might have entertained some aspirations in tandem play, took a royal beating from veteran Adrian Quist and Geoff Brown of Australia, 7-5, 8-6, 6-2, in the quarterfinals of the Victorian tennis championships.

From here on both may devote themselves to singles in preparation for the approaching cup matches. Schroeder and Trabert, on the other hand, continued to look like a sparkling combination as they hammered Australia's two brilliant juniors, Lewis Hoad and Ken Rosewall, 6-3, 6-3, 6-3.

Schroeder, of La Crescenta, Calif., is hot as a firecracker and his terrific all around play appears to be lending inspiration to his youthful partner from Cincinnati.

On the strength of their form today, they will be favored to eliminate Australia's Ken McGregor and Mervyn Rose in their semifinal Wednesday. McGregor and Rose, one of Australia's two makeshift teams in the tournament, ousted Lennart Bergelin and Sven Davidson, Sweden's puzzling Davis Cup pair 10-8, 6-4, 10-8, but they were not too impressive in the process.

Sedgman and his temporary sparmate, Don Candy, had little difficulty in knocking out Frank Shields, non-playing captain of the U. S. team, and young Ham Richardson of Baton Rouge, La., 6-2, 6-1, 6-4. They'll meet Quist and Brown in the upper bracket semifinal and it's far from certain they will win.

Accused Jockey Pleads Innocent

PROVIDENCE, R. I., Dec. 3 (AP)—Richard Williams of Baltimore, Md., one of three jockeys indicted with three race track figures in a race fixing investigation, pleaded innocent today to three charges and was released in $6,000 bail in superior court.

Williams is charged with attempting to corrupt Patrick Moore, another jockey, by offering him money to run a race improperly at Narraganset Park, with actually corrupting him and with conspiring to corrupt him.

Williams voluntarily returned here from Maryland, where he was arrested.

Kazmaier And Hickok Receive Poe Awards

PRINCETON, N. J., Dec. 3 (INS)—All-America tailback Dick Kazmaier and Capt. Dave Hickok, defensive linebacker, were jointly awarded the John P. Poe Memorial Cup tonight, Princeton's highest gridiron prize.

The two stars of the unbeaten Tigers eleven received the award at the annual football dinner.

Earlier, All-America end Frank McPhee was elected to succeed Hickok as captain of Princeton's 1952 team.

Pond Resigns Coaching Job

Quits Bates College, Hatch Is Successor

LEWISTON, Me., Dec. 3—(AP)—Raymond W. (Ducky) Pond, head coach of football at Bates since 1941, resigned today and was succeeded by one of his assistants, Robert W. Hatch.

Pond gave no reason for leaving Bates and said he has no immediate plans.

His 1951 eleven lost seven games and tied one.

In his eight seasons at the Lewiston College—he served in the Navy's physical fitness program in 1942 and 1943—Pond coached teams won 24, lost 34 and tied one.

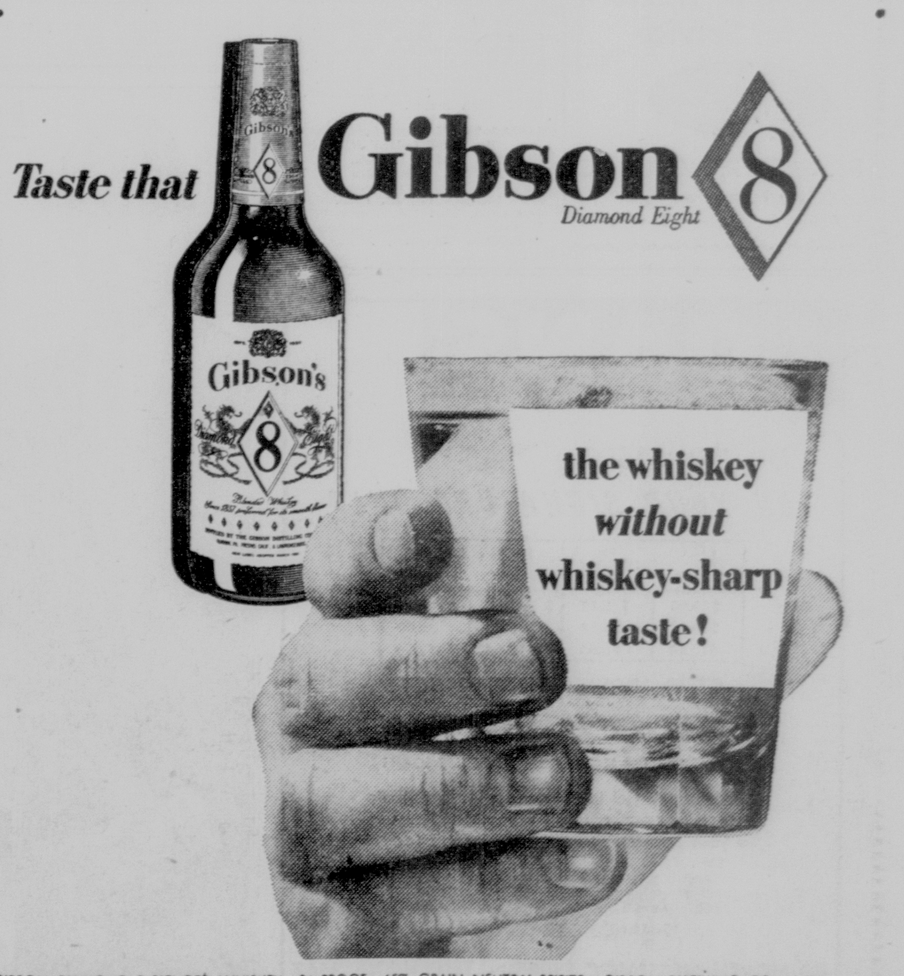

A brilliant back, Pond played on Yale's undefeated, untied 1923 team and captained the 1925 squad in his senior year.

After an assistant coaching job at Hotchkiss he returned to New Haven as Jayvee coach and was promoted to head coach of the Elis in 1934. He developed such famous Yale players as Clint Frank and Larry Kelley but left after a disastrous 1940 season.

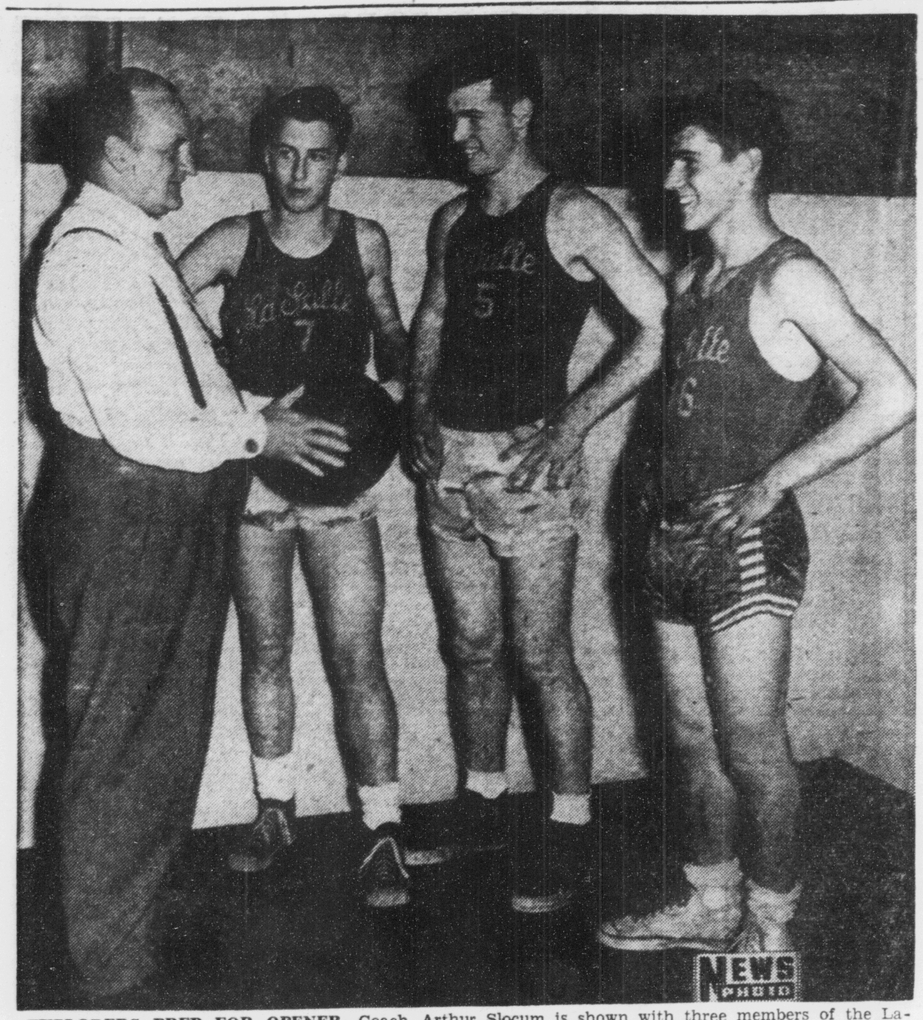

Kurowski Reappointed

COLUMBUS, O., Dec. 3 (AP)—George (Whitey) Kurowski, former third baseman for the St. Louis Cardinals, today was reappointed manager of the Allentown (Pa.) Cardinals of the Class B Interstate League.

Kurowski managed Lynchburg in the Piedmont League in 1950 and last year led Allentown to second place in the Interstate loop.

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson
International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(INS)—Hot off the grill today we have with us. . .the award season. . .when everybody and his brother gets a medal or a plaque or a cup or at the very least an all-sectional if not an All-America mention. . .

He must be a palooka indeed who does not get at least a nomination for some sort of an award. . .everybody gets into the donation act. . . Jewelers, hardware merchants, hot dog makers. . .

One of the most coveted awards is the annual Sullivan . . .now up for grabs. . .and the nominations if laid end to end would reach to Iran. . .the Sullivan is given for sportsmanship, good conduct, classy performance. . .

And would you believe it?. . .we do not notice a basketball player among the entries. . .although we note weight lifter Pete George and beel and toe man Henry Laskau. . . as well as such noted figures as the Rev. Bob Richards, the pole vaulter . . .racqueteer Doris Hart. . .Patricia McCormick, diver. . .and footballer Dick Kazmaier. . .

Talk of Red Sox trading Ted Williams reminds of the time the late John McGraw traded Rajah Hornsby for Andy Cohen and Shanty Hogan. . .which moved a sports writer to sing:

"All your Cohens and your Hogans. . .can't begin to fill the Brogans. . .that Hornsby wore so well at second base". . .

We hear that over in Australia the odds are 8 to 5 that Australia will retain the Davis Cup. . .odds seem fair enough. . .

Princeton and Fordham football teams will be stronger next year. . . but Columbia loses virtually everybody. . .and the Columbia freshman team not only lost every game this year. . .but was slaughtered in all of them. . .which means lachrymose Lou Little will have real cause to weep next season. . .

And speaking of awards again. . . Jersey Joe Walcott. . .heavyweight champion. . .may get annual boxing writers' award tomorrow. . .

Charles Humez. . .Frenchman who is European welterweight champion. . .sore because of alleged brush-off by International Boxing Club. . .

Humez wants to know how come the I B C can make Kid Gavilan a world's champion without meeting him. . .and asks why hasn't he as much right to claim a world title as Gavilan?. . .

This reminds us that Americans have been pretty high-handed in declaring that two fellows they designate shall fight and the winner be declared a world champion without consideration of foreign champions. . .

And Ev Clay sends us an amusing note on Dr. G. T. Hanna. . .who is apparently more absent-minded than the legendary college prof who went to class minus his trousers. . .

Seems Dr. Hanna gave away the brood mare Felwyn. . .and can't remember whom he gave her to. . .now Felwyn's last foal is the stake-winner Candlewood . . .now training for the Ky. Derby at Hialeah. . .and the good doctor would like to buy her back. . .selah. . .

"WHY DO I LIKE OLD EXPORT? THE ANSWER IS ON THE TIP OF MY TONGUE"--
MOUNTAIN WATER MAKES THE DIFFERENCE in this 48 year old favorite brew . . .

The answer will be on the tip of your tongue, too, the first time you taste Cumberland's OLD EXPORT. And that's because something more than the best malt, hops, yeast and skill goes into this famous beer. What is this extra? It's mountain water!

Beer—all beer—is 87% water—did you know that? And what water is used makes just as much difference as what yeast or malt. That's OLD EXPORT'S extra—mountain water. That's what made OLD EXPORT a flavor favorite for four dozen years. Try it—and have the answer on the tip of your tongue—mountain water makes the difference.

It's your money

FIVE WORDS that started people thinking back in the '30s . . . now have 3 times as many people drinking Old Export today

SPORTS GRILL

by Pat Robinson

International News Service Sports Writer

NEW YORK, Dec. 3—(INS)—Hot off the grill today we have with us. . .the award season. . .when everybody and his brother gets a medal or a plaque or a cup or at the very least an all-sectional if not an All-America mention. . .

He must be a palooka indeed who does not get at least a nomination for some sort of an award. . .everybody gets into the donation act. . . Jewelers, hardware merchants, hot dog makers. . .

One of the most coveted awards is the annual Sullivan . . .now up for grabs. . .and the nominations if laid end to end would reach to Iran. . .the Sullivan is given for sportsmanship, good conduct, classy performance. . .

And would you believe it?. . .we do not notice a basketball player among the entries. . .although we note weight lifter Pete George and beel and toe man Henry Laskau. . . as well as such noted figures as the Rev. Bob Richards, the pole vaulter . . .racqueteer Doris Hart. . .Patricia McCormick, diver. . .and footballer Dick Kazmaier. . .

Talk of Red Sox trading Ted Williams reminds of the time the late John McGraw traded Rajah Hornsby for Andy Cohen and Shanty Hogan. . .which moved a sports writer to sing:

"All your Cohens and your Hogans. . .can't begin to fill the Brogans. . .that Hornsby wore so well at second base". . .

We hear that over in Australia the odds are 8 to 5 that Australia will retain the Davis Cup. . .odds seem fair enough. . .

Princeton and Fordham football teams will be stronger next year. . . but Columbia loses virtually everybody. . .and the Columbia freshman team not only lost every game this year. . .but was slaughtered in all of them. . .which means lachrymose Lou Little will have real cause to weep next season. . .

And speaking of awards again. . . Jersey Joe Walcott. . .heavyweight champion. . .may get annual boxing writers' award tomorrow. . .

Charles Humez. . .Frenchman who is European welterweight champion. . .sore because of alleged brush-off by International Boxing Club. . .

Humez wants to know how come the I B C can make Kid Gavilan a world's champion without meeting him. . .and asks why hasn't he as much right to claim a world title as Gavilan?. . .

This reminds us that Americans have been pretty high-handed in declaring that two fellows they designate shall fight and the winner be declared a world champion without consideration of foreign champions. . .

And Ev Clay sends us an amusing note on Dr. G. T. Hanna. . .who is apparently more absent-minded than the legendary college prof who went to class minus his trousers. . .

Seems Dr. Hanna gave away the brood mare Felwyn. . .and can't remember whom he gave her to. . .now Felwyn's last foal is the stake-winner Candlewood . . .now training for the Ky. Derby at Hialeah. . .and the good doctor would like to buy her back. . .selah. . .

"WHY DO I LIKE OLD EXPORT? THE ANSWER IS ON THE TIP OF MY TONGUE"--

MOUNTAIN WATER MAKES THE DIFFERENCE in this 48 year old favorite brew . . .

The answer will be on the tip of your tongue, too, the first time you taste Cumberland's OLD EXPORT. And that's because something more than the best malt, hops, yeast and skill goes into this famous beer. What is this extra? It's mountain water!

Beer—all beer—is 87% water—did you know that? And what water is used makes just as much difference as what yeast or malt. That's OLD EXPORT'S extra—mountain water. That's what made OLD EXPORT a flavor favorite for four dozen years. Try it—and have the answer on the tip of your tongue—mountain water makes the difference.

It's your money

FIVE WORDS that started people thinking back in the '30s . . . now have 3 times as many people drinking Old Export today

Rev. Paul Taylor To Be Installed In Frostburg

Father Will Attend Service Wednesday

FROSTBURG — The installation of Rev. Paul V. Taylor, D.D., Ph. D., as pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., will be attended by his father, Rev. H. M. Taylor, a retired minister of Bethlehem, Pa., and his son, Rev. E. H. Taylor, Thurmont.

The pastor-elect will be presented by Elder Irvin Engle, a member of the committee on installation.

The program will be as follows, organ prelude, Mrs. Ann Ort, organist and choir director; invocation, Rev. E. H. Taylor; prayer, Rev. C. Lloyd Voll, St. Matthews Church, Bowling Green; script lesson, Rev. Raymond Fauld, Zion Church, Cumberland.

Pastoral prayer, Rev. L. F. Wilson, First Methodist Church, Waynesburg, Pa.; address of welcome, Arthur Irwin, president of the consistory of Zion Church; address to congregation, Rev. Carl H. Clapp, St. Mark's Church, Cumberland; address to pastor-elect, Rev. George L. Wehler, Salem Church, this city; response, local ministerium.

Address of fellowship, Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, this city and president of the Frostburg Ministerial Association, and benediction, Rev. H. M. Taylor.

Rev. Mr. Taylor, who was ordained to the ministry in 1913, has a brother, Rev. Dr. Harry M. Taylor, Jr., who is pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, East Orange, N. J.; a brother-in-law, L. Ebert Wilson, pastor of a Methodist Church in Waynesboro; and an uncle, Rev. M. M. Taylor, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Louisville, Ohio.

His great uncle, the late I. W. Taylor, was for many years a bishop in the Church of the Brethren. He has two daughters, Mrs. Jane F. Slabaugh, Corpus Christi, Texas, and Mrs. Nancy V. Snyder, Lansdowne, Pa.

Prior to entering the active ministry, he served as professor of the Greek language and literature at Schuylkill Seminary, now Albright College, for four years. While serving his first charge as a minister he became a missionary to China. While in that country he served as professor of education at Central China University, where his wife headed the music department of the university and taught organ and piano.

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor moved here last week and are now occupying the church parsonage, East Main Street.

The consistory of Zion Church will sponsor a reception for the new pastor and his wife Friday evening, December 7, 7:30 p. m., at the church. Members of the consistory are Philip Krause, Ann Elizabeth Storm, Irvin Engle, Russell Lancaster and Ralph I. Alexander; deacons are Marie Yates Lewis, Donald Filsinger, Arthur Irwin, Amelia Dudley and John S. Knepp.

Kiwanis Aims For Next Year Are Outlined

District Clubs Meet In Romney

ROMNEY, W. Va.—"Liberty: Let's Keep It" has been chosen as the Kiwanis theme for next year, A. K. Van Scoy, Fifth District governor-elect said at a division conference here Saturday.

He urged district officers-elect to help in the fight against inflation by "demanding economy in government, support of our form of government with free enterprise, urging a strong national defense, encouraging all Kiwanis to vote, and intensifying youth activities."

Dr. Ross Linger, district superintendent of the Romney District of the Methodist Church, spoke of the need for service work and recalled the similarity of this day and the days preceeding the first Christmas. "It is better," said Dr. Linger, "to light candles than to curse the darkness."

Homer A. Hoskins state district, governor, was the principal speaker. He spoke briefly about some of the achievements of the district during the year and pointed to the great field for public service which stands ahead for the next year's work.

Past District Governor Burns Huyett outlined to the presidents and vice presidents-elect their duties. Past Lieut. Governor Fred T. Newbraugh, Martinsburg, instructed the secretaries in their duties.

James T. Handlan, Keyser, president of the Keyser club, and chairman of the division committee on agriculture and conservation, outlined his program for the year, pointing out the expanding interest in conservation to cover all forms of both natural and human resources.

R. Leslie Hunter, past president of the Berkeley Spring club, reported for the committee on support of churches in their spiritual aims. Thomas Sites, district chairman of the committee on Key clubs used the record of the Key Club in the Petersburg High School, where he is principal, as an example of the service to be rendered by such an organization.

William E. Michael, secretary of the Keyser Club, showed slides and lectured on "Kiwanis in Action."

J. Errol Ward, past president of the Charles Town Club, outlined the objectives of the inter-club committee which will be headed this year by James "Hank" Moler, Charles Town.

Mineral County 4-H Leaders Receive Training At Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—Nine of the 11 4-H Clubs in Mineral County were represented by their officers who took a course at the 4-H Training School recently in the Mineral County Court House.

Mrs. Irene Spitz Anshel, former recreation specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service, assisted the group conducting the meeting.

Presidents and treasurers were conducted through the training routine by J. E. Prettyman, county agent, and vice-presidents were given the training work by Miss June Core, home demonstration agent.

Secretaries were aided by Miss Mary Rotruck, while John Barger instructed the club reporters.

Attending were Wayne Bohrer, Joan Caldwell, Patricia Williamson, Janice Welch, Brenda Kiser and Dorothy Tichnall, presidents.

Barbara Dayton, Barbara Haines, Jan Smith, Shirley Rogers, Eugene Becker and Oddessa Tephabock, secretaries. Jean Caldwell, Betty Lou Wagoner, Lou Pyles, and Reita Jean Marks, treasurers. Wanda Bohrer, Joan Dayton, Annamae Dodds, Jeanie Mills, Marilyn McCoy, Burton Miller and Dorothy Abernathy, song leaders.

Bobby Steele, Jack Pancake, Nancy Shank and Janet Bane, game leaders.

Jack Sanders, Geraldine Staggs, Shirley Michael, Carolyn Belt, and Edris Roderick, reporters.

C. L. Dodds, Mrs. W. R. McCoy, Mrs. George Siehl, Mrs. Samuel Smith, Mrs. John Bane, Mrs. Russell Stickley, Mrs. June Parrish and Miss Mary Mosser, leaders and councilors.

Christmas Messiah Planned December 17 At Central High

State Legion Leader Speaks In Piedmont

Post Initiates 13 New Members

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Thomas Jones, Beckley, department commander of the American Legion of West Virginia was principal speaker at a meeting of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, when 13 new Legionnaires were initiated.

Jones declared that in the 33 years of the organization, eighty seven million needy children had benefited through the Legion and auxiliaries and that 1,000 teen-age boys participated in Junior League Baseball sponsored by the American Legion.

He also pointed out that 4,000 Boy Scout troops are sponsored by the Legion and 18,000 boys participated at Boys State at Jackson's Mill, also sponsored by the Legion. Jones also told of Girls State sponsored by the auxiliaries of the Legion.

The American Legion always advocates the policy of preparedness and takes part in community services, said Jones.

The initiation was conducted by the degree team of Fairmont Post 17, headed by V. R. Herzop. Other members were H. E. Woodward, Paul V. Fleming, George A. Musgrove and G. B. Rudy. Glenn Boyd, past commander of Kelly-Mansfield Post and past 10th District commander, assisted.

Floyd Davis, past post commander, presented the speakers, including R. A. Thom, Charleston, assistant department adjutant, and Era Shaeffer, Mannington, first vice commander.

Woodward explained the procedure veterans of West Virginia should follow in obtaining their bonuses. Julius McCabe, post commander, presided.

Dedication Set For Carillon

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Baker's Chapel Methodist Church will hold dedication services in the coming few weeks for the new carillon chimes and loud speaking system recently installed by the Schulmerich Company of Sellersville, Pa.

The system of bells can be heard for several miles up and down the valley. During a large gathering such as a funeral, the loudspeaker attachment with microphone on the pulpit may be used to reach the church school rooms and the outside audience. The bells were a gift of the members and friends of the church in honor of the leaders both past and present who have served and are now serving the Baker's Chapel Church.

The chimes and loudspeaker were used for the first time last Sunday at the 9:30 a. m. service and the pastor and committee expressed themselves as more than pleased with them. Rev. J. B. Dryfield is pastor of the church and Dr. Ross Linger is district superintendent. An invitation was extended to all to attend services and hear the new bells by the members of the church located on Route 220 near Durgan.

Rev. Paul Taylor To Be Installed In Frostburg

Father Will Attend Service Wednesday

FROSTBURG — The installation of Rev. Paul V. Taylor, D.D., Ph. D., as pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., will be attended by his father, Rev. H. M. Taylor, a retired minister of Bethlehem, Pa., and his son, Rev. E. H. Taylor, Thurmont.

The pastor-elect will be presented by Elder Irvin Engle, a member of the committee on installation.

The program will be as follows, organ prelude, Mrs. Ann Ort, organist and choir director; invocation, Rev. E. H. Taylor; prayer, Rev. C. Lloyd Voll, St. Matthews Church, Bowling Green; script lesson, Rev. Raymond Fauld, Zion Church, Cumberland.

Pastoral prayer, Rev. L. F. Wilson, First Methodist Church, Waynesburg, Pa.; address of welcome, Arthur Irwin, president of the consistory of Zion Church; address to congregation, Rev. Carl H. Clapp, St. Mark's Church, Cumberland; address to pastor-elect, Rev. George L. Wehler, Salem Church, this city; response, local ministerium.

Address of fellowship, Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, this city and president of the Frostburg Ministerial Association, and benediction, Rev. H. M. Taylor.

Rev. Mr. Taylor, who was ordained to the ministry in 1913, has a brother, Rev. Dr. Harry M. Taylor, Jr., who is pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, East Orange, N. J.; a brother-in-law, L. Ebert Wilson, pastor of a Methodist Church in Waynesboro; and an uncle, Rev. M. M. Taylor, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Louisville, Ohio.

His great uncle, the late I. W. Taylor, was for many years a bishop in the Church of the Brethren. He has two daughters, Mrs. Jane F. Slabaugh, Corpus Christi, Texas, and Mrs. Nancy V. Snyder, Lansdowne, Pa.

Prior to entering the active ministry, he served as professor of the Greek language and literature at Schuylkill Seminary, now Albright College, for four years. While serving his first charge as a minister he became a missionary to China. While in that country he served as professor of education at Central China University, where his wife headed the music department of the university and taught organ and piano.

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor moved here last week and are now occupying the church parsonage, East Main Street.

The consistory of Zion Church will sponsor a reception for the new pastor and his wife Friday evening, December 7, 7:30 p. m., at the church. Members of the consistory are Philip Krause, Ann Elizabeth Storm, Irvin Engle, Russell Lanaster and Ralph I. Alexander; deacons are Marie Yates Lewis, Donald Filsinger, Arthur Irwin, Amelia Dudley and John S. Knepp.

He also pointed out that 4,000 Boy Scout troops are sponsored by the Legion and 18,000 boys participated at Boys State at Jackson's Mill, also sponsored by the Legion. Jones also told of Girls State sponsored by the auxiliaries of the Legion.

The American Legion always advocates the policy of preparedness and takes part in community services, said Jones.

The initiation was conducted by the degree team of Fairmont Post 17, headed by V. R. Herzop. Other members were H. E. Woodward, Paul V. Fleming, George A. Musgrove and G. B. Rudy. Glenn Boyd, past commander of Kelly-Mansfield Post and past 10th District commander, assisted.

Floyd Davis, past post commander, presented the speakers, including R. A. Thom, Charleston, assistant department adjutant, and Era Shaeffer, Mannington, first vice commander.

Woodward explained the procedure veterans of West Virginia should follow in obtaining their bonuses. Julius McCabe, post commander, presided.

Dedication Set For Carillon

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Baker's Chapel Methodist Church will hold dedication services in the coming few weeks for the new carillon chimes and loud speaking system recently installed by the Schulmerich Company of Sellersville, Pa.

The system of bells can be heard for several miles up and down the valley. During a large gathering such as a funeral, the loudspeaker attachment with microphone on the pulpit may be used to reach the church school rooms and the outside audience. The bells were a gift of the members and friends of the church in honor of the leaders both past and present who have served and are now serving the Baker's Chapel Church.

The chimes and loudspeaker were used for the first time last Sunday at the 9:30 a. m. service and the pastor and committee expressed themselves as more than pleased with them. Rev. J. B. Dryfield is pastor of the church and Dr. Ross Linger is district superintendent. An invitation was extended to all to attend services and hear the new bells by the members of the church located on Route 220 near Durgan.

Rev. Paul Taylor To Be Installed In Frostburg

Father Will Attend Service Wednesday

FROSTBURG — The installation of Rev. Paul V. Taylor, D.D., Ph. D., as pastor of Zion Evangelical and Reformed Church, scheduled for Wednesday at 7:30 p. m., will be attended by his father, Rev. H. M. Taylor, a retired minister of Bethlehem, Pa., and his son, Rev. E. H. Taylor, Thurmont.

The pastor-elect will be presented by Elder Irvin Engle, a member of the committee on installation.

The program will be as follows, organ prelude, Mrs. Ann Ort, organist and choir director; invocation, Rev. E. H. Taylor; prayer, Rev. C. Lloyd Voll, St. Matthews Church, Bowling Green; script lesson, Rev. Raymond Fauld, Zion Church, Cumberland.

Pastoral prayer, Rev. L. F. Wilson, First Methodist Church, Waynesburg, Pa.; address of welcome, Arthur Irwin, president of the consistory of Zion Church; address to congregation, Rev. Carl H. Clapp, St. Mark's Church, Cumberland; address to pastor-elect, Rev. George L. Wehler, Salem Church, this city; response, local ministerium.

Address of fellowship, Rev. John Bayley Jones, pastor of First Methodist Church, this city and president of the Frostburg Ministerial Association, and benediction, Rev. H. M. Taylor.

Rev. Mr. Taylor, who was ordained to the ministry in 1913, has a brother, Rev. Dr. Harry M. Taylor, Jr., who is pastor of Calvary Methodist Church, East Orange, N. J.; a brother-in-law, L. Ebert Wilson, pastor of a Methodist Church in Waynesboro; and an uncle, Rev. M. M. Taylor, pastor of the Church of the Brethren, Louisville, Ohio.

His great uncle, the late I. W. Taylor, was for many years a bishop in the Church of the Brethren. He has two daughters, Mrs. Jane F. Slabaugh, Corpus Christi, Texas, and Mrs. Nancy V. Snyder, Lansdowne, Pa.

Prior to entering the active ministry, he served as professor of the Greek language and literature at Schuylkill Seminary, now Albright College, for four years. While serving his first charge as a minister he became a missionary to China. While in that country he served as professor of education at Central China University, where his wife headed the music department of the university and taught organ and piano.

Rev. and Mrs. Taylor moved here last week and are now occupying the church parsonage, East Main Street.

The consistory of Zion Church will sponsor a reception for the new pastor and his wife Friday evening, December 7, 7:30 p. m., at the church. Members of the consistory are Philip Krause, Ann Elizabeth Storm, Irvin Engle, Russell Lancaster and Ralph I. Alexander; deacons are Marie Yates Lewis, Donald Filsinger, Arthur Irwin, Amelia Dudley and John S. Knepp.

"FLY-UP" CEREMONY—Carolyn Cuppett walks across a rustic bridge, symbolizing her crossing the threshhold into Girl Scouting from the ranks of the Brownies. Carolyn was one of four Brownies who "flew up" to Oakland Troop 1, Intermediates, at the ceremony at the William James Hotel. Looking on are Mrs. S. F. Hamill, Jr., (left) and Mrs. J. Nordeck (right background), assistant Brownie leaders; Brownies Jane Hanst, Carolyn Paugh, Brenda DeBerry, Charlotte Biser, Patricia Leighton, Barbara German and Patricia Powers, and Girl Scouts Carolyn Dusic and Beverly Winters. Some 144 Scouts, Brownies and parents attended.

Kiwanis Aims For Next Year Are Outlined

District Clubs Meet In Romney

ROMNEY, W. Va.—"Liberty: Let's Keep It" has been chosen as the Kiwanis theme for next year, A. K. Van Scoy, Fifth District governor-elect said at a division conference here Saturday.

He urged district officers-elect to help in the fight against inflation by "demanding economy in government, support of our form of government with free enterprise, urging a strong national defense, encouraging all Kiwanis to vote, and intensifying youth activities."

Dr. Ross Linger, district superintendent of the Romney District of the Methodist Church, spoke of the need for service work and recalled the similarity of this day and the days preceeding the first Christmas. "It is better," said Dr. Linger, "to light candles than to curse the darkness."

Homer A. Hoskins state district, governor, was the principal speaker. He spoke briefly about some of the achievements of the district during the year and pointed to the great field for public service which stands ahead for the next year's work.

Past District Governor Burns Huyett outlined to the presidents and vice presidents-elect their duties. Past Lieut. Governor Fred T. Newbraugh, Martinsburg, instructed the secretaries in their duties.

James T. Handlan, Keyser, president of the Keyser club, and chairman of the division committee on agriculture and conservation, outlined his program for the year, pointing out the expanding interest in conservation to cover all forms of both natural and human resources.

R. Leslie Hunter, past president of the Berkeley Spring club, reported for the committee on support of churches in their spiritual aims. Thomas Sites, district chairman of the committee on Key clubs used the record of the Key Club in the Petersburg High School, where he is principal, as an example of the service to be rendered by such an organization.

William E. Michael, secretary of the Keyser Club, showed slides and lectured on "Kiwanis in Action."

J. Errol Ward, past president of the Charles Town Club, outlined the objectives of the inter-club committee which will be headed this year by James "Hank" Moler, Charles Town.

Mineral County 4-H Leaders Receive Training At Keyser

KEYSER, W. Va.—Nine of the 11 4-H Clubs in Mineral County were represented by their officers who took a course at the 4-H Training School recently in the Mineral County Court House.

Mrs. Irene Spitz Anshel, former recreation specialist of the Agricultural Extension Service, assisted the group conducting the meeting.

Presidents and treasurers were conducted through the training routine by J. E. Prettyman, county agent, and vice-presidents were given the training work by Miss June Core, home demonstration agent.

Secretaries were aided by Miss Mary Rotruck, while John Barger instructed the club reporters.

Attending were Wayne Bohrer, Joan Caldwell, Patricia Williamson, Janice Welch, Brenda Kiser and Dorothy Tichnall, presidents.

Barbara Dayton, Barbara Haines, Jan Smith, Shirley Rogers, Eugene Becker and Oddessa Tephabock, secretaries. Jean Caldwell, Betty Lou Wagoner, Lou Pyles, and Reita Jean Marks, treasurers. Wanda Bohrer, Joan Dayton, Annamae Dodds, Jeanie Mills, Marilyn McCoy, Burton Miller and Dorothy Abernathy, song leaders.

Bobby Steele, Jack Pancake, Nancy Shank and Janet Bane, game leaders.

Jack Sanders, Geraldine Staggs, Shirley Michael, Carolyn Belt, and Edris Roderick, reporters.

C. L. Dodds, Mrs. W. R. McCoy, Mrs. George Siehl, Mrs. Samuel Smith, Mrs. John Bane, Mrs. Russell Stickley, Mrs. June Parrish and Miss Mary Mosser, leaders and councilors.

Homemakers Name Officers

FROSTBURG—At a recent meeting of the Frostburg Homemakers, Mrs. Adam Baer was elected president and Mrs. Alice Miller treasurer.

Miss Maude Bean, retired home demonstration agent, was made honorary member of the club and Mrs. Daniel Eveland and Mrs. Grande were welcomed as guests.

Mrs. William Lemmert and Miss Edna Spitznas were appointed to audit the books for the past year.

Mrs. Mabel Shumaker reported on the hooked rug demonstration given recently and plans were made to have hooking classes after the holidays. Mrs. Allen Hager talked about the reception held for Miss Bean and Mrs. Glenn Beall gave an account of the reception she attended, in honor of Princess Elizabeth and Prince Philip.

Mrs. Reford Aldridge, clothing chairman, had arranged an inspiring array of Christmas gifts made by members. Each member described how her gift was made and patterns were made available for those desiring them.

The program included a skit by three 4-H girls, Miss Carolyn Karlowa, Miss Beatrice Smith, and Miss Shirley Miller. Thanksgiving readings were given by Miss Elizabeth Workman and Mrs. Althea Yenshaw.

The December meeting will be a jingle party Thursday, December 20, instead of the regular evening. Hostesses will be Mrs. Royal Skidmore chairman, Mrs. Vanetta Powell, Mrs. Winifred Saylor, Mrs. Katherine Savastano, Miss Irma Schlosstein, Mrs. Henry Shaffer, Miss Edna Spitznas, Mrs. Elnore Valentine, Mrs. William Walker, Mrs. William Walsh and Mrs. Eva Weber.

Christmas Messiah Planned December 17 At Central High

LONACONING — Miss Dorothy Ann Marshall will sing soprano arias in "The Christmas Messiah" at Central High School December 17. They will be, "There were Shepherds Abiding In the Field"; "And Lo, The Angel of the Lord Came Upon Them"; "And the Angel Said Unto Them"; "And Suddenly There Was With The Angel"; and "I Know That My Redeemer Liveth".

Miss Dorothy Brown will sing an alto aria, recitative, "Then Shall The Eyes of the Blind Be Opened"; and an alto aria air, "He Shall Feed His Flock".

Billy Neff will sing the introduction and tenor recitative, "Come Ye My People". Jack Meese, a Central High School Senior student, will sing a bass solo, "But Who May Abide the Day of His Coming?".

The choir will sing, "And the Glory of the Lord"; "O Thou That Tellest Good Tidings"; "For Unto Us A Child Is Born"; "Glory to God"; "Rejoice Greatly, O Daughter of Zion"; "Why Do the Nations Rage?"; and the closing number, "Hallelujah!"

Joseph L. Derry will direct "The Christmas Messiah" by George Frederick Handel, the Christmas portions made practical for high school choruses, edited by Ira B. Wilson. The Christmas program will be December 17 in the Lonaconing auditorium.

St. James Church Has Corporate Communion

WESTERNPORT — Corporate Communion for the men of the parish was observed Sunday morning at St. James Episcopal Church with Rev. Geogre W. Davison, rector, officiating.

Following the service a breakfast was served in the Parish Hall. David Nuzum, a member of the Potomac State School faculty of Keyser, who was guest speaker, spoke on "Fellowship." Raymond C. Hudson, chairman of the corporate communion service, was toastmaster.

The service was in conjunction with a nationwide effort of the Episcopal Church for a corporate communion for men and boys in every parish on the first Sunday in Advent.

Deer Hunters Fill West Virginia Woods

KEYSER, W. Va.—The woods in West Virginia counties are being combed by hundreds of hunters the first three days of this week during open season on deer and doe.

In Mineral county, over 90 per cent of the rural property owners have posted their lands against hunting deer, while in Grant County about 80 percent of land owners have posted their properties. In Hardy County, 65 percent are opposed and approximately 50 percent of lands in Hampshire County are posted.

State Legion Leader Speaks In Piedmont

Post Initiates 13 New Members

PIEDMONT, W. Va. — Thomas Jones, Beckley, department commander of the American Legion of West Virginia was principal speaker at a meeting of Kelly-Mansfield Post 52, when 13 new Legionnaires were initiated.

Jones declared that in the 33 years of the organization, eighty seven million needy children had benefited through the Legion and auxiliaries and that 1,000 teen-age boys participated in Junior League Baseball sponsored by the American Legion.

He also pointed out that 4,000 Boy Scout troops are sponsored by the Legion and 18,000 boys participated at Boys State at Jackson's Mill, also sponsored by the Legion. Jones also told of Girls State sponsored by the auxiliaries of the Legion.

The American Legion always advocates the policy of preparedness and takes part in community services, said Jones.

The initiation was conducted by the degree team of Fairmont Post 17, headed by V. R. Herzop. Other members were H. E. Woodward, Paul V. Fleming, George A. Musgrove and G. B. Rudy. Glenn Boyd, past commander of Kelly-Mansfield Post and past 10th District commander, assisted.

Floyd Davis, past post commander, presented the speakers, including R. A. Thom, Charleston, assistant department adjutant, and Era Shaeffer, Mannington, first vice commander.

Woodward explained the procedure veterans of West Virginia should follow in obtaining their bonuses. Julius McCabe, post commander, presided.

Dedication Set For Carillon

MOOREFIELD, W. Va. — Baker's Chapel Methodist Church will hold dedication services in the coming few weeks for the new carillon chimes and loud speaking system recently installed by the Schulmerich Company of Sellersville, Pa.

The system of bells can be heard for several miles up and down the valley. During a large gathering such as a funeral, the loudspeaker attachment with microphone on the pulpit may be used to reach the church school rooms and the outside audience. The bells were a gift of the members and friends of the church in honor of the leaders both past and present who have served and are now serving the Baker's Chapel Church.

The chimes and loudspeaker were used for the first time last Sunday at the 9:30 a. m. service and the pastor and committee expressed themselves as more than pleased with them. Rev. J. B. Dryfield is pastor of the church and Dr. Ross Linger is district superintendent. An invitation was extended to all to attend services and hear the new bells by the members of the church located on Route 220 near Durgan.

Ralph Thuss Will Resign Rec Aide Post

Ralph Thuss, assistant in the Recreation Department, is resigning effective December 15.

The Mayor and Council was informed by Director Edmund F. Hoey yesterday of Thuss' intentions. Thus has accepted employment at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Hoey said.

The council asked that Thuss submit a letter of resignation for action.

Hoey has resigned effective January 1 to accept a similar position in Baltimore County.

The council confirmed Herman A. Cunningham as a regular member of the Fire Department effective November 16.

Mrs. Marguerite T. Findlay was appointed to the Park Board for a term extended to January 1, 1953, revising a previous order.

Ishael Welsh was appointed part-time janitor at Fort Hill for the Recreation Department basketball program at a wage of 80 cents an hour. Charles Bryce was named an athletic assistant at $1 an hour.

The city auditor was authorized to issue checks as follows: $4,189.35 to the Cumberland Contracting Company in payment of the fourth estimate on repaving of Valley Street in connection with the flood control project; and $20 to Charles DeMoss and William L. Wilson, Jr., as repayment of appeals bond filed in Circuit Court.

The application of Officer Luther L. Youngblood to remain on the Police Department roster another year was approved.

Charles Paul Roeder, 813 Ashland Avenue, said that the patched sidewalk without expansion joints at North Centre Street and Frederick Street was an unsatisfactory job and reminded the council no action had been taken as previously requested. The matter was referred to the liaison engineer for flood control work.

Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder, reporting on the opening of an alley behind Gephart Drive, said it could be opened at the Thompson Street end. She urged residents to get necessary easements.

Commissioner John J. Long said the meeting with North End residents regarding water pressure and fire protection had been postponed until after the regular council meeting next week. He invited the Mayor and Council to attend.

Commissioner George H. Tederick asked if the B. and O. could remove an incline in the Thomas Street relocation project. Mayor Thomas S. Post said that the degree of incline had been agreed to in contracts with the B. and O., but asked the city engineer to check.

Among month-end reports submitted yesterday, the Police Department reported 838 arrests with fines totaling $1,477 in November. The Fire Department had 48 calls and Major damage.

Tax collections for the month were $74,655.11, George E. Davis collector, said. City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said collections at his office amounted to $3,634.70.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 85,870,000 gallons as compared to 89,190,000 a year ago. The daily average was 12,267,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot, two inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon 22 feet, five inches below.

KEEPING UP WITH HOLLYWOOD

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 (INS) — Those mad-about-each-other newlyweds, Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis, can carry on their private life smooching to their hearts content right out in public when Universal-International teams them in "My True Love." How appropriate!

Yes, Janet's home studio, MGM, is about to okay her appearance with her ever lovin' husband in Joe Hoffman's romantic comedy scheduled to start when the Curtists return from Europe.

Janet Leigh

As you know, Tony and Janet are in the group of stars who will appear in London for the playing field charity and then go on to Germany to put on the same show for 7,000 GIs in Weisbaden.

The life of Eddie Cantor, which is now a certainty at Warner Brothers, will be treated almost exactly as was the Al Jolson story.

Sidney Skolsky, who was the originator of the Jolson idea, is on the Warner lot getting the Cantor musical in readiness. He will produce it and although Cantor's voice will be used and his personality copied as in the case of Jolson, a younger actor will play the Cantor role.

In other words, Warners is looking for an actor who will do for Eddie what Larry Parks did for Al Jolson at Columbia.

Madge Meredith, former actress who was released from prison following a campaign headed by Zasu Pitts and other Hollywood figures, gets her first break on the comeback trail.

She has been signed by Hal Roach, Jr., and Carol Case for the lead in a television series called "One Angle Too Many." It's a cops and robbers story, but at that it couldn't possibly equal the drama of Madge's own story.

Arrested and convicted on the charge of one Nick Gianaclis, otherwise known as "Leon the Greek," who said she had assisted in framing him, Madge served a year's sentence.

There was always great doubt in the minds of many people that Madge was guilty.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

One of the hottest romances in our town is Ralph Meeker and Barbara Ruick. Lurene Tuttle's daughter. Barbara is on the set of "Glory Alley" at MGM practically every day.

Betty Hutton left Honolulu today for home, feeling wonderful and sorry to get back even though Charles O'Curran will be waiting for her.

The French Society of Composers voted Dimitri Tiomkin's score for "Strangers On A Train" the best for 1951.

Leslie Caron spends Christmas in Austin, Minnesota, with her husband, George Hormel, where she'll meet all her in-laws.

Bing, Dixie and the boys leave for Sun Valley the 20th of December to spend the Christmas holidays.

Gloria Vanderbilt, Lady Furness, and Jack H. Young of MGM are manufacturing flexible plastic dolls which promise to be a very profitable business for the glamorous twins.

George Fisher and his wife, Mary Ann, have reconciled, which is as it should be since they expect a baby in March.

The younger generation will be out in all its glory at the "Fixed Bayonets" premiere on Wednesday night. Robert Wagner is bringing Ann Francis; Susan Zanuck will be on the arm of Craig Hill, while Mitzi Gaynor's steady fellow, Richard Coyle, young attorney, will escort her. These youngsters will rub shoulders with the top military figures and the older film stars.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

AA Observes Local Founding

Members of the local clergy and law enforcement officers were guests at the fourth anniversary dinner meeting of the Alcoholics Anonymous Chapter Saturday night at St. Mary's Hall.

Out-of-town speakers were featured. One related how he was rehabilitated with his family and how he was successful in obtaining his former position through the help of AA.

Another speaker, a Washington woman, told how her drinking began at her home in a small North Carolina town when she took "moonshine" cocktails before dinner. She said she "found herself" through AA and has not taken a drink for three years.

A prominent businessman of Washington also related how he obtained sobriety and a new way of life by practicing the 12 suggested steps of AA.

The meeting was well attended, officials said.

Any one seeking information in regard to Alcoholics Anonymous should contact Post Office Box 323, Cumberland, Md.

Ralph Thuss Will Resign Rec Aide Post

Ralph Thuss, assistant in the Recreation Department, is resigning effective December 15.

The Mayor and Council was informed by Director Edmund F. Hoey yesterday of Thuss' intentions.

Thus has accepted employment at the Allegany Ballistics Laboratory, Hoey said.

The council asked that Thuss submit a letter of resignation for action.

Hoey has resigned effective January 1 to accept a similar position in Baltimore County.

The council confirmed Herman A. Cunningham as a regular member of the Fire Department effective November 16.

Mrs. Marguerite T. Findlay was appointed to the Park Board for a term extended to January 1, 1953, revising a previous order.

Ishael Welsh was appointed part-time janitor at Fort Hill for the Recreation Department basketball program at a wage of 80 cents an hour. Charles Bryce was named an athletic assistant at $1 an hour.

The city auditor was authorized to issue checks as follows: $4,189.35 to the Cumberland Contracting Company in payment of the fourth estimate on repaving of Valley Street in connection with the flood control project; and $20 to Charles DeMoss and William L. Wilson, Jr., as repayment of appeals bond filed in Circuit Court.

The application of Officer Luther L. Youngblood to remain on the Police Department roster another year was approved.

Charles Paul Roeder, 813 Ashland Avenue, said that the patched sidewalk without expansion joints at North Centre Street and Frederick Street was an unsatisfactory job and reminded the council no action had been taken as previously requested. The matter was referred to the liaison engineer for flood control work.

Commissioner Lucile W. Roeder, reporting on the opening of an alley behind Gephart Drive, said it could be opened at the Thompson Street end. She urged residents to get necessary easements.

Commissioner John J. Long said the meeting with North End residents regarding water pressure and fire protection had been postponed until after the regular council meeting next week. He invited the Mayor and Council to attend.

Commissioner George H. Tederick asked if the B. and O. could remove an incline in the Thomas Street relocation project. Mayor Thomas S. Post said that the degree of incline had been agreed to in contracts with the B. and O., but asked the city engineer to check.

Among month-end reports submitted yesterday, the Police Department reported 838 arrests with fines totaling $1,477 in November. The Fire Department had 48 calls and Major damage.

Tax collections for the month were $74,655.11, George E. Davis collector, said. City Clerk Wallace G. Ullery said collections at his office amounted to $3,634.70.

Water consumption for the week ending Sunday was 85,870,000 gallons as compared to 89,190,000 a year ago. The daily average was 12,267,000. The water level at Lake Gordon is one foot, two inches below the crest of the spillway and at Lake Koon 22 feet, five inches below.

R. L. Powers New State Police Clerk

Maryland State Police have a new clerk at the LaVale barracks.

He is Robert L. Powers, 156 Wood Street, Frostburg, who assumed his duties last week to succeed Robert L. Potts.

The father of two children, Powers is the husband of the former Miss Mary E. McLane. Prior to accepting his new post, he was employed at Cas Taylor's Restaurant at North Mechanic and Valley Streets.

Powers served 33 months in the Army during World War II. He saw action in the Pacific.

By LOUELLA PARSONS

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 3 (INS) — Those mad-about-each-other newlyweds, Janet Leigh and Tony Curtis, can carry on their private life smooching to their hearts content right out in public when Universal-International teams them in "My True Love." How appropriate!

Yes, Janet's home studio, MGM, is about to okay her appearance with her ever lovin' husband in Joe Hoffman's romantic comedy scheduled to start when the Curtists return from Europe.

Janet Leigh

As you know, Tony and Janet are in the group of stars who will appear in London for the playing field charity and then go on to Germany to put on the same show for 7,000 GIs in Weisbaden.

The life of Eddie Cantor, which is now a certainty at Warner Brothers, will be treated almost exactly as was the Al Jolson story.

Sidney Skolsky, who was the originator of the Jolson idea, is on the Warner lot getting the Cantor musical in readiness. He will produce it and although Cantor's voice will be used and his personality copied as in the case of Jolson, a younger actor will play the Cantor role.

In other words, Warners is looking for an actor who will do for Eddie what Larry Parks did for Al Jolson at Columbia.

Madge Meredith, former actress who was released from prison following a campaign headed by Zasu Pitts and other Hollywood figures, gets her first break on the comeback trail.

Madge Meredith, former actress who was released from prison following a campaign headed by Zasu Pitts and other Hollywood figures, gets her first break on the comeback trail.

She has been signed by Hal Roach, Jr., and Carol Case for the lead in a television series called "One Angle Too Many." It's a cops and robbers story, but at that it couldn't possibly equal the drama of Madge's own story.

Arrested and convicted on the charge of one Nick Gianaclis, otherwise known as "Leon the Greek," who said she had assisted in framing him, Madge served a year's sentence.

There was always great doubt in the minds of many people that Madge was guilty.

Flashing, dark-eyed Patricia Medina is a very happy girl this morning. She has just been given the biggest break of her life . . . the femme lead in "Botany Bay," with such stars as Alan Ladd and James Mason.

Pat's English accent was one of the things that won her the job. Director John Farrow had a very difficult time finding a girl who could act, who was pretty and yet had a convincing accent. Well, English-born Pat has all those requisites.

Snapshots of Hollywood collected at random:

One of the hottest romances in our town is Ralph Meeker and Barbara Ruick, Lurene Tuttle's daughter. Barbara is on the set of "Glory Alley" at MGM practically every day.

Betty Hutton left Honolulu today for home, feeling wonderful and sorry to get back even though Charles O'Curran will be waiting for her.

The French Society of Composers voted Dimitri Tiomkin's score for "Strangers On A Train" the best for 1951.

Leslie Caron spends Christmas in Austin, Minnesota, with her husband, George Hormel, where she'll meet all her in-laws.

Bing, Dixie and the boys leave for Sun Valley the 20th of December to spend the Christmas holidays.

Gloria Vanderbilt, Lady Furness, and Jack H. Young of MGM are manufacturing flexible plastic dolls which promise to be a very profitable business for the glamorous twins.

George Fisher and his wife, Mary Ann, have reconciled, which is as it should be since they expect a baby in March.

The younger generation will be out in all its glory at the "Fixed Bayonets" premiere on Wednesday night. Robert Wagner is bringing Ann Francis; Susan Zanuck will be on the arm of Craig Hill, while Mitzi Gaynor's steady fellow, Richard Coyle, young attorney, will escort her. These youngsters will rub shoulders with the top military figures and the older film stars.

That's all today. See you tomorrow.

AA Observes Local Founding

Members of the local clergy and law enforcement officers were guests at the fourth anniversary dinner meeting of the Alcoholics Anonymous Chapter Saturday night at St. Mary's Hall.

Out-of-town speakers were featured. One related how he was rehabilitated with his family and how he was successful in obtaining his former position through the help of AA.

Another speaker, a Washington woman, told how her drinking began at her home in a small North Carolina town when she took "moonshine" cocktails before dinner. She said she "found herself" through AA and has not taken a drink for three years.

A prominent businessman of Washington also related how he obtained sobriety and a new way of life by practicing the 12 suggested steps of AA.

The meeting was well attended, officials said.

Any one seeking information in regard to Alcoholics Anonymous should contact Post Office Box 323, Cumberland, Md.

Gray hair should be a stunning silver halo! These model ways will turn the trick for you.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

I have never been able to understand why the first streak of gray hair throws so many women into a panic. Gray hair does not age a woman. Properly handled it gives a new fillip to her looks, softens her face, and intensifies her complexion coloring.

Powers Girl Sandra Williams has actually won fame and fortune because of her gray hair. Of course, she knows how to use it to set off her personality and gain distinction for herself in any crowd. If you follow her do's and don'ts, you too can make a silver halo out of a streak or a headful of gray locks.

Silver Halo

Sandra's firts warning is: Don't let your weight increase. Pounds are the real ager, not hair coloring. Diet and exercise will keep your body slim, firm, lithe, and young —and your hair will naturally be labelled "premature."

Don't wear your hair in a run-of-the-mill, little girl," or excessively-curled style. With the first, you'll look undistinguished; with the second, anachronistic; with the third you will be reminiscent of George Washington. Go to the best hair stylist available for a cut and styling that is sleek, crisp, currently modish, and primarily flattering.

Don't experiment with permanents; you cannot afford either the over-curl or the yellowing that may result. Do get expert advice.

Don't let either sun or shampooing yellow your hair. Wear a hat or scarf in the sun. After each shampoo, use a silver rinse.

Your Special Advantages

Don't let your hair be unkempt for a split second. Wind-blown gray hair gives a harpy look. Use all the grooming aids—brush, lacquer, and pomade. Carry purse editions of each in your handbag. Smooth, shining gray hair has a handsome look that other coloring never achieves. Make the most of this advantage!

Don't wear drab clothes. Do dress in chic lines and interesting colors. Now that your hair is gray, you're much more likely to carry off high fashion well—a definite asset.

Don't bemoan your hair! Instead, make something wonderful of it.

BARCLAY ON BRIDGE

By Shepard Barclay

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOSE THE FIRST FOUR

IF YOU manage to take nine tricks, losing four, you don't care when the opponents take theirs so long as they don't get enough to beat your No Trump game contract. That is why it sometimes pays to seek game at that declaration even though you have a totally unstopped suit. If you reckon nine tricks sure for you as soon as you get the lead, and feel sure the defenders have no more than a four-card length in the suit they open, your sole chance for game may be in No Trumps.

	♠ 9 3 ♥ 7 2 ♦ K J 10 8 4 2 ♣ 9 3 2
♠ Q 10 8 6 ♥ 9 6 5 4 ♦ 6 3 ♣ Q J 4	N W E S	♠ K J 7 5 ♥ Q J 10 ♦ 9 7 ♣ A K 10 7
	♠ A 4 2 ♥ A K 8 3 ♦ A Q 5 ♣ 8 6 5

(Dealer: West. North-South vulnerable.)

West	North	East	South
Pass	Pass	1 ♣	Dbl.
Pass	1 ♦	Pass	1 ♥
1 ♠	2 ♦	2 ♠	3 ♦
3 ♠	Pass	Pass	3 NT

The logic that guided South to his final bid of 3-No Trumps might better have been applied on his preceding turn, when he bid 3-Diamonds. That might have been passed, and he would have been in a non-game contract. Afterward, he said he didn't think clearly until after West's 3-Spades reached him. Then he had it figured out.

North's second bid, of 2-Diamonds, was a "free bid," made over West's 2-Spades, thereby indicating his hand probably possessed some kind of value, whereas his first call had been pushed out of him by the double. In view of South's own strength and the opponents' bidding, North could hardly have any high cards anywhere except in diamonds, and South held the A-Q in that suit. Hence north must hold at least a six-card suit.

South's diamond honors made it a virtual certainty six tricks could be taken there, and three quick ones in the majors made a total of nine in sight. Such being the case, might the defenders take more than four tricks before South got the lead? He answered his own question in the negative. Since the club suit was named only once, it probably was of only four cards, perhaps of only three, one of those convenience openings to make rebidding easy. So South boldly bid 3-No Trumps then, and of course made it, whereas a try for an 11-trick game in diamonds would have been beaten two tricks.

* * *

Tomorrow's Problem

	♠ Q 9 3 ♥ 10 2 ♦ K Q 10 6 ♣ 8 7 5 3
♠ J 7 2 ♥ A Q 6 ♦ 9 7 5 ♣ 10 6 2	N W E S	♠ 8 5 4 ♥ J 9 8 ♦ 5 4 ♣ A 3 2
	♠ A K 10 6 ♥ K 7 3 ♦ J 8 ♣ A Q 9 4

(Dealer: South. North-South vulnerable.)

What should West lead after South bid 1-Club, North 1-Diamond, South 1-Spade, North 2-Clubs and South 3-No Trumps?

"The Authority on Authorities"

LOSE THE FIRST FOUR

IF YOU manage to take nine tricks, losing four, you don't care when the opponents take theirs so long as they don't get enough to beat your No Trump game contract. That is why it sometimes pays to seek game at that declaration even though you have a totally unstopped suit. If you reckon nine tricks sure for you as soon as you get the lead, and feel sure the defenders have no more than a four-card length in the suit they open, your sole chance for game may be in No Trumps.

The logic that guided South to his final bid of 3-No Trumps might better have been applied on his preceding turn, when he bid 3-Diamonds. That might have been passed, and he would have been in a non-game contract. Afterward, he said he didn't think clearly until after West's 3-Spades reached him. Then he had it figured out.

North's second bid, of 2-Diamonds, was a "free bid," made over West's 2-Spades, thereby indicating his hand probably possessed some kind of value, whereas his first call had been pushed out of him by the double. In view of South's own strength and the opponents' bidding, North could hardly have any high cards anywhere except in diamonds, and South held the A-Q in that suit. Hence north must hold at least a six-card suit.

South's diamond honors made it a virtual certainty six tricks could be taken there, and three quick ones in the majors made a total of nine in sight. Such being the case, might the defenders take more than four tricks before South got the lead? He answered his own question in the negative. Since the club suit was named only once, it probably was of only four cards, perhaps of only three, one of those convenience openings to make rebidding easy. So South boldly bid 3-No Trumps then, and of course made it, whereas a try for an 11-trick game in diamonds would have been beaten two tricks.

Gray hair should be a stunning silver halo! These model ways will turn the trick for you.

SECRETS OF CHARM

By JOHN ROBERT POWERS

I have never been able to understand why the first streak of gray hair throws so many women into a panic. Gray hair does not age a woman. Properly handled it gives a new fillip to her looks, softens her face, and intensifies her complexion coloring.

Powers Girl Sandra Williams has actually won fame and fortune because of her gray hair. Of course, she knows how to use it to set off her personality and gain distinction for herself in any crowd. If you follow her do's and don'ts, you too can make a silver halo out of a streak or a headful of gray locks.

Silver Halo

Sandra's firts warning is: Don't let your weight increase. Pounds are the real ager, not hair coloring. Diet and exercise will keep your body slim, firm, lithe, and young —and your hair will naturally be labelled "premature."

Don't wear your hair in a run-of-the-mill, little girl," or excessively-curled style. With the first, you'll look undistinguished; with the second, anachronistic; with the third you will be reminiscent of George Washington. Go to the best hair stylist available for a cut and styling that is sleek, crisp, currently modish, and primarily flattering.

Don't experiment with permanents; you cannot afford either the over-curl or the yellowing that may result. Do get expert advice.

Don't let either sun or shampooing yellow your hair. Wear a hat or scarf in the sun. After each shampoo, use a silver rinse.

Your Special Advantages

Don't let your hair be unkempt for a split second. Wind-blown gray hair gives a harpy look. Use all the grooming aids—brush, lacquer, and pomade. Carry purse editions of each in your handbag. Smooth, shining gray hair has a handsome look that other coloring never achieves. Make the most of this advantage!

Don't wear drab clothes. Do dress in chic lines and interesting colors. Now that your hair is gray, you're much more likely to carry off high fashion well—a definite asset.

Don't bemoan your hair! Instead, make something wonderful of it.

P. S. from J. R. P.
YOUR STEPS TO A SUCCESSFUL CAREER

A worthwhile investment in charm for every girl starting a business career — every girl or woman now in business who is eager to reach top-flight success. It tells you how to make that important "good impression" to get your job . . . reveals secrets on how to hold your job. See how easy it is to choose a suitable wardrobe. Save time — uncertainty — needless worry through these short cut steps in charm that lead to YOUR SUCCESS. In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and Mother, Elizabeth O'Donnell, who passed away 2 years ago, December 3.
God knows how much we miss you
Never shall your memory fade,
Loving thoughts shall ever wonder
To the spot where you are laid.
HUSBAND & DAUGHTER

In loving memory of our husband and father, Joseph Edward Lowery, who passed away 3 years ago, December 4.
His life is a beautiful memory,
His absence a silent grief.
He sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
In the sunshine of perfect Peace.
Sadly missed by his wife MRS. ANNA LOWERY, and daughters, MRS. MARIE SIMPKINS and MRS. GEORGE TROUTMAN.

In Memoriam

In loving memory of our dear wife and Mother, Elizabeth O'Donnell, who passed away 2 years ago, December 3.
God knows how much we miss you
Never shall your memory fade.
Loving thoughts shall ever wonder
To the spot where you are laid.
HUSBAND & DAUGHTER

In loving memory of our husband and father, Joseph Edward Lowery, who passed away 3 years ago, December 4.
His life is a beautiful memory,
His absence a silent grief,
He sleeps in God's beautiful garden,
In the sunshine of perfect Peace.

YOU'LL AGREE

Yes, we say that this older home is positively the best buy we have had to offer this year. It has charm, it is in wonderful condition. In all there are 8 rooms, 4 on the first floor and 4 huge bedrooms and tile bath on the second floor. Full concrete basement, hot water heat. West Side location. Reasonably priced! See it and be convinced.

Two story brick, centrally located. Four rooms and modern conveniences on each floor. Hot water heat, coal furnace. The value is considerable more than the asking price. Ask us about it.

Stock Market Edges Higher In Slow, Reluctant Manner

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The stock market edged a little higher today in a slow and reluctant manner.

Gains of small fractions were in the majority. The Associated Press averages gained a thin dime. Activity was at a slow pace all through the session.

In the late trading, there was slow steady chipping away at the earlier gains.

The dime advance in the Associated Press averages sent them to $97.20 with industrials moving up 90 cents, rails going down 20 cents and utilities unchanged.

There were 486 issues on the advancing side while 388 lost ground out of 1,129 traded. There were 28 new highs and 26 dropped to new lows.

The volume was 1,220,000 shares, quite a bit under the 1,530,000 of last Friday, the previous full session. But today's total was in line with most recent sessions.

The list of 15 most active stocks was headed by Curtiss Wright, which sold 14,900 shares and wound up at 9¼, unchanged from the previous close. There were seven advances and six declines on the most active list.

Steels fell flat on their faces with U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown sheet all down fractions.

The motors didn't do too well, the oils were mixed, chemicals had some bright spots.

There was no definite pattern that ran through all the groups. Each major group went pretty much its own way.

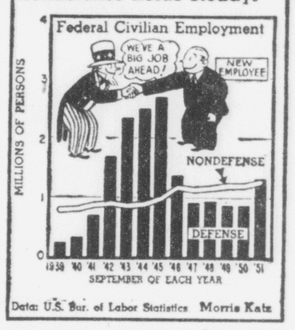

Among the few gains of moe than a point were Kennecott Copper, up 1¼ at 87⅞; American Zinc, ahead 1½ at 26½ and du Pont, a 2⅛ point gain at 88⅜.

In the motor group General Motors gained a fraction while Chrysler and Studebaker lost ground. Goodyear and Goodrich Rubber were ahead fractions and U. S. Rubber was down 1½ at 69½.

Security Committee, of which Senator McCarran of Nevada is chairman, issued a report describing a Communist conspiracy inside an AFL union known as the Dining Car and Railroad Food Workers' Union. In that report, issued by Senator Eastland of Mississippi, Democrat, and signed by Senators McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, and Watkins, Republican, of Utah, appears this statement:

"The subcommittee is concerned over the fact which is clearly established by the testimony, that the Communists have gained a foothold in the railroad industry. Although the instant testimony reveals absolute Communist control of only a small segment of the railroad industry, plus efforts to expand that control, in view of the importance of the railroad industry to the whole national economy, it is imperative that this Communist control be broken."

Maybe the answer to some of the sporadic, unauthorized strikes in recent years will come out some day as these inquiries are pursued by congressional committees.

Stock Market Edges Higher In Slow, Reluctant Manner

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The stock market edged a little higher today in a slow and reluctant manner.

Gains of small fractions were in the majority. The Associated Press averages gained a thin dime. Activity was at a slow pace all through the session.

In the late trading, there was slow steady chipping away at the earlier gains.

The dime advance in the Associated Press averages sent them to $97.20 with industrials moving up 90 cents, rails going down 20 cents and utilities unchanged.

There were 486 issues on the advancing side while 388 lost ground out of 1,129 traded. There were 28 new highs and 26 dropped to new lows.

The volume was 1,220,000 shares, quite a bit under the 1,530,000 of last Friday, the previous full session. But today's total was in line with most recent sessions.

The list of 15 most active stocks was headed by Curtiss Wright, which sold 14,900 shares and wound up at 9¼, unchanged from the previous close. There were seven advances and six declines on the most active list.

Steels fell flat on their faces with U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown sheet all down fractions.

The motors didn't do too well, the oils were mixed, chemicals had some bright spots.

There was no definite pattern that ran through all the groups. Each major group went pretty much its own way.

Among the few gains of moe than a point were Kennecott Copper, up 1¼ at 87⅞; American Zinc, ahead 1½ at 26½ and du Pont, a 2⅛ point gain at 88⅜.

In the motor group General Motors gained a fraction while Chrysler and Studebaker lost ground. Goodyear and Goodrich Rubber were ahead fractions and U. S. Rubber was down 1½ at 69½.

Today In Washington

Security Committee, of which Senator McCarran of Nevada is chairman, issued a report describing a Communist conspiracy inside an AFL union known as the Dining Car and Railroad Food Workers' Union. In that report, issued by Senator Eastland of Mississippi, Democrat, and signed by Senators McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, and Watkins, Republican, of Utah, appears this statement:

"The subcommittee is concerned over the fact which is clearly established by the testimony, that the Communists have gained a foothold in the railroad industry. Although the instant testimony reveals absolute Communist control of only a small segment of the railroad industry, plus efforts to expand that control, in view of the importance of the railroad industry to the whole national economy, it is imperative that this Communist control be broken."

Maybe the answer to some of the sporadic, unauthorized strikes in recent years will come out some day as these inquiries are pursued by congressional committees.

Stock Market Edges Higher In Slow, Reluctant Manner

NEW YORK, Dec. 3 (AP)—The stock market edged a little higher today in a slow and reluctant manner.

Gains of small fractions were in the majority. The Associated Press averages gained a thin dime. Activity was at a slow pace all through the session.

In the late trading, there was slow steady chipping away at the earlier gains.

The dime advance in the Associated Press averages sent them to $97.20 with industrials moving up 90 cents, rails going down 20 cents and utilities unchanged.

There were 486 issues on the advancing side while 388 lost ground out of 1,129 traded. There were 28 new highs and 26 dropped to new lows.

The volume was 1,220,000 shares, quite a bit under the 1,530,000 of last Friday, the previous full session. But today's total was in line with most recent sessions.

The list of 15 most active stocks was headed by Curtiss Wright, which sold 14,900 shares and wound up at 9¼, unchanged from the previous close. There were seven advances and six declines on the most active list.

Steels fell flat on their faces with U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, Republic and Youngstown sheet all down fractions.

The motors didn't do too well, the oils were mixed, chemicals had some bright spots.

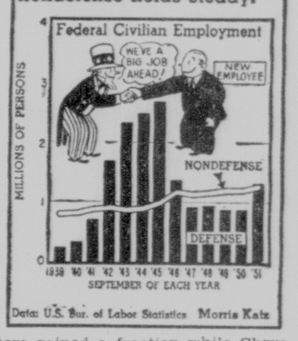

There was no definite pattern that ran through all the groups. Each major group went pretty much its own way.

Among the few gains of moe than a point were Kennecott Copper, up 1¼ at 87⅞; American Zinc, ahead 1½ at 26½ and du Pont, a 2⅛ point gain at 88⅜.

In the motor group General Motors gained a fraction while Chrysler and Studebaker lost ground. Goodyear and Goodrich Rubber were ahead fractions and U. S. Rubber was down 1½ at 69½.

Security Committee, of which Senator McCarran of Nevada is chairman, issued a report describing a Communist conspiracy inside an AFL union known as the Dining Car and Railroad Food Workers' Union. In that report, issued by Senator Eastland of Mississippi, Democrat, and signed by Senators McCarran of Nevada, Democrat, and Watkins, Republican, of Utah, appears this statement:

"The subcommittee is concerned over the fact which is clearly established by the testimony, that the Communists have gained a foothold in the railroad industry. Although the instant testimony reveals absolute Communist control of only a small segment of the railroad industry, plus efforts to expand that control, in view of the importance of the railroad industry to the whole national economy, it is imperative that this Communist control be broken."

Maybe the answer to some of the sporadic, unauthorized strikes in recent years will come out some day as these inquiries are pursued by congressional committees.

Two W. Va. Men Are Shot In Hunting Mishaps

Youth Hurt At Target Practice

No Maryland hunters were shot yesterday as the six-day deer season opened, but neighboring West Virginia reported three shooting accidents, two of which were attributed to hunting mishaps.

One accident was fatal.

Lawrence N. Harvey, 25-year-old Lewisburg, W. Va., filling station employe, was shot to death while hunting with a party in Greenbrier County. No details of the shooting could be learned immediately.

In another accident, Richard Woodley of Clarksburg was admitted to Tucker County Hospital at Parsons, W. Va.

Woodley, who was wounded in the left leg while hunting in Canaan Valley, said he did not see the hunter whose shot felled him.

Still another accident was caused by a target shooting session along a river bank.

Robert Wilson, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Moorefield, W. Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital at 10 p. m. with a gunshot wound in his right hip.

His condition was reported "good." The Moorefield High School student was accidentally shot by a companion, John Shreve, while the two youths were practice shooting with a .22 calibre rifle along the South Branch of the Potomac River.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m. yesterday and Wilson was treated by a Moorefield physician. He was then brought to Cumberland and admitted to the hospital.

X-rays will be taken today, according to attaches, and the bullet removed.

Meyers Says "Vigilantes" Threaten Him

Accused Red Asks Protection

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—George A. Meyers, one of the five Communist Party members scheduled to be tried here on conspiracy charges, said today he has been threatened by an unknown telephone caller.

Meyers told police the anonymous caller threatened to "get" him "if you're not out of town by tonight." The voice identified himself as a member of a "Vigilante Committee," according to Meyers.

Detective Captain George J. Murphy said police protection would be given to the 38-year-old former textile worker, who has served as chairman of the Communist Party's District Four headquarters in Baltimore. Murphy declined to say what the protection would consist of.

Meyers said he received the call at the Communist Party offices on North Liberty Street. Such calls came in before over a period of time, Meyers said, but this time he felt it best to notify police "in view of the present political atmosphere."

The five Communists and a Baltimore attorney are scheduled to be tried January 21. They're charged with conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government. All are free on bail ranging from $5,000 to $20,000.

Last September three of the defendants complained that FBI agents were watching them so closely it amounted to house arrest. The trio—Philip Frankfeld, Mrs. Regina Frankfeld and Mrs. Dorothy Rose Blumberg—said they were being followed night and day and that at least ten agents shadowed them during a Sunday stroll through the park.

New Martinsburg Industry Boosts Leaders Here

Encouraging Sign For Area Seen

Civic leaders here believe the announcement that a new industry is coming to Martinsburg, W. Va., just 70 miles away, is an encouraging sign for this area and they will continue their efforts to attract industrialists to this immediate vicinity.

The Tri-Ess Products Company, Inc., will begin next month moving from Jersey City, N. J., to Martinsburg. At first the plant will employ about 100, according to Stanley Weinstein, company president, who envisions top employment of about 200 eventually.

Makes Pencils

Tri-Ess manufactures mechanical pencils, manicure equipment, thumb tacks and stationary items. The first machinery will come to Martinsburg January 5, and employment of local labor there will begin January 17. The company has been operating in Jersey City the past six years and is moving because of lack of space for expansion and because the Martinsburg labor market is more favorable.

Some 40 Martinsburg business and professional men and women were responsible for Tri-Ess' final decision to move to the Eastern Panhandle city. They combined to put up $30,000 to buy the necessary stock to finance the firm's movement from New Jersey.

"Operation Boot Strap"

"Operation Boot Strap" is the title that has been given by a Martinsburg newspaperman to the action of the 40 contributors. He believes it shows that local people there are willing to do their part to pull the community up "by its bootstraps."

In the past several years Martinsburg has suffered economic reverses in that some 1,500 industrial jobs had been eliminated. One plant, the Berkeley Woolen Mill, suspended operations completely. The past several months the Dunn Woolen Mill has been closed because of a lack of orders. Then, Martinsburg's largest industry the Interwoven Stocking Company, went on a short work week and dropped some workers off its payrolls.

Tri-Ess has worked out arrangements to lease 30,000 square feet of floor space of the Berkeley Woolen Mill for 10 years.

Another encouraging development in Martinsburg is that the Dunn Woolen Mill will resume full production, with 500 employes at work, in another two weeks.

Finally, in the first quarter of 1952, Chamber of Commerce officials believe E. I. duPont deNemours will begin construction of its proposed plant along the Potomac River a few miles from Martinsburg.

Permanent Christmas Tree Set Up Is Planned For City

Plans for a permanent Christmas tree for this city were adopted yesterday by the committee planning this year's city yule celebration.

The recommendation arose after J. Monroe Sharer, 1900 Bedford Road, offered to the Yule committee a beautiful tree growing in his front yard.

Members of the committee, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, have urged that the tree, now about 20 feet high, be transplanted to a permanent spot which would be the site of future city Christmas celebrations.

The committee also suggested that over a period of years, a permanent background of evergreens be planted to beautify the Yule spot.

The site for the future tree lighting ceremonies was not selected, but it was understood it would be on city-owned property.

Mrs. Roeder said the committee headed by Edmund F. Hoey is studying the possibilities of transplanting the tree offered by Sharer at a minimum of cost to the city.

Any cooperation or ideas in connection with the suggestion will be appreciated, Mrs. Roeder said.

Santa's Helpers Are Busy On Toys For Area Children

If Santa's helpers here keep workshops humming there will be plenty of toys for all children of the area.

Miss Jeanette Bonig, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, which is acting as a clearing station for the toy collection, said toys came in faster last week than they could be prepared.

The generous response, she said, has kept busy all of the volunteers who are repairing and dressing the toys.

Arriving last week were 42 beds prepared by Santa's helpers at the H. and S. Plumbing Company workshop on Polk Street. The durable toys, similar to those made for years by the volunteers there, will be painted and dressed by other workers.

Central Fire Company, Miss Bonig said, has been busy painting and repairing toys donated by local citizens.

Members of the Soroptimist Club are collecting and preparing toys for Christmas.

Several hundred toys, most of them in splendid condition, were collected at a special show given recently by the Garden Theater.

The demand for toys and clothes, Miss Bonig said, will match last year's very heavy demands.

The Associated Charities conducts a year-around clothing collection and keeps supplies on hand at City Hall to meet the needs as they arise.

Special efforts are made during the Christmas season, however, to see that all of the needy are provided with warm and serviceable clothing.

Plans Progress In Annual Police, Firemen's Dance

Advance ticket sales to the 29th annual Police and Firemen's Association Ball, December 13, are encouraging, according to Austin L. Warnick, president and general chairman of this year's dance.

The dance is scheduled to get underway at 9 p. m. at the State Armory on South Centre Street with music by Tommy Tucker and his nationally-known orchestra with Karen Rich as featured vocalist. Dancing will continue until 1 a. m. Reservations are not necessary for the informal affair which will be cabaret style.

Special decorations are being planned, according to Patrolman William Valentine, chairman, and favors including hats and noisemakers will be given at the door. Seating space for spectators will be available in the balcony, Warnick said. A feature of the evening will be the releasing of three huge bags of colorful balloons about 11:30 p. m.

An attractively-bound souvenir program, according to Captain Vincent H. Wegman, chairman, has been prepared, and will be distributed at the dance. Included in the 40-page booklet are pictures of various activities of the police and fire departments as well as pictures of the officers of the two departments.

Heading the ticket sales committee is Joseph Stitcher, patrolman, assisted by Curtis Kime, sergeant of police, Francis Wallace, fireman, Edward Wilson, patrolman, John Daum, patrolman, and Charles Roby, sergeant of police.

Tickets may also be obtained on the second floor office of the association located in the Disabled Veterans Building, 113 South Centre Street, or at the door the evening of the dance.

The appearance of Tommy Tucker and his orchestra promises a splendid evening of dancing and entertainment since his band has been booked in all the leading cities of the nation, Warnick noted.

Three Youths Plead Guilty As Garrett Co. Court Opens

Three youths, all living in the Deep Creek Lake area, yesterday pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court to felony charges, before Associate Judge George Henderson as the December term was opened in Oakland.

The youths were tried on criminal informations filed by State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover. The December term of court is non-jury. There will be no grand jury in Garrett County until the first Monday in March.

Two of the boys, one 16 and the other 17, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of a cow which they later sold last month at the Terra Alta, W. Va., stock yard. Judge Henderson paroled both boys for three years after being informed they had no previous criminal record.

However, Judge Henderson took under advisement the case against Lyverl R. Snyder, 18, who pleaded guilty to forgery of a $20 check, through which he obtained four $5 bills from the F. A. Smouse grocery in Oakland October 30.

Probation Officer David M. Steele is continuing an investigation into the Snyder case.

Spring-Like Weather Again Returns To Tri-State Area

Spring-like weather returned to the Tri-State area during the past two days. Yesterday and Sunday the sun shone brightly and temperatures soared.

Here in Cumberland mercury rose to 63 degrees Sunday afternoon, the warmest temperature for that date since 1943. Throughout the area the weather was encouraging to the many deer hunters who treked to the woods in search of their quarry.

In West Virginia mercury climbed to 72 at Huntington and the previous same date high in that city was in 1932 with a reading of 65. At 3:30 p. m. yesterday Charleston reported a reading of 70 degrees.

At Elkins, according to a spokesman for the Western Maryland Railway, temperature rose to 68 degrees and at Thomas the temperature reading was 50. Blaser, W. Va., along, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad gave a report of 60 degrees. The temperature at 2 p. m. at Terra Alta and Altamont was 56.

The high yesterday in Cumberland was 57 degrees and low 27. At 8 p. m. last night the mercury stood at 40 degrees.

Hunters going into the woods today may look forward to possible rain with little change in temperatures. The skies in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania are expected to be cloudy.

Settlement For $1,000 Ends Suit

A $1,000 out-of-court settlement yesterday removed the necessity for the trial in Allegany County Circuit Court today of a $3,500 civil suit.

Thomas Hammersmith, 146 Polk Street, through Attorney James Alfred Avirett, had filed suit for $3,500 against Commonwealth Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., executor of the estate of his aunt, Annie Hammersmith, who lived at 511 Fayette Street, until her death this year. He asked that amount for nursing and housekeeping service he contends were given to his aunt between April 1, 1946, and March 28, 1951.

Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, yesterday received a written notice from Avirett and the defense attorneys, Earl E. Manges and Edwin M. Horchler, to enter a $1,000 judgement for the plaintiff by agreement of counsel.

Weather

The unusually warm temperatures of the weekend continued to bless the area yesterday. A bright sun helped the house wife dry her line of Monday wash, and pedestrians carried overcoats over their arms during the afternoon. The high temperature reported by the weather station at Constitution Park was 57 degrees, the low was 27, and at 8 p. m. the thermometer leveled at 40 degrees. Humidity at 6 o'clock last night was 55 per cent. The Weather Bureau says cloudy with some rain today and not much change in temperature.

X-Ray Survey Shows Need For 166 Re-Checks

Follow Up Program Is Underway Here

Further investigation was recommended for 166 of the 8,008 persons who participated in the mass X-ray program conducted here in July through September.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said the number is very small compared to surveys held here in previous years.

Evidence of tuberculosis was reported on 54 of the small X-ray films. Included were 30 minimal cases, 18 moderately advanced and six far advanced.

One X-ray showed the person had undergone previous surgery for tuberculosis.

Nine other X-rays indicated possible tuberculosis, including three diagnoses of possible silicosis with infection, three healed pleurisy and three with evidences of calcification.

Other Conditions Found

Non tuberculosis conditions were indicated in 23 other X-rays. These included 13 cardiovascular conditions, four silicosis suspects, three neoplasm and three with other pathological conditions of the lungs.

Diagnosis was deferred in 79 other X-rays which failed to give sufficient evidence for a diagnosis.

Dr. Frantz emphasized that results indicated by the mass X-ray survey are only tentative.

Re-tests, he said, are made by the Health Department for all persons whose small X-rays indicate possible trouble.

Re-tests Are Made

These re-tests are made by taking standard X-rays on 14 by 17 inch film, at the Health Department Clinic here, followed by examination by a chest specialist if the picture shows the need of further checking.

Only 18 of the 8,008 X-rays taken were unsatisfactory for diagnostic purposes.

Most of the persons who participated in the mass survey were between the ages of 15 and 54 and men outnumbered women by a count of 4,323 to 3,685.

Dr. Frantz said all of the 166 persons have been notified and that re-testing conducted by private physicians or by the County Health Department.

Experts Read Films

Final results will not be available for some time but officials said the list is lower than indicated by the survey since a number of persons under treatment for chest ailments participated in the survey.

Experts at the State Department of Health carefully examine the miniature X-ray films made during the survey and recommend for further investigation any film which indicates any deviation from the normal chest.

Cost of the survey is shared by the State Department of Health, the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

$5,076 Received In TB Seal Sale

The second week of the Allegany County 1951 Christmas Seal Sale closed yesterday with a total of $5,076.15 received in contributions so far.

Glenn K. Davis, county seal sale chairman, announced this was 33 per cent of the $15,000 goal.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, the Christmas Seal Sale brought $3,215.05 for the first week of the sale.

The Association began its 1951 seal sale November 19 with the mailing of 18,644 letters to county residents. The sale will continue until December 25.

To date, the association has received contributions from 2,953 people in the county, Davis reported.

Funds received from this year's seal sale will be used to support the 1952 Tuberculosis Prevention and Control program.

Parochial School Dispute Ends In Tucker County

Petitioners Agree With Legal Ruling

Two Protestant groups whose members protested furnishing of textbooks, lunches and transportation to parochial school students by the Tucker County (W. Va.) Board of Education have agreed nothing illegal has taken place.

Representatives of the two groups—the Parsons Ministerial Association and the Men's Brotherhood of Parsons Presbyterian Church—announced their position at a school board meeting Friday.

McClain Heads Brotherhood

They also expressed satisfaction with a ruling of the State Attorney General's Office as to when parochial school students may benefit from parochial school facilities.

The Men's Brotherhood, headed by R. K. McClain, editor of the Parsons Advocate, recently filed petitions with the school board to protest what it termed illegal practices. The ministers filed their petition at the same time.

Board President E. F. Creegan turned the petitions over to County Prosecuting Attorney D. E. Cuppett. (In West Virginia, prosecutors act as legal advisors for school boards.)

Laws Clarified

Cuppett, in turn, asked the Attorney General's Office for legal advice. In answer, Assistant Attorney General George W. Stokes wrote:

(1) Parochial school students may be furnished state-adopted textbooks if their parents are unable to provide these books. The decision as to who can afford books is up to the Board of Education.

(2) The school hot lunch program is a federal project and therefore out of state or county jurisdiction.

(3) Authority to transport parochial students in public school buses is "very questionable," since the law states that transportation is provided only for public school children.

Three Charges Listed

Specifically, the petitioners had charged that public school textbooks were used in St. Thomas School in Thomas; that the school used the hot lunch program, and that its students were permitted to ride a county school bus from Davis to Thomas.

In answer, Jason Wolford, county

Local Guard Names Rifle Team Coaches

Firers Meet State Champs Here Sunday

Sgt. John J. Divico and M/Sgt. William R. Rader have been appointed coaches of the local National Guard units' .22 caliber rifle team for the 1951-52 indoor matches.

The appointments were made by Lt. John D. Hensell, commander of Headquarters Company.

Maryland National Guard units compete each winter for the Governor's Trophy which is awarded each summer at the annual training encampment.

Last year, riflemen of the local Headquarters Company team remained in the contest until they were defeated by the state champions, Company A, 115th Infantry of Frederick.

Lt. Hensell stated that the local team will fire its first match with the Frederick team Sunday at the Cumberland Range.

Making up Headquarters Company team are Sfc. Carl G. Stierstorfer, Sgt. Thomas W. Mulligan, Cpl. James Mullennex, Cpl. William C. Earle, Pfc. Elmo D. Nixon, Cpl. James L. Robey, Cpl. William H. Hartman, Jr., Sfc. Kenneth S. Robey and Cpl. Eldon H. Crowe, Jr.

In the scoring, only the top five scores are counted, but 10 men may fire. Sgt. Divico said that other clubs interested in matches or young men interested in the Guard rifle program should call 838.

At the same time, Major Robert Matlick, announced completion of improvements to the Cumberland State Armory rifle range.

In addition to a complete overhaul, Major Matlick reported, the range has been equipped with flourescent lighting. This will give the local Guard teams their own indoor facilities to compete with other area clubs.

Former Resident Killed In Crash

A former Cumberland man was killed instantly yesterday morning when the auto which he was driving was involved in a head-on collision near Baltimore.

Lloyd S. Quynn, Jr., 30, of 33 Baltimore Street, Savage, formerly of Holland Street Extended, left Cumberland seven or eight years ago. He was an employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and a graduate of Allegany High School Class 1942. A veteran of World War II, he served with the U. S. Coast Guard.

An eye witness told Maryland State Police that the car driven by Quynn and another auto traveling towards Quynn collided. Police reported both drivers were killed in the mishap.

Name of the other driver and details of the accident were not known by police here last night.

Quynn is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Fletcher Quynn, a daughter, Linda Lee Quynn, a son, Michael Quynn, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Quynn, Sr., all of Savage, Md.

The body will remain at the Donaldson Funeral Home, Savage, until burial Thursday in Arlington National Cemetery.

Church Circle To Meet

The Sheckles Circle of Emmanuel Episcopal Church will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the parish house.

FFA Boys Attend Leaders' Meet

Some 35 Future Farmers of America from Allegany and Garrett Counties attended a Western Maryland FFA Leadership Training meeting at Accident High School Saturday.

James House, supervisor of vocational agriculture in the Allegany Couty public school system, discussed the National FFA Convention which he attended in Kansas City.

Three prominent Garrett Countians also talked to the FFA boys representing nine schools in the two counties. The speakers were George H. Hanst, editor of the Oakland Republican; W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney, and Joseph Fahey, president of the First State Bank in Grantsville.

After the talks, the FFA boys assembled for lunch, then had group meetings with various vo-ag teachers of the two counties. Finally, the boys teamed up for a basketball game with Allegany County beating Garrett County, 8-7.

House and John Mostowski, vo-ag teacher at Flintstone, took nine FFA boys from Allegany County to the Accident meeting. Included were Amos Murphy, Kenneth Murphy and Richard Nelson, all of Flintstone High School; James Carder, Oldtown High School; Byron Kiser and Richard Wright, both Beall High School; James Matthews and George Stafford, both Fort Hill High School, and William Wilson, Allegany High School.

Garrett County high schools at Accident, Oakland, Friendsville and Grantsville also were represented.

Plans For Christmas Set At Potomac Park

Plans for the annual Christmas decorations will be discussed at a meeting of the Potomac Park Improvement Association tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Evangelical United Brethren Church.

A 40-foot Christmas tree, according to Edward W. Shaffer, chairman, will be erected along McMullen Highway near the church. A scene of the Nativity will also be located in front of the church. All men of the community are urged to attend the meeting since plans will be made to obtain the tree from Canaan Valley Sunday morning. This is the sixth year the Christmas tree has been sponsored in Potomac Park, Shaffer noted.

Man Held Under $4,000 Bond In Assault Case

William A. Stevenson, 35, manager of the Mountain City Taxi Service in Frostburg, was released under $4,000 bond yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court after waiving preliminary hearing on a charge of assaulting a Frostburg police officer.

Stevenson, released for action of the Allegany County Grand Jury, is charged with assaulting with intent to kill Assistant Chief Ronald Kreider, 48, of the Frostburg Police Department.

Both men were released from Miners Hospital over the weekend.

Stevenson was lodged in Allegany county jail Saturday. Kreider left the hospital Friday.

The two men and other witnesses were questioned at length yesterday morning by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Kreider reportedly was hurt in an altercation with Stevenson on November 24 in a Frostburg alley. He suffered severe facial lacerations, authorities said, adding 31 stitches were required to close wounds.

Stevenson sustained a jaw injury and cut on the cheek. He had been under police guard at the hospital.

Law enforcement officers said the fracas resulted from a "personal matter" between the two men. Stevenson is reported to have used a broken bottle on Kreider, a police officer for 18 years.

Stevenson was taken into custody on a state warrant issued by Magistrate James Carter in Frostburg.

Ridgeley Legion Meets Tonight

Three recently elected officers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va. will assume duties at a regular monthly meeting of the post tonight at 8 o'clock at the home.

Filling vacancies resulting from resignations are: Karl G. Brant, first vice-commander; Richard Swick, child welfare; Dorsey Feight, two year trustee. Brant, who was a past commander, is a veteran of World War II and served 10 months as a reserve in the U. S. Army. He received a discharge several months ago. He has been placed in charge of the membership committee and the drive will get underway tonight.

During the meeting plans will be made for the annual Christmas program. Refreshments will be served.

WSB Approves Wage Differentials Here

Shift differential payments at the Cumberland Macaroni Company were approved yesterday by the Fourth Regional Wage Stabilization Board in Richmond.

The approval included two to four cent shift differentials for about 35 second and third shift workers, members of Local 1132, Macaroni Workers (CIO).

Rector Will Speak

Two W. Va. Men Are Shot In Hunting Mishaps

Youth Hurt At Target Practice

No Maryland hunters were shot yesterday as the six-day deer season opened, but neighboring West Virginia reported three shooting accidents, two of which were attributed to hunting mishaps.

One accident was fatal.

Lawrence N. Harvey, 25-year-old Lewisburg, W. Va., filling station employe, was shot to death while hunting with a party in Greenbrier County. No details of the shooting could be learned immediately.

In another accident, Richard Woodley of Clarksburg was admitted to Tucker County Hospital at Parsons, W. Va.

Woodley, who was wounded in the left leg while hunting in Canaan Valley, said he did not see the hunter whose shot felled him.

Still another accident was caused by a target shooting session along a river bank.

Robert Wilson, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Moorefield, W. Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital at 10 p. m. with a gunshot wound in his right hip.

His condition was reported "good." The Moorefield High School student was accidentally shot by a companion, John Shreve, while the two youths were practice shooting with a .22 calibre rifle along the South Branch of the Potomac River.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m. yesterday and Wilson was treated by a Moorefield physician. He was then brought to Cumberland and admitted to the hospital.

X-rays will be taken today, according to attaches, and the bullet removed.

Meyers Says "Vigilantes" Threaten Him

Accused Red Asks Protection

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—George A. Meyers, one of the five Communist Party members scheduled to be tried here on conspiracy charges, said today he has been threatened by an unknown telephone caller.

Meyers told police the anonymous caller threatened to "get" him "if you're not out of town by tonight." The voice identified himself as a member of a "Vigilante Committee," according to Meyers.

Detective Captain George J. Murphy said police protection would be given to the 38-year-old former textile worker, who has served as chairman of the Communist Party's District Four headquarters in Baltimore. Murphy declined to say what the protection would consist of.

Meyers said he received the call at the Communist Party offices on North Liberty Street. Such calls came in before over a period of time, Meyers said, but this time he felt it best to notify police "in view of the present political atmosphere."

The five Communists and a Baltimore attorney are scheduled to be tried January 21. They're charged with conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government. All are free on bail ranging from $5,000 to $20,000.

Last September three of the defendants complained that FBI agents were watching them so closely it amounted to house arrest. The trio—Philip Frankfeld, Mrs. Regina Frankfeld and Mrs. Dorothy Rose Blumberg—said they were being followed night and day and that at least ten agents shadowed them during a Sunday stroll through the park.

New Martinsburg Industry Boosts Leaders Here

Encouraging Sign For Area Seen

Civic leaders here believe the announcement that a new industry is coming to Martinsburg, W. Va., just 70 miles away, is an encouraging sign for this area and they will continue their efforts to attract industrialists to this immediate vicinity.

The Tri-Ess Products Company, Inc., will begin next month moving from Jersey City, N. J., to Martinsburg. At first the plant will employ about 100, according to Stanley Weinstein, company president, who envisions top employment of about 200 eventually.

Makes Pencils

Tri-Ess manufactures mechanical pencils, manicure equipment, thumb tacks and stationary items. The first machinery will come to Martinsburg January 5, and employment of local labor there will begin January 17. The company has been operating in Jersey City the past six years and is moving because of lack of space for expansion and because the Martinsburg labor market is more favorable.

Some 40 Martinsburg business and professional men and women were responsible for Tri-Ess' final decision to move to the Eastern Panhandle city. They combined to put up $30,000 to buy the necessary stock to finance the firm's movement from New Jersey.

"Operation Boot Strap"

"Operation Boot Strap" is the title that has been given by a Martinsburg newspaperman to the action of the 40 contributors. He believes it shows that local people there are willing to do their part to pull the community up "by its bootstraps."

In the past several years Martinsburg has suffered economic reverses in that some 1,500 industrial jobs had been eliminated. One plant, the Berkeley Woolen Mill, suspended operations completely. The past several months the Dunn Woolen Mill has been closed because of a lack of orders. Then, Martinsburg's largest industry the Interwoven Stocking Company, went on a short work week and dropped some workers off its payrolls.

Tri-Ess has worked out arrangements to lease 30,000 square feet of floor space of the Berkeley Woolen Mill for 10 years.

Another encouraging development in Martinsburg is that the Dunn Woolen Mill will resume full production, with 500 employes at work, in another two weeks.

Finally, in the first quarter of 1952, Chamber of Commerce officials believe E. I. duPont deNemours will begin construction of its proposed plant along the Potomac River a few miles from Martinsburg.

Permanent Christmas Tree Set Up Is Planned For City

Plans for a permanent Christmas tree for this city were adopted yesterday by the committee planning this year's city yule celebration.

The recommendation arose after J. Monroe Sharer, 1900 Bedford Road, offered to the Yule committee a beautiful tree growing in his front yard.

Members of the committee, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, have urged that the tree, now about 20 feet high, be transplanted to a permanent spot which would be the site of future city Christmas celebrations.

The committee also suggested that over a period of years, a permanent background of evergreens be planted to beautify the Yule spot.

The site for the future tree lighting ceremonies was not selected, but it was understood it would be on city-owned property.

Mrs. Roeder said the committee headed by Edmund F. Hoey is studying the possibilities of transplanting the tree offered by Sharer at a minimum of cost to the city.

Any cooperation or ideas in connection with the suggestion will be appreciated, Mrs. Roeder said.

Santa's Helpers Are Busy On Toys For Area Children

If Santa's helpers here keep workshops humming there will be plenty of toys for all children of the area.

Miss Jeanette Bonig, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, which is acting as a clearing station for the toy collection, said toys came in faster last week than they could be prepared.

The generous response, she said, has kept busy all of the volunteers who are repairing and dressing the toys.

Arriving last week were 42 beds prepared by Santa's helpers at the H. and S. Plumbing Company workshop on Polk Street. The durable toys, similar to those made for years by the volunteers there, will be painted and dressed by other workers.

Central Fire Company, Miss Bonig said, has been busy painting and repairing toys donated by local citizens.

Members of the Soroptimist Club are collecting and preparing toys for Christmas.

Several hundred toys, most of them in splendid condition, were collected at a special show given recently by the Garden Theater.

The demand for toys and clothes, Miss Bonig said, will match last year's very heavy demands.

The Associated Charities conducts a year-around clothing collection and keeps supplies on hand at City Hall to meet the needs as they arise.

Special efforts are made during the Christmas season, however, to see that all of the needy are provided with warm and serviceable clothing.

Plans Progress In Annual Police, Firemen's Dance

Advance ticket sales to the 29th annual Police and Firemen's Association Ball, December 13, are encouraging, according to Austin L. Warnick, president and general chairman of this year's dance.

The dance is scheduled to get underway at 9 p. m. at the State Armory on South Centre Street with music by Tommy Tucker and his nationally-known orchestra with Karen Rich as featured vocalist. Dancing will continue until 1 a. m. Reservations are not necessary for the informal affair which will be cabaret style.

Special decorations are being planned, according to Patrolman William Valentine, chairman, and favors including hats and noisemakers will be given at the door. Seating space for spectators will be available in the balcony, Warnick said. A feature of the evening will be the releasing of three huge bags of colorful balloons about 11:30 p. m.

An attractively-bound souvenir program, according to Captain Vincent H. Wegman, chairman, has been prepared, and will be distributed at the dance. Included in the 40-page booklet are pictures of various activities of the police and fire departments as well as pictures of the officers of the two departments.

Heading the ticket sales committee is Joseph Stitcher, patrolman, assisted by Curtis Kime, sergeant of police, Francis Wallace, fireman, Edward Wilson, patrolman, John Daum, patrolman, and Charles Roby, sergeant of police.

Tickets may also be obtained on the second floor office of the association located in the Disabled Veterans Building, 113 South Centre Street, or at the door the evening of the dance.

The appearance of Tommy Tucker and his orchestra promises a splendid evening of dancing and entertainment since his band has been booked in all the leading cities of the nation, Warnick noted.

Three Youths Plead Guilty As Garrett Co. Court Opens

Three youths, all living in the Deep Creek Lake area, yesterday pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court to felony charges, before Associate Judge George Henderson as the December term was opened in Oakland.

The youths were tried on criminal informations filed by State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover. The December term of court is non-jury. There will be no grand jury in Garrett County until the first Monday in March.

Two of the boys, one 16 and the other 17, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of a cow which they later sold last month at the Terra Alta, W. Va., stock yard. Judge Henderson paroled both boys for three years after being informed they had no previous criminal record.

However, Judge Henderson took under advisement the case against Lyverl R. Snyder, 18, who pleaded guilty to forgery of a $20 check, through which he obtained four $5 bills from the F. A. Smouse grocery in Oakland October 30.

Probation Officer David M. Steele is continuing an investigation into the Snyder case.

Spring-Like Weather Again Returns To Tri-State Area

Spring-like weather returned to the Tri-State area during the past two days. Yesterday and Sunday the sun shone brightly and temperatures soared.

Here in Cumberland mercury rose to 63 degrees Sunday afternoon, the warmest temperature for that date since 1943. Throughout the area the weather was encouraging to the many deer hunters who treked to the woods in search of their quarry.

In West Virginia mercury climbed to 72 at Huntington and the previous same date high in that city was in 1932 with a reading of 65. At 3:30 p. m. yesterday Charleston reported a reading of 70 degrees.

At Elkins, according to a spokesman for the Western Maryland Railway, temperature rose to 68 degrees and at Thomas the temperature reading was 50. Blaser, W. Va., along, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad gave a report of 60 degrees. The temperature at 2 p. m. at Terra Alta and Altamont was 56.

The high yesterday in Cumberland was 57 degrees and low 27. At 8 p. m. last night the mercury stood at 40 degrees.

Hunters going into the woods today may look forward to possible rain with little change in temperatures. The skies in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania are expected to be cloudy.

Settlement For $1,000 Ends Suit

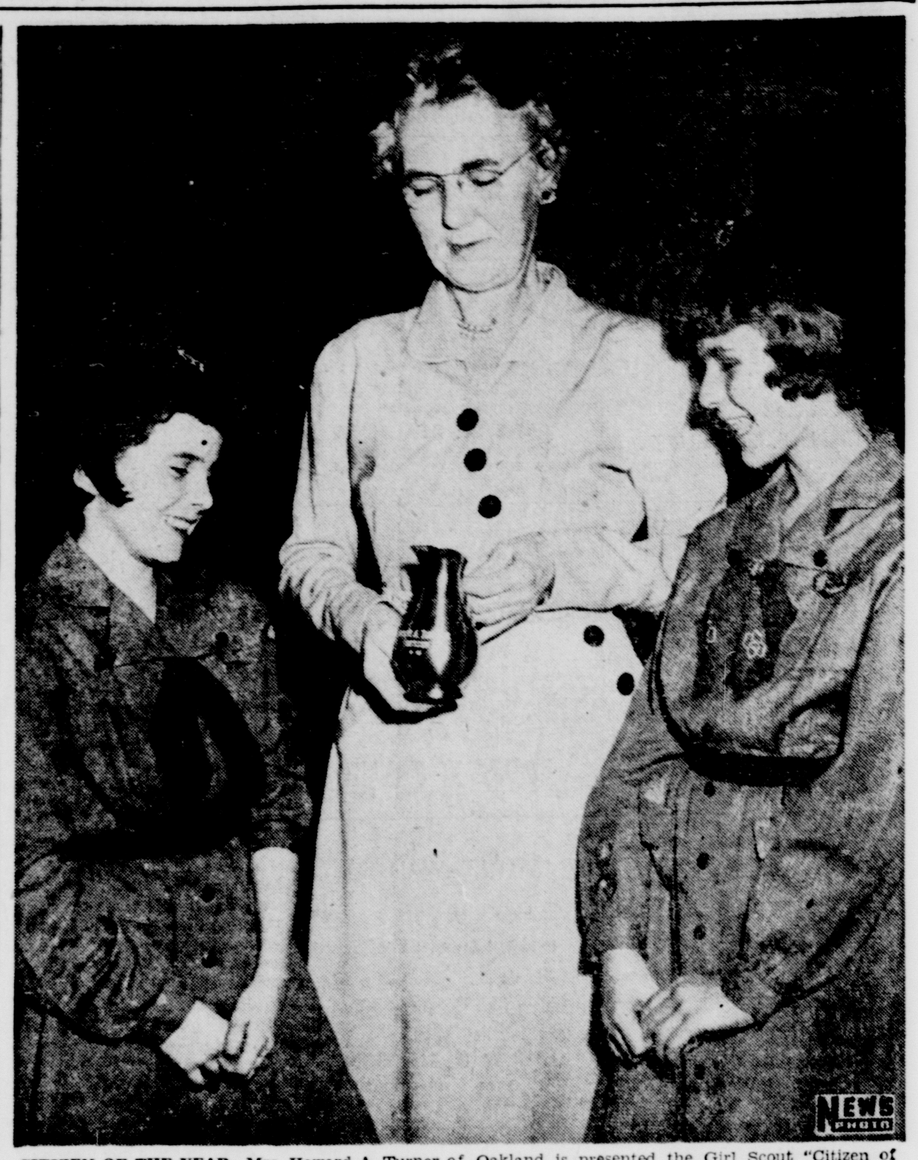

A $1,000 out-of-court settlement yesterday removed the necessity for the trial in Allegany County Circuit Court today of a $3,500 civil suit.

Thomas Hammersmith, 146 Polk Street, through Attorney James Alfred Avirett, had filed suit for $3,500 against Commonwealth Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., executor of the estate of his aunt, Annie Hammersmith, who lived at 511 Fayette Street, unitl her death this year. He asked that amount for nursing and housekeeping service he contends were given to his aunt between April 1, 1946, and March 28, 1951.

Joseph E. Boden, clerk of Circuit Court, yesterday received a written notice from Avirett and the defense attorneys, Earl E. Manges and Edwin M. Horchler, to enter a $1,000 judgement for the plaintiff by agreement of counsel.

Weather

The unusually warm temperatures of the weekend continued to bless the area yesterday. A bright sun helped the house wife dry her line of Monday wash, and pedestrians carried overcoats over their arms during the afternoon. The high temperature reported by the weather station at Constitution Park was 57 degrees, the low was 27, and at 8 p. m. the thermometer leveled at 40 degrees. Humidity at 6 o'clock last night was 55 per cent. The Weather Bureau says cloudy with some rain today and not much change in temperature.

CITIZEN OF THE YEAR—Mrs. Howard A. Turner of Oakland is presented the Girl Scout "Citizen of the Year" award, a silver pitcher, by Intermediate Scouts Martha Sheehe (left) and Barbara Lou Glotfelty, both of Oakland. The Scouts cited Mrs. Turner for her work in aiding the new Garrett County Memorial Hospital and in undertakings of the Oakland Civic Club. Last winner was Miss Grace Jones.

X-Ray Survey Shows Need For 166 Re-Checks

Follow Up Program Is Underway Here

Further investigation was recommended for 166 of the 8,008 persons who participated in the mass X-ray program conducted here in July through September.

Dr. Winter R. Frantz, city and county health officer, said the number is very small compared to surveys held here in previous years.

Evidence of tuberculosis was reported on 54 of the small X-ray films. Included were 30 minimal cases, 18 moderately advanced and six far advanced.

One X-ray showed the person had undergone previous surgery for tuberculosis.

Nine other X-rays indicated possible tuberculosis, including three diagnoses of possible silicosis with infection, three healed pleurisy and three with evidences of calcification.

Other Conditions Found

Non tuberculosis conditions were indicated in 23 other X-rays. These included 13 cardiovascular conditions, four silicosis suspects, three neoplasm and three with other pathological conditions of the lungs.

Diagnosis was deferred in 79 other X-rays which failed to give sufficient evidence for a diagnosis.

Dr. Frantz emphasized that results indicated by the mass X-ray survey are only tentative.

Re-tests, he said, are made by the Health Department for all persons whose small X-rays indicate possible trouble.

Re-tests Are Made

These re-tests are made by taking standard X-rays on 14 by 17 inch film, at the Health Department Clinic here, followed by examination by a chest specialist if the picture shows the need of further checking.

Only 18 of the 8,008 X-rays taken were unsatisfactory for diagnostic purposes.

Most of the persons who participated in the mass survey were between the ages of 15 and 54 and men outnumbered women by a count of 4,323 to 3,685.

Dr. Frantz said all of the 166 persons have been notified and that re-testing conducted by private physicians or by the County Health Department.

Experts Read Films

Final results will not be available for some time but officials said the list is lower than indicated by the survey since a number of persons under treatment for chest ailments participated in the survey.

Experts at the State Department of Health carefully examine the miniature X-ray films made during the survey and recommend for further investigation any film which indicates any deviation from the normal chest.

Cost of the survey is shared by the State Department of Health, the Maryland Tuberculosis Association and the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association.

$5,076 Received In TB Seal Sale

The second week of the Allegany County 1951 Christmas Seal Sale closed yesterday with a total of $5,076.15 received in contributions so far.

Glenn K. Davis, county seal sale chairman, announced this was 33 per cent of the $15,000 goal.

Sponsored by the Allegany County Tuberculosis Association, the Christmas Seal Sale brought $3,215.05 for the first week of the sale.

The Association began its 1951 seal sale November 19 with the mailing of 18,644 letters to county residents. The sale will continue until December 25.

To date, the association has received contributions from 2,953 people in the county, Davis reported.

Funds received from this year's seal sale will be used to support the 1952 Tuberculosis Prevention and Control program.

Parochial School Dispute Ends In Tucker County

Petitioners Agree With Legal Ruling

Two Protestant groups whose members protested furnishing of textbooks, lunches and transportation to parochial school students by the Tucker County (W. Va.) Board of Education have agreed nothing illegal has taken place.

Representatives of the two groups—the Parsons Ministerial Association and the Men's Brotherhood of Parsons Presbyterian Church—announced their position at a school board meeting Friday.

McClain Heads Brotherhood

They also expressed satisfaction with a ruling of the State Attorney General's Office as to when parochial school students may benefit from parochial school facilities.

The Men's Brotherhood, headed by R. K. McClain, editor of the Parsons Advocate, recently filed petitions with the school board to protest what it termed illegal practices. The ministers filed their petition at the same time.

Board President E. F. Creegan turned the petitions over to County Prosecuting Attorney D. E. Cuppett. (In West Virginia, prosecutors act as legal advisors for school boards.)

Laws Clarified

Cuppett, in turn, asked the Attorney General's Office for legal advice. In answer, Assistant Attorney General George W. Stokes wrote:

(1) Parochial school students may be furnished state-adopted textbooks if their parents are unable to provide these books. The decision as to who can afford books is up to the Board of Education.

(2) The school hot lunch program is a federal project and therefore out of state or county jurisdiction.

(3) Authority to transport parochial students in public school buses is "very questionable," since the law states that transportation is provided only for public school children.

Three Charges Listed

Specifically, the petitioners had charged that public school textbooks were used in St. Thomas School in Thomas; that the school used the hot lunch program, and that its students were permitted to ride a county school bus from Davis to Thomas.

In answer, Jason Wolford, county

Local Guard Names Rifle Team Coaches

Firers Meet State Champs Here Sunday

Sgt. John J. Divico and M/Sgt. William R. Rader have been appointed coaches of the local National Guard units' .22 caliber rifle team for the 1951-52 indoor matches.

The appointments were made by Lt. John D. Hensell, commander of Headquarters Company.

Maryland National Guard units compete each winter for the Governor's Trophy which is awarded each summer at the annual training encampment.

Last year, riflemen of the local Headquarters Company team remained in the contest until they were defeated by the state champions, Company A, 115th Infantry of Frederick.

Lt. Hensell stated that the local team will fire its first match with the Frederick team Sunday at the Cumberland Range.

Making up Headquarters Company team are Sfc. Carl G. Stierstorfer, Sgt. Thomas W. Mulligan, Cpl. James Mullennex, Cpl. William C. Earle, Pfc. Elmo D. Nixon, Cpl. James L. Robey, Cpl. William H. Hartman, Jr., Sfc. Kenneth S. Robey and Cpl. Eldon H. Crowe, Jr.

In the scoring, only the top five scores are counted, but 10 men may fire. Sgt. Divico said that other clubs interested in matches or young men interested in the Guard rifle program should call 838.

At the same time, Major Robert Matlick, announced completion of improvements to the Cumberland State Armory rifle range.

In addition to a complete overhaul, Major Matlick reported, the range has been equipped with flourescent lighting. This will give the local Guard teams their own indoor facilities to compete with other area clubs.

Former Resident Killed In Crash

A former Cumberland man was killed instantly yesterday morning when the auto which he was driving was involved in a head-on collision near Baltimore.

Lloyd S. Quynn, Jr., 30, of 33 Baltimore Street, Savage, formerly of Holland Street Extended, left Cumberland seven or eight years ago. He was an employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and a graduate of Allegany High School Class 1942. A veteran of World War II, he served with the U. S. Coast Guard.

An eye witness told Maryland State Police that the car driven by Quynn and another auto traveling towards Quynn collided. Police reported both drivers were killed in the mishap.

Name of the other driver and details of the accident were not known by police here last night.

Quynn is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Fletcher Quynn, a daughter, Linda Lee Quynn, a son, Michael Quynn, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Quynn, Sr., all of Savage, Md.

The body will remain at the Donaldson Funeral Home, Savage, until burial Thursday in Arlington National Cemetery.

Church Circle To Meet

The Sheckles Circle of Emmanuel Episcopal Church will meet Wednesday at 2 p. m. at the parish house.

Two W. Va. Men Are Shot In Hunting Mishaps

Youth Hurt At Target Practice

No Maryland hunters were shot yesterday as the six-day deer season opened, but neighboring West Virginia reported three shooting accidents, two of which were attributed to hunting mishaps.

One accident was fatal.

Lawrence N. Harvey, 25-year-old Lewisburg, W. Va., filling station employe, was shot to death while hunting with a party in Greenbrier County. No details of the shooting could be learned immediately.

In another accident, Richard Woodley of Clarksburg was admitted to Tucker County Hospital at Parsons, W. Va.

Woodley, who was wounded in the left leg while hunting in Canaan Valley, said he did not see the hunter whose shot felled him.

Still another accident was caused by a target shooting session along a river bank.

Robert Wilson, 15-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wilson, Moorefield, W. Va., was admitted to Memorial Hospital at 10 p. m. with a gunshot wound in his right hip.

His condition was reported "good." The Moorefield High School student was accidentally shot by a companion, John Shreve, while the two youths were practice shooting with a .22 calibre rifle along the South Branch of the Potomac River.

The accident occurred about 4 p. m. yesterday and Wilson was treated by a Moorefield physician. He was then brought to Cumberland and admitted to the hospital.

X-rays will be taken today, according to attaches, and the bullet removed.

Meyers Says "Vigilantes" Threaten Him

Accused Red Asks Protection

BALTIMORE, Dec. 3 (AP)—George A. Meyers, one of the five Communist Party members scheduled to be tried here on conspiracy charges, said today he has been threatened by an unknown telephone caller.

Meyers told police the anonymous caller threatened to "get" him "if you're not out of town by tonight." The voice identified himself as a member of a "Vigilante Committee," according to Meyers.

Detective Captain George J. Murphy said police protection would be given to the 38-year-old former textile worker, who has served as chairman of the Communist Party's District Four headquarters in Baltimore. Murphy declined to say what the protection would consist of.

Meyers said he received the call at the Communist Party offices on North Liberty Street. Such calls came in before over a period of time, Meyers said, but this time he felt it best to notify police "in view of the present political atmosphere."

The five Communists and a Baltimore attorney are scheduled to be tried January 21. They're charged with conspiring to advocate violent overthrow of the government. All are free on bail ranging from $5,000 to $20,000.

Last September three of the defendants complained that FBI agents were watching them so closely it amounted to house arrest. The trio—Philip Frankfeld, Mrs. Regina Frankfeld and Mrs. Dorothy Rose Blumberg—said they were being followed night and day and that at least ten agents shadowed them during a Sunday stroll through the park.

New Martinsburg Industry Boosts Leaders Here

Encouraging Sign For Area Seen

Civic leaders here believe the announcement that a new industry is coming to Martinsburg, W. Va., just 70 miles away, is an encouraging sign for this area and they will continue their efforts to attract industrialists to this immediate vicinity.

The Tri-Ess Products Company, Inc., will begin next month moving from Jersey City, N. J., to Martinsburg. At first the plant will employ about 100, according to Stanley Weinstein, company president, who envisions top employment of about 200 eventually.

Makes Pencils

Tri-Ess manufactures mechanical pencils, manicure equipment, thumb tacks and stationary items. The first machinery will come to Martinsburg January 5, and employment of local labor there will begin January 17. The company has been operating in Jersey City the past six years and is moving because of lack of space for expansion and because the Martinsburg labor market is more favorable.

Some 40 Martinsburg business and professional men and women were responsible for Tri-Ess' final decision to move to the Eastern Panhandle city. They combined to put up $30,000 to buy the necessary stock to finance the firm's movement from New Jersey.

"Operation Boot Strap"

"Operation Boot Strap" is the title that has been given by a Martinsburg newspaperman to the action of the 40 contributors. He believes it shows that local people there are willing to do their part to pull the community up "by its bootstraps."

In the past several years Martinsburg has suffered economic reverses in that some 1,500 industrial jobs had been eliminated. One plant, the Berkeley Woolen Mill, suspended operations completely. The past several months the Dunn Woolen Mill has been closed because of a lack of orders. Then, Martinsburg's largest industry the Interwoven Stocking Company, went on a short work week and dropped some workers off its payrolls.

Tri-Ess has worked out arrangements to lease 30,000 square feet of floor space of the Berkeley Woolen Mill for 10 years.

Another encouraging development in Martinsburg is that the Dunn Woolen Mill will resume full production, with 500 employes at work, in another two weeks.

Finally, in the first quarter of 1952, Chamber of Commerce officials believe E. I. duPont deNemours will begin construction of its proposed plant along the Potomac River a few miles from Martinsburg.

Permanent Christmas Tree Set Up Is Planned For City

Plans for a permanent Christmas tree for this city were adopted yesterday by the committee planning this year's city yule celebration.

The recommendation arose after J. Monroe Sharer, 1900 Bedford Road, offered to the Yule committee a beautiful tree growing in his front yard.

Members of the committee, according to Mrs. Lucile Roeder, commissioner of streets and public property, have urged that the tree, now about 20 feet high, be transplanted to a permanent spot which would be the site of future city Christmas celebrations.

The committee also suggested that over a period of years, a permanent background of evergreens be planted to beautify the Yule spot.

The site for the future tree lighting ceremonies was not selected, but it was understood it would be on city-owned property.

Mrs. Roeder said the committee headed by Edmund F. Hoey is studying the possibilities of transplanting the tree offered by Sharer at a minimum of cost to the city.

Any cooperation or ideas in connection with the suggestion will be appreciated, Mrs. Roeder said.

Santa's Helpers Are Busy On Toys For Area Children

If Santa's helpers here keep workshops humming there will be plenty of toys for all children of the area.

Miss Jeanette Bonig, executive secretary of the Associated Charities, which is acting as a clearing station for the toy collection, said toys came in faster last week than they could be prepared.

The generous response, she said, has kept busy all of the volunteers who are repairing and dressing the toys.

Arriving last week were 42 beds prepared by Santa's helpers at the H. and S. Plumbing Company workshop on Polk Street. The durable toys, similar to those made for years by the volunteers there, will be painted and dressed by other workers.

Central Fire Company, Miss Bonig said, has been busy painting and repairing toys donated by local citizens.

Members of the Soroptimist Club are collecting and preparing toys for Christmas.

Several hundred toys, most of them in splendid condition, were collected at a special show given recently by the Garden Theater.

The demand for toys and clothes, Miss Bonig said, will match last year's very heavy demands.

The Associated Charities conducts a year-around clothing collection and keeps supplies on hand at City Hall to meet the needs as they arise.

Special efforts are made during the Christmas season, however, to see that all of the needy are provided with warm and serviceable clothing.

Plans Progress In Annual Police, Firemen's Dance

Advance ticket sales to the 29th annual Police and Firemen's Association Ball, December 13, are encouraging, according to Austin L. Warnick, president and general chairman of this year's dance.

The dance is scheduled to get underway at 9 p. m. at the State Armory on South Centre Street with music by Tommy Tucker and his nationally-known orchestra with Karen Rich as featured vocalist. Dancing will continue until 1 a. m. Reservations are not necessary for the informal affair which will be cabaret style.

Special decorations are being planned, according to Patrolman William Valentine, chairman, and favors including hats and noisemakers will be given at the door. Seating space for spectators will be available in the balcony, Warnick said. A feature of the evening will be the releasing of three huge bags of colorful balloons about 11:30 p. m.

An attractively-bound souvenir program, according to Captain Vincent H. Wegman, chairman, has been prepared, and will be distributed at the dance. Included in the 40-page booklet are pictures of various activities of the police and fire departments as well as pictures of the officers of the two departments.

Heading the ticket sales committee is Joseph Stitcher, patrolman, assisted by Curtis Kime, sergeant of police, Francis Wallace, fireman, Edward Wilson, patrolman, John Daum, patrolman, and Charles Roby, sergeant of police.

Tickets may also be obtained on the second floor office of the association located in the Disabled Veterans Building, 113 South Centre Street, or at the door the evening of the dance.

The appearance of Tommy Tucker and his orchestra promises a splendid evening of dancing and entertainment since his band has been booked in all the leading cities of the nation, Warnick noted.

FFA Boys Attend Leaders' Meet

Some 35 Future Farmers of America from Allegany and Garrett Counties attended a Western Maryland FFA Leadership Training meeting at Accident High School Saturday.

James House, supervisor of vocational agriculture in the Allegany Couty public school system, discussed the National FFA Convention which he attended in Kansas City.

Three prominent Garrett Countians also talked to the FFA boys representing nine schools in the two counties. The speakers were George H. Hanst, editor of the Oakland Republican; W. Dwight Stover, state's attorney, and Joseph Fahey, president of the First State Bank in Grantsville.

After the talks, the FFA boys assembled for lunch, then had group meetings with various vo-ag teachers of the two counties. Finally, the boys teamed up for a basketball game with Allegany County beating Garrett County, 8-7.

House and John Mostowski, vo-ag teacher at Flintstone, took nine FFA boys from Allegany County to the Accident meeting. Included were Amos Murphy, Kenneth Murphy and Richard Nelson, all of Flintstone High School; James Carder, Oldtown High School; Byron Kiser and Richard Wright, both Beall High School; James Matthews and George Stafford, both Fort Hill High School, and William Wilson, Allegany High School.

Garrett County high schools at Accident, Oakland, Friendsville and Grantsville also were represented.

Plans For Christmas Set At Potomac Park

Plans for the annual Christmas decorations will be discussed at a meeting of the Potomac Park Improvement Association tonight at 7:30 o'clock at Evangelical United Brethren Church.

A 40-foot Christmas tree, according to Edward W. Shaffer, chairman, will be erected along McMullen Highway near the church. A scene of the Nativity will also be located in front of the church. All men of the community are urged to attend the meeting since plans will be made to obtain the tree from Canaan Valley Sunday morning. This is the sixth year the Christmas tree has been sponsored in Potomac Park, Shaffer noted.

Man Held Under $4,000 Bond In Assault Case

William A. Stevenson, 35, manager of the Mountain City Taxi Service in Frostburg, was released under $4,000 bond yesterday in Trial Magistrate Court after waiving preliminary hearing on a charge of assaulting a Frostburg police officer.

Stevenson, released for action of the Allegany County Grand Jury, is charged with assaulting with intent to kill Assistant Chief Ronald Kreider, 48, of the Frostburg Police Department.

Both men were released from Miners Hospital over the weekend.

Stevenson was lodged in Allegany county jail Saturday. Kreider left the hospital Friday.

The two men and other witnesses were questioned at length yesterday morning by State's Attorney Paul M. Fletcher.

Kreider reportedly was hurt in an altercation with Stevenson on November 24 in a Frostburg alley. He suffered severe facial lacerations, authorities said, adding 31 stitches were required to close wounds.

Stevenson sustained a jaw injury and cut on the cheek. He had been under police guard at the hospital.

Law enforcement officers said the fracas resulted from a "personal matter" between the two men. Stevenson is reported to have used a broken bottle on Kreider, a police officer for 18 years.

Stevenson was taken into custody on a state warrant issued by Magistrate James Carter in Frostburg.

Ridgeley Legion Meets Tonight

Three recently elected officers of Knobley Mountain Post No. 136, American Legion, Ridgeley, W. Va. will assume duties at a regular monthly meeting of the post tonight at 8 o'clock at the home.

Filling vacancies resulting from resignations are: Karl G. Brant, first vice-commander; Richard Swick, child welfare; Dorsey Feight, two year trustee. Brant, who was a past commander, is a veteran of World War II and served 10 months as a reserve in the U. S. Army. He received a discharge several months ago. He has been placed in charge of the membership committee and the drive will get underway tonight.

During the meeting plans will be made for the annual Christmas program. Refreshments will be served.

WSB Approves Wage Differentials Here

Shift differential payments at the Cumberland Macaroni Company were approved yesterday by the Fourth Regional Wage Stabilization Board in Richmond.

The approval included two to four cent shift differentials for about 35 second and third shift workers, members of Local 1132, Macaroni Workers (CIO).

Three Youths Plead Guilty As Garrett Co. Court Opens

Three youths, all living in the Deep Creek Lake area, yesterday pleaded guilty in Garrett County Circuit Court to felony charges, before Associate Judge George Henderson as the December term was opened in Oakland.

The youths were tried on criminal informations filed by State's Attorney W. Dwight Stover. The December term of court is non-jury. There will be no grand jury in Garrett County until the first Monday in March.

Two of the boys, one 16 and the other 17, pleaded guilty to grand larceny in the theft of a cow which they later sold last month at the Terra Alta, W. Va., stock yard. Judge Henderson paroled both boys for three years after being informed they had no previous criminal record.

However, Judge Henderson took under advisement the case against Lyverl R. Snyder, 18, who pleaded guilty to forgery of a $20 check, through which he obtained four $5 bills from the F. A. Smouse grocery in Oakland October 30.

Probation Officer David M. Steele is continuing an investigation into the Snyder case.

Spring-Like Weather Again Returns To Tri-State Area

Spring-like weather returned to the Tri-State area during the past two days. Yesterday and Sunday the sun shone brightly and temperatures soared.

Here in Cumberland mercury rose to 63 degrees Sunday afternoon, the warmest temperature for that date since 1943. Throughout the area the weather was encouraging to the many deer hunters who treked to the woods in search of their quarry.

In West Virginia mercury climbed to 72 at Huntington and the previous same date high in that city was in 1932 with a reading of 65. At 3:30 p. m. yesterday Charleston reported a reading of 70 degrees.

At Elkins, according to a spokesman for the Western Maryland Railway, temperature rose to 68 degrees and at Thomas the temperature reading was 50. Blaser, W. Va., along, the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad gave a report of 60 degrees. The temperature at 2 p. m. at Terra Alta and Altamont was 56.

The high yesterday in Cumberland was 57 degrees and low 27. At 8 p. m. last night the mercury stood at 40 degrees.

Hunters going into the woods today may look forward to possible rain with little change in temperatures. The skies in Maryland, West Virginia and Pennsylvania are expected to be cloudy.

Rector Will Speak

Rev. George Davison, rector of St. James Episcopal Church, Westernport, will be guest speaker at the luncheon meeting of the Cumberland Kiwanis Club Thursday at 12:15 p. m. in Central YMCA. His topic of discussion will be "Hawaii."

Divorce Granted

Margaret E. Evans was granted a divorce in Circuit Court from Chester Ralph Evans and was given the right to resume her maiden name of Margaret Elizabeth McGettigan.

Settlement For $1,000 Ends Suit

A $1,000 out-of-court settlement yesterday removed the necessity for the trial in Allegany County Circuit Court today of a $3,500 civil suit.

Thomas Hammersmith, 146 Polk Street, through Attorney James Alfred Avirett, had filed suit for $3,500 against Commonwealth Trust Company of Pittsburgh, Pa., executor of the estate of his aunt, Annie Hammersmith, who lived at 511 Fayette Street, unitl her death this year. He asked that amount for nursing and housekeeping service he contends were given to his aunt between April 1, 1946, and March 28, 1951.

The appointments were made by Lt. John D. Hensell, commander of Headquarters Company.

Maryland National Guard units compete each winter for the Governor's Trophy which is awarded each summer at the annual training encampment.

Last year, riflemen of the local Headquarters Company team remained in the contest until they were defeated by the state champions, Company A, 115th Infantry of Frederick.

Lt. Hensell stated that the local team will fire its first match with the Frederick team Sunday at the Cumberland Range.

Making up Headquarters Company team are Sfc. Carl G. Stierstorfer, Sgt. Thomas W. Mulligan, Cpl. James Mullennex, Cpl. William C. Earle, Pfc. Elmo D. Nixon, Cpl. James L. Robey, Cpl. William H. Hartman, Jr., Sfc. Kenneth S. Robey and Cpl. Eldon H. Crowe, Jr.

In the scoring, only the top five scores are counted, but 10 men may fire. Sgt. Divico said that other clubs interested in matches or young men interested in the Guard rifle program should call 838.

At the same time, Major Robert Matlick, announced completion of improvements to the Cumberland State Armory rifle range.

In addition to a complete overhaul, Major Matlick reported, the range has been equipped with flourescent lighting. This will give the local Guard teams their own indoor facilities to compete with other area clubs.

Former Resident Killed In Crash

A former Cumberland man was killed instantly yesterday morning when the auto which he was driving was involved in a head-on collision near Baltimore.

Lloyd S. Quynn, Jr., 30, of 33 Baltimore Street, Savage, formerly of Holland Street Extended, left Cumberland seven or eight years ago. He was an employe of the Baltimore and Ohio Railroad and a graduate of Allegany High School Class 1942. A veteran of World War II, he served with the U. S. Coast Guard.

An eye witness told Maryland State Police that the car driven by Quynn and another auto traveling towards Quynn collided. Police reported both drivers were killed in the mishap.

Name of the other driver and details of the accident were not known by police here last night.

Quynn is survived by his widow, Mrs. Dorothy Fletcher Quynn, a daughter, Linda Lee Quynn, a son, Michael Quynn, and his parents, Mr. and Mrs. Floyd S. Quynn, Sr., all of Savage, Md.

The body will remain at the Donaldson Funeral Home, Savage, until burial Thursday in Arlington National Cemetery.
